ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

The Marriage of Mr. E. E. Fortye to Miss Maudie Rogers.

The residence of Mr. J. E. Roper, owner of Hunter and Downie-sts., was the scene of a happy matrimonial event this afternoon, when his eldest daughter, Miss Maudie Rogers, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. E. E. Fortye, of the firm of Fortye & Phipps. The wedding, although unostentatiously celebrated, has caused considerable interest in social circles, in which both the contracting parties were general favorites. Mr. E. E. Fortye performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by only the relatives and immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride, who was attired in a charming old blue tulle dress, wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white flowers. Miss Maudie Rogers and Miss Maudie Rogers were bridesmaids, while Mr. T. Fortye, brother of the groom, and Mr. E. Roper, brother of the bride, supported the groom. The bridegroom looked charming, Miss Roper being attired in a white tulle dress, and the bridesmaids in white tulle dresses, with pink ribbons and tan gloves, and Miss Rogers wearing white embroidered muslin with tan ribbon and tan gloves. Both carried beautiful bouquets. The ceremony over, the wedding party partook of an elaborate dinner before leaving on the evening train on an extended wedding tour in the west.

The happy couple left on their honeymoon followed by the best wishes of innumerable friends in Peterborough. The bride is one of Peterborough's most estimable young ladies, while the groom is one of our most successful and enterprising young business men. As they launched upon the sea of matrimony under such pleasant and auspicious circumstances, their friends wish them all the happiness and prosperity that the future holds for them. Their friends and well-wishers are a host, was attested by an array of wedding gifts which were not only numerous but composed both the beautiful and the useful. The Review would add its congratulations to the many friends of the happy couple.

MR. BLAINE'S POLICY

THE SECRETARY ALLIED REPRO- CITY AND PROTECTION

Balance of Trade with South America Countries Largely Against the United States. See Review.

WATERVILLE, Me., Aug. 29.—Senator Blaine made a speech at a Republican meeting here to-night. He referred to the tariff question as follows:

"I wish to declare the opinion that the United States has reached a point where one of its highest duties is to enlarge the area of its foreign trade. Under the present policy of protection we have developed a volume of manufactures which in many directions overruns the demands of the home market.

"In the field of agriculture, with the few same population given it by agricultural progress, we have been able to produce more than enough to supply our own people, nor would it be an ambitious desire for us to produce a surplus for export. We are already in many fields, and our demand is enormous; I mean especially of such products as wheat, corn and cotton. We are already in many fields, and our demand is enormous; I mean especially of such products as wheat, corn and cotton.

"We are not seeking annexation of territory, certainly we do not desire it unless it should come by the volition of a people who would be able to take care of themselves. I am not a protectionist. I am a free trader. I am a free trader. I am a free trader.

THE CHICAGO STRIKES OVER.

An Agreement signed by the Alton Men—The Strike Boycott.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—At noon to-day the Chicago & Alton strike in the city occurred and work in the stock yards began in earnest. The Chicago & Alton strikers recognized their mistake and went back to work as a result of the conference between General Manager Campbell, Grand Master Foreman, Vice-Grand Master Doremus and a committee of the strikers. The men agreed to become members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and to be governed by its rules and by the advice of its chief, to refrain from trying to dictate to the company in the matter of hiring or promoting men, but with the right to appeal to the officers of the company for redress of grievances, the latter agreeing to hear such appeals in a spirit of fairness.

The strikers at the stock yards held a meeting during the morning and declared the strike off, to go to work at 1 o'clock. The Lake Shore strike is virtually settled, 61 of the men having signed an agreement to go to work as ordered. This leaves about 20 whom plans are being made. These men will not be taken back. The road is moving freight without interruption.

THE BACK TIE-UP.
Holding Material Men—Independent—Dunlop, etc.—The Strike Boycott.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The members of the Building Material Association at a meeting held here this afternoon reviewed the situation in the strike of the independent contractors. One of the conclusions reached was that the present strike is one of the most disastrous which has occurred in this city for many years, embracing as it does every class of labor. These men, if there is no change, work on all buildings will have ceased, and by that time the supply of brick will be exhausted. It is feared that the building trade will have to wait for some time before it can get on its feet.

Meeting Held at Melbourne.
Melbourne, Aug. 29.—A meeting of the Melbourne Trades Union Council was held to-day. The meeting was held in the evening and was attended by a large number of the members of the council. The meeting was held in the evening and was attended by a large number of the members of the council.

FATAL FIRE AT BARNIA.
The Trained Men Completely Consumed—A Woman Perishes in the Flames.

BARNIA, Aug. 29.—About 8 1/2 o'clock this morning the Tunnel House, a boarding house and grocery owned by C. F. Dickson, was completely destroyed by fire. The house was situated on the corner of the street and was a two-story building. The fire broke out in the kitchen and spread rapidly to the other parts of the building. The fire was extinguished by the fire department, but the damage was done. The house was completely consumed and the woman who was living in the house perished in the flames.

Due to Carelessness.
WINDSOR, Aug. 29.—Last night eight boys broke out in the night room of the Windsor Patent Brush Factory, owned by D. A. McDermott & Son. The fire department had considerable difficulty in preventing the fire from spreading to the factory. The engine room was destroyed. The loss is about $1000. The fire is supposed to have started from a candle left burning by one of the employees.

A Man's Gun Goes Off.
BROCKTON, Aug. 29.—A man broke out in the night room of the Brockton Gun Works, owned by J. A. McDermott & Son. The fire department had considerable difficulty in preventing the fire from spreading to the factory. The engine room was destroyed. The loss is about $1000. The fire is supposed to have started from a candle left burning by one of the employees.

A 10-YEAR OLD MURDERER

DAVID SMITH OF COBURG STABS PETER HANSON.

The Death of a Boyish Quarrel—The Victim Only Two Years His Junior—A Pocket Knife the Deadly Weapon—The Murderer Arrested.

COBURG, Sept. 1.—Two boys named David Smith and Peter Hanson had a quarrel Sunday afternoon and came to blows.

Smith stabbed Hanson in the breast with a pocket knife.

The wound, which extended into the right lung, proved fatal and Hanson died to-night.

Smith is only about 10 years of age and the deceased was but two years his senior.

Smith has been arrested.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1.—An 11-year-old high-way robber was sent to the reformatory for five years by Judge Desjardins this morning.

His name is Frank Hughes, and he came from Point St. Charles, where on Saturday he held up two boys bigger than himself and robbed them of two $1 bills, a handkerchief and a letter.

ALBANY, Sept. 1.—It looks now as if the story of an attempt to wreck the outboard Chicago express near Kanawha on Saturday morning was not founded on fact.

John H. Hitt, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Relations, they have impressed upon leading senators and representatives their views in favor of reciprocity with Canada, and were fortunate to find Senator Sherman as heartily in sympathy with them as he is.

He is the morning introduced in the Senate resolutions looking toward reciprocity with Canada, and by attaching them to the reciprocal amendments of the tariff make almost certain their adoption.

There is a general sentiment now favorable to a fair measure of reciprocity with the British possessions in North America.

The text of Senator Sherman's resolution is as follows:

That whenever it shall be certified to the President of the United States that the Government of the Dominion of Canada shall by law or regulation admit free of duty into all ports of the Dominion of Canada, the United States, he shall make provision for the fact, and thereafter, while such law or regulation is in force, admit free of duty into all ports of the United States, and whenever it shall be certified to the President of the United States that the Government of the Dominion of Canada has declared a desire to enter into such commercial arrangements with the United States as will result in the complete or partial removal of duties upon trade between Canada and the United States, he shall appoint three commissioners to meet those who may be designated to represent the Government of Canada, and to consider the best method of extending the trade relations between Canada and the United States and to ascertain on what terms freedom of intercourse between the two countries can be secured, and to report to the President.

SHERMAN'S RESOLUTION.

THE OHIO SENATOR FOR RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

He Proposes an Amendment to the McKinley Tariff Bill Providing for a Free Exchange of Goods and for the Appointment of a Commission.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—At the debate on the tariff bill will close this week the Senate must decide very soon what it will do with the proposal to attach a reciprocity scheme to that measure. The power to be vested in the president is far greater than has ever yet been given to the chief executive. Mr. Sherman is reported to be earnestly opposed to the committee's plan, because he believes Congress cannot so delegate its own powers to the president, and because if it is it is too much power to put in the hands of any one man, even if he be a Republican president. While there are other Republican senators who think the amendment gives dangerously large power to the president, it is not entirely opposed by the Senate committee that his plan will be supported by all the Republicans except Mr. Sherman.

The representative of the various South and Central American governments are watching the reciprocity amendment with a great deal of interest. To some of them at least the proposed section does not commend itself. They are inclined to think it is not entirely in accord with the constitution, and they are sure if it should ever be put in operation it would be very embarrassing to the southern governments as have treaties with European Powers which they are not prepared to give up.

It is of some interest to the people of this country too. We imported from Brazil during the year ending June 30, 1890, inclusive, $23,930,840 worth of coffee, valued at nearly $40,000,000. An addition of 3 cents a pound to the cost of coffee from Brazil means over $11,000,000 a year to the pockets of the people who buy coffee.

Mr. Sherman's disavowal with the reciprocity amendments is shared by Ernest Watson. The latter's objection, however, is not so much to the amendment as to the fact that it is not a fair measure of reciprocity with Canada, and he has come to Washington once more to urge upon the Republican senators the great advantages to be gained by removing all restrictions to trade between the two countries.

In the Senate this morning Mr. Sherman gave notice of an amendment which he proposes to offer to the tariff bill, looking toward reciprocity with the Dominion of Canada and toward extending the trade relations between Canada and the United States.

They Found Him Aft.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Attorney-General Longley of Nova Scotia and Erasmus Wilson of New York are in the city—the guests of Mr. Hitt, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Relations. They have impressed upon leading senators and representatives their views in favor of reciprocity with Canada, and were fortunate to find Senator Sherman as heartily in sympathy with them as he is.

He is the morning introduced in the Senate resolutions looking toward reciprocity with Canada, and by attaching them to the reciprocal amendments of the tariff make almost certain their adoption.

By the "Montserrat" Company alone is the Lime Juice delivered for this purpose, and great care is taken to see that the brand (as applied to the British Government) in the case of the numerous imitations sold under the name of Lime Juice elsewhere, is not the same as the "Montserrat" brand.

TRANSATLANTIC ADVICES.

CHOLERA BREAKS OUT IN A VALENCIA COLLEGE.

Right Young Ladies Prevalent by the College—Empress William Made With an Enthusiastic Reception at Valencia—Arrived Americans on the March.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The cholera has broken out among the students of the College of Jesus and Mary, an institute for young ladies in Valencia. There are now twenty cases. No deaths have occurred.

Empress William arrived at Flanders last night. She met with an enthusiastic reception. To-day she reviewed a large body of troops. Her foreign prince and officers were on the parade grounds to receive him. The review was a brilliant affair.

It is reported from Constantinople that a body of armed Armenians have crossed the frontier from Persia to assist their persecuted brethren in Turkey.

The Drive River has overflowed and vast tracts in Cortina have been laid waste. The rains in the valleys of the Danube and Moldavia have caused much trouble.

Four broke out of prison in London in four different parts of London to-day and did a large amount of damage. The Greek and Jewish quarters are devastated. It is supposed the first were set by incendiaries.

The Government at Athens will send two warships to Malakina to protect Greek subjects.

The express train was derailed near Calais to-day. The train was smashed. Four persons were killed and 20 injured.

Harvardian speaks at York.
LONDON, Sept. 4.—At a Unionist demonstration at York yesterday Lord Hartington said he believed that the exultations of the Gladstonians were warranted. The session recently closed could scarcely be paralleled in any period of English history, even during the "Parliamentary Revolution."

The Gladstonians that contempt for or mutilation of the strength of the Unionist party was likely to lead to disaster. It could not be denied that the success of the "Parliamentary Revolution" was due to the impotent, and made the Irish party more formidable than it ever had been, even in the days of O'Connell or of Mitchell, Smith and O'Brien. This success, he was convinced, had been the direct result of the action of Harcourt, Morley, Trevelyan and a majority of the Liberals to Home Rule. They did not think that Ireland with Home Rule would be better governed, but believed that it was useless to contend against the "Parliamentary Revolution."

He, however, was of the opinion that they ought not to succumb, but should resist to the last, as their predecessors had done, and be believed that public opinion would support the Unionists in so resisting.

MINER IN TROUBLE.
The Mob Threats for His Gains and Cries "Death to Yankees."

New York, Sept. 4.—A special from Guatemala City says: "Death to Yankees" was the cry of an angry and excited mob that surrounded the United States legation yesterday. Threats of stoning the building and mobbing the inmates were freely uttered, but no overt act was committed in the face of the strong force of police that guards the place. The mob was followed by a body of closely questioned before being admitted to the office, and in more or less under surveillance while inside. Whenever Mr. Minner has occasion to leave the legation he is surrounded by a body guard of armed police. Rumor has it that these are to be surrounded by blue jackets from the militia, who are also to form a cordon of safety about the legation. Sympathy grows for General Barrios, the dictator, who is kept a close prisoner for his attempt upon Minner's life.

RUN TO EARTH AT CHATHAM.
Newton Kempt Arrested, Charged With Shooting Joseph Roads.

Windsor, Sept. 4.—Newton Kempt, the colored man charged with shooting Joseph Roads at a Brighton Beach dance, was arrested at Chatham by Chief Young last night and brought to Windsor this morning by Detective Campbell. Kempt said he knew nothing about the shooting, but he was remanded until Sept. 12. Roads is reported as doing fairly well to-day and may recover.

A FATAL BEAR HUNT.
John Brown of Russell County shot instead of a bear.

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—A horrible fatality is reported from Cumberland township, Russell county. John Melville and John Brown, two farmers, went bear hunting at night. They mounted separate scaffolds, erected for the double purpose of giving shelter and affording a place of retreat. In the night Melville heard a noise and observing a dark object near, he was followed by a human shriek. The shot had taken fatal effect on Brown, killing him almost instantly.

Atty.-Gen. Robinson's Washington Mission.
QUEBEC, Sept. 4.—Attorney-General Robinson will leave for Washington Saturday to negotiate for the extradition of Louis Lamonagne, who was arrested in Quebec for murder.

It has been arranged that he will meet Secretary of State Blaine. This is the first time that an Attorney-General has undertaken a mission of this kind.

WHERE IS ALICE SMITH?

A WITNESS IN THE BIRCHALL CASE REPORTED MISSING.

Col. Maxwell Detained in England by Illness—The Agent of the Mar-Edmond Man Broken Down by the Tragedy—The Prisoner's Non-Return.

WOODBURY, Sept. 4.—It is reported that the witness in the Birchall case, Col. Maxwell, one of the most important witnesses for the crown in the Maxwell murder case, has mysteriously disappeared. No trace of her can be had although Government Detective Murray has been endeavoring for several days to locate her. The absence of Mrs. Maxwell, who was at the trial and has an important bearing on the case. It will be remembered she met Birchall at the Eastwood station with Maxwell, and was the only one of many who could positively identify the prisoner. With this link in the chain of evidence broken the crown case will be materially weakened, but as there are 16 days yet before the Assizes open she may be found.

It was at the trial, Feb. 17, 1890, that Miss Alice Smith met the accused at Eastwood, and at the coroner's inquest at Princeton, she gave a clear, intelligent account of the meeting with Birchall. "I went over to the station to mail a letter," she said, "and saw a man there, whom they call Lord Somerset. I knew him before that day. I saw him at my grandfather's house. He came up and shook hands with me near the gate. He held out his hand and said: 'Good morning.' I went down and shook hands with him. I said: 'Is it Dudley?' He laughed and said: 'Don't you know me?' He asked about the family and said: 'How is the old governor?' We walked over to the station together and he was to be the guest of Countess Atterbury. He purchased a ticket for Hamilton." Miss Smith also identified Birchall, or, as she called him, "Lord Somerset," after he was brought to the jail here.

Col. Maxwell, father of the murdered young man, was to have sailed to-day from England to give evidence at the trial, but he did not. Arrangements were made to meet him in New York next week.

During the progress of the case he was to be the guest of Countess Atterbury. He was to be met by a telegram announcing the fact that the broken-hearted father is dying and of course will not be a witness against Birchall.

Col. Maxwell's cousin may come to Canada, but this is not certain. Col. Maxwell is a man now past his three score and ten, and the cruel murder of his favorite son last winter has shortened his days on earth. From latest reports it is hardly likely that he will survive to last the verdict.

A reporter was granted the privilege of seeing Birchall in his cell to-day, with the understanding that he should not be interviewed, as the Government has issued very strict instructions to jailers to caution on the subject. Birchall occupies a cell in one of the upper corridors, and next to him are confined three men charged with burglary. Birchall, however, has nothing in common with these prisoners, save proximity of location, and the "unavoidable detention" that results from the intervention of a heavy iron door between them and liberty. His cell is usually carpeted and decorated with pictures and polished plates. A large writing table littered with papers occupies one side, and behind this morning sat the prisoner, looking as sleek and comfortable as if well-pampered as a rising young barrister with a good practice, calmly awaiting jury verdict in his private office.

On one side of the cell is a large hunting picture painted in water colors by the prisoner himself, and very cleverly done, for he is an amateur artist of uncommon ability. He speaks a good deal of his time in making pen sketches of hunting scenes and highly colored, French-looking wall drawings of actresses in light marching order. It would naturally be imagined that the mental condition of the prisoner would be such as to speak a good deal of his time in making pen sketches of hunting scenes and highly colored, French-looking wall drawings of actresses in light marching order. It would naturally be imagined that the mental condition of the prisoner would be such as to speak a good deal of his time in making pen sketches of hunting scenes and highly colored, French-looking wall drawings of actresses in light marching order.

He is looking just as sick and pretty as when he was first brought to the jail, and he is a most remarkable man," says Jailer Cameron. "He continues just as light-hearted and free from anxiety as possible. Apparently the apprehension of a long and trying trial for murder does not weigh down his spirits in the least." The prisoner has his meals sent up from a hotel, and lives like a fighting cock.

His wife and sister-in-law, Mrs. West-Jones, are staying at a private hotel, and have become familiar figures on the streets. They dress rather elaborately, and are quite glib in their talk and conversation.

The place where Maxwell was killed (the "swamp of death") the local papers found of calling it has become an objective point for pilgrimages of morbid curiosity seekers within the last few days, and the Birchall keepers are reaping a harvest. Last Sunday a constant stream of rips passed in and from the roads between the swamp and the city, and the number of visitors has continued almost unabated. They have backed away at the familiar old stump that has figured in many a newspaper, and until its oldest friends would hardly recognize it; and not content with that, have carried and written their names and addresses over every place where an autograph would stick. The scene of the murder has been surveyed and stakes planted to show the exact location of Birchall's body when found.

Notably when the spot can fail to be filled with admiration for the almost poetic romanticism exhibited by the murderer in his choice of a background for the tragedy. No place so secluded and so ghastly in its solitary wilderness could be chosen by other than a mind keenly alive to the dramatic fitness of things. The place is approached by a narrow lane through dark swamp underbrush, and even on a bright sunny day the route is anything but a pleasing one. On either side is the primal swamp, with its stately pine trees lifting their skeleton arms, from which the dank, funeral mists swing solemnly in the wind. Huge crows inhabit their branches and go flapping off in lumbering flight, jerking sorrowfully at their disturbers. In the dusk of the narrow road the dimly trails of serpents appear as the raptures have wriggled across from the swamp on one side to plunge into some favored pool on the other. Here and there their faded bodies lie festering in the mud.

The scene of the murder is back about ten yards from the road in the thick of a stand of scrub cedar. The victim must have been very unobservant indeed to go into such a place, and a winter's day, leaving it to be found by a man who had no reason for using a man into such a place.

Since the tragedy has become a well-remembered scene from the crop of amateur newspaper correspondents has increased alarmingly. There is money in the selling of special to sensational New York and American papers, and the work has been taken up by clerical men and others intent on

THE LABOR TROUBLES.

PINKERTONS STILL GUARD THE CENTRAL ROAD.

Raising the Freight Blacklist—Many Vagrants in the Shops—Another Attempt at Trade Wrecking—A Narrow Escape—A "Rough" Body of Men.

ALBANY, Sept. 4.—General Car Accountant Ewing of the New York Central road was in the city to-day. He said the blockade which had existed in this vicinity was effectively raised, and that everything was running smoothly on the Mohawk and Hudson River division. He added that all the fast freight trains would again be running to-night. Robert Pinkerton says there are still 400 of his men stationed at points between here and Schenectady, two-thirds of them being on the East and West Albany yards and at Kanawha. He said the men would be kept on patrol duty until the strike was declared off.

The strikers who have not returned to work and who are occupying the railway company's houses have been notified to vacate within 30 days. Superintendent Blaisell said to-day that the houses were intended for the occupancy of the company's present employees and not former employees. Another strike of the West Albany shops saying no more applications for work would be received, as the company had all the men it needed to carry on its present work. This notice, however, is evidently meant for new men, as it is known the company stands willing to take back more than half of the old shop hands who have become gray in the company's service and whose experience represents no small capital for the company's use.

ALBANY, Sept. 4.—Frank Snyder, a "red" workman in the West Albany Yard, while proceeding to his hotel within a stone's throw of the yards about 10 o'clock to-night was set upon by three men and brutally beaten with clubs on the head and body. He cries attracted the attention of the police, who took him to the city hospital. The house physician says he is in a semi-conscious condition and appears to be badly hurt.

The Strike Report.
New York, Sept. 4.—The members of the Executive Committee of the New York Central Board of Arbitration. They were informed that the striking delegates were willing to submit the dispute to the arbitration of the board. The board agreed to do so. Mr. Smith, the brick manufacturer, said the committee had no power to make such an agreement, but he agreed to submit the matter to the manufacturers at their meeting next Monday. The board left this afternoon for Albany.

ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECKING.
A Freight on the Central Car in Two by Passenger Wrecking.

ALBANY, Sept. 4.—Rupt. Blaisell said to-night that a dastardly attempt to wreck a portion of a freight train was made this afternoon at the Van Woert-street crossing in this city. As the train was proceeding west, a man jumped upon the coupling of the second rear car from the rest of the train. The two cars thus separated and sped as they rolled down the hill at this point. They passed through the upper part of the yards a few yards from the rest of the train. The two cars thus separated and sped as they rolled down the hill at this point. They passed through the upper part of the yards a few yards from the rest of the train.

Some surprise is expected when the case comes to trial.

At noon to-day it was learned that Mr. Birchall and Miss Smith were married this morning at St. Louis Church.

CHARGED WITH VIOLENCE AND FRAUD—A BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—Maximilian Berber, charged with forging a postoffice order, was remanded yesterday that the charge be amended to one of fraud. A second charge has been laid against him. It is alleged the prisoner, after altering the amount in his savings bank book from $1 to $4000, got a withdrawal notice, prepared it to read to the cashier, and gave it to William J. Wagner, M. D., who gave him $40, the doctor got the money from Ottawa, which he proved unable to do.

In the breach of promise case of Fallowfield, Hutchinson, Mr. A. B. Aylmer, for the defendant, moved before the master-in-chambers at Osgoode Hall yesterday to change the place of trial from London to Woodstock. The defendant is a widow residing in the township of Durham, and the plaintiff a widower and farmer, living near her. It is alleged that he kept company with the plaintiff for about three years and made several promises to marry her. The defendant on Jan. 4 last was married to another woman, and this action was brought by the slighted lover to compensate for her harrowed feelings. The defendant alleges that the plaintiff is a woman of "unchaste, dissolute and immoral character," and denies the promise of marriage. Mr. W. Reed appeared on behalf of the plaintiff. The master made the order on the ground of convenience, and in so doing said that as this was a case which would depend largely on the proof as to the character of the parties he thought Woodstock was the proper place for the trial.

HAMILTON, Sept. 4.—Johnnie Blatterly, the 18-year-old boy convicted of larceny, against whom a previous conviction was scored, was sent to the Penitentiary Reformatory to-day for three years. His brother Leo, two years younger, was fined $10, and the remaining four youngsters concerned in the crime were allowed to go on deferred sentence.

The Premier's Return.
OTTAWA, Sept. 4.—John and Lady Macdonald, accompanied by Mr. Joseph Pope, will return to town Saturday. The Premier has been greatly benefited by his summer vacation and change of air and scene. He will leave Ottawa at 10 o'clock to-morrow and reach Hamilton at 11:30 on Saturday.

Julian's Bab a Tili.
WINDSOR, Sept. 4.—Paul Roman (white), aged 10, and Benjamin Coleman (colored), aged 12, have been arrested on a charge of robbing the till of James Haggard of about $150. Part of the money has been recovered. The details were given in a deferred sentence.

SENATOR SHERMAN'S PROPOSAL.

Senator Sherman's proposition has been brought to the attention of the members of Congress regarding free trade relations with Canada, the last being the amendment to the tariff bill of which notice was given by Senator Sherman. It would almost seem from the terms of this proposed amendment that the public mind of the United States was getting a clearer idea of the opinion of the people on this side of the line, for while Congressman Pitt's resolution, which has hung fire for many months, would lead to no result, there would be a probability that Senator Sherman's amendment, if finally introduced, would result in an extension of the trade relations of the two countries.

Mr. Pitt's resolution would be inoperative, even if adopted by Congress, because before any steps could be taken by the President Canada would have to declare in favor of the entire abolition of all duties on imports from the United States—practically in favor of commercial union—and that this country, unless we are greatly mistaken, is not prepared to do. Commercial union would not be accepted, and as that is the only scheme provided for in any way in Mr. Pitt's proposed resolution it might as well be laid on the shelf.

Senator Sherman, however, in his proposed amendment, while he asks that Canada shall take the initiative, empowers the President to appoint a commission to confer with representatives from this country to make such a commercial arrangement as will result in the complete or partial removal of duties upon trade between the two countries. That is, while it would leave the way open for commercial union, should both countries agree to it, it also provides for reciprocity. If the offer of reciprocity should be accepted by Congress with an honest intention of carrying it out there would be grounds for believing that reciprocity would be the result, for there would be little, if any, opposition to that in Canada. As any rate, the commissioners would no doubt meet and the conference would show whether the United States was prepared to make reciprocal trade arrangements with Canada.

Senator Sherman has been known as an annexationist, and has publicly declared himself in unmistakable terms, which might cause Canadians to scrutinize any offer originating with him, but that need not stand in the way of accepting an invitation for a conference, if such an invitation is given.

It has been intimated in despatches from Washington that the Senator's amendment was suggested to him by Mr. Erasmus Wiman. If that was the case it shows that Mr. Wiman's frequent visits to Canada have taught him that commercial union, for which he has striven so energetically, is not acceptable to this country, else he would not have suggested the offer for a conference for the partial removal of duties, which, if carried out, would be reciprocity. If those on the other side, including Mr. Wiman, Mr. Butterworth and Mr. Pitt, who have been the promoters of the commercial union agitation on both sides of the line, will devote their energies to a reciprocity agitation in their own country, they may accomplish something. For that purpose they need not again invade Canada, for this country has more than once made overtures in that direction and has to this day an offer on its statute books for reciprocal trade in a number of articles. But Senator Sherman and the other gentlemen named may make up their minds once for all that Canada will not make any commercial arrangements with the Republic that would be of greater injury than benefit to this country or that would be tantamount to sacrificing the political rights of the United States to the desires of a few men in Washington.

It is noticeable that the despatches from Washington intimate that the prospects for the adoption of Senator Sherman's amendment are not good. Its progress will be watched with interest, but if the United States does not desire reciprocity then, as it has done, go along very well without it, and neither the refusal of reciprocity nor the manipulation of the tariff, nor any other such means, will force this country to submit to the United States or surrender itself into the keeping of the Washington authorities.

The Marksmen's Luck.
The Toronto papers on Saturday published the scores of the last day's shooting at the Dominion Rifle Association match which closed at Ottawa last week. The Peterborough marksmen made very good shooting in the matches all through, and are satisfied with the result. It required good men to make any kind of a showing at all. In the last series published in the "Rifle" extra series No. 1, "Bluff-Short," Mason took the third prize (30) with a score of 25 with the top mark. In the same match Capt. Hill took a five dollar prize with a score of 23 and Capt. Donistoun a four dollar prize with a like number of points. In the extra series No. 2 Capt. Donistoun also won a five dollar prize with a score of 22. In the Martin's Rifle series "D" Capt. Donistoun captured another five dollar prize.

TORONTO TOPICS.

The Cal at the Central—A Victory for the Attorney-General.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—William J. McLeod, who seductively enticed Ellen Porter, the 7-year-old daughter of his landlady, at Hanlan's Point on Aug. 24, received the first half of his sentence of 40 lashes at the Central Prison yesterday. The prisoner, who was strapped to a triangle in the northern corridor, cried for mercy from the outset, but the stalwart guard who wielded the cat laid on with a will and McLeod's back was badly scarified. He will receive the balance of his punishment three months prior to his release. McLeod recently served six months for participating in the Baltic outrage at Owen Sound, when a young sailor was falsely accused of a terrible charge and otherwise persecuted until he jumped off the vessel and was drowned.

In the case of the Attorney-General of Canada against the Attorney-General of Ontario, judgment was delivered on Saturday at Osgoode Hall by the Chancery Division Court. The question in dispute was whether the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Ontario could, under authority of St. Vic., chap. 5, commute sentences for offences which are against provincial acts. The action was brought under a clause of the Ontario Judicature Act, providing for the settlement of such disputes. Counsel for the Attorney-General of Canada argued that no right of pardon lay in the Lieutenant-Governor, as he had no direct royal prerogative, but the court decided in favor of the Attorney-General of Ontario. This case was argued some weeks ago by eminent counsel and occupied several days.

Mortality Inspector Archibald on Saturday summoned several city merchants to appear in the Police Court this morning for alleged breach of the law in not displaying their wares through the medium of "chests." The scheme is to form a body of my sixty young men, and each pays $1 a week to the merchant for a specified time. Each week they all draw and the one drawing the lucky number gets whatever has been arranged for. The merchants summoned on Saturday were Henry A. Gilles, jeweller, 440 Queen-st. west; Francis Werster, jeweller, 770 Queen-st. west; William Myers, tailor, Berkeley and Queen-sts.; Vies Bros., tailors, 328 Queen-st. east; M. McVie, Queen-st. east; Porter & Brockwell, tailors, Queen-st. east; Charles McElhannon, tailor, 423 Queen-st. west. The two first disposed of watches after the chest fashion and the remainder suits of clothes. The warrants charge them with unlawfully entering into a contract for the disposal of personal property by a mode of chance.

C. J. Holmes & Co., solicitors for the Town of Cobourg, on Saturday filed with the register of the Common Pleas Division a notice of appeal from the judgment of Mr. Justice MacMahon, dissolving the injunction restraining the defendants from removing their university to Toronto. The appeal is taken to the Court of Appeal, and as all evidence has to be printed for this court the appeal will be a very expensive one. In the ordinary course of things it will likely be some months before the appeal can be heard.

A motion was made on Saturday before Mr. Justice MacMahon for the appointment of a referee to assess the damages awarded by His Lordship's judgment. The parties not being able to agree on the appointment of a referee the motion was enlarged till Thursday next. His Lordship remarking that if the parties could not then agree he would himself name a referee at Toronto.

MANY FATAL FLOODS.

The Yellow River Again Out of Bounds—Terrible Loss of Life.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Advices from China report the Yellow River again out of bounds. The river has burst its banks in the Shantung district and flooded a vast area. Thousands of persons have been drowned and widespread famine has resulted in consequence of the disaster.

VIENNA, Sept. 6.—The Danube is again rising. The steamers of the Danube Company have ceased running and all freight traffic on the river at Vienna has been stopped. The landing stages here are flooded, and on sections of the Northern Railway the running of trains has been suspended on account of the track being submerged.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—A despatch from Port St. Louis, west coast of Africa, reports that the River Niger has overflowed its banks and caused great damage in the colony. The settlement of Kayes was entirely swept away. Many lives have been lost.

NEWARK, Ohio, Sept. 7.—The heaviest rain storm in many years visited this section yesterday, causing great damage. All streams are raging torrents. The Baltimore & Ohio track is washed out for two miles and no trains can pass. Many houses on the river banks and families had to seek shelter elsewhere.

TRADES AND LABOR OFFICIALS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7.—At a meeting of the Executive of the Trades and Labor Congress Saturday, J. J. Jobin was elected president of the Quebec section and George Warren, of the Montreal section, and E. G. W. T. Currie was appointed delegate of the Congress to watch legislation during the session of the Dominion Parliament.

GIRLS AS PACK-HORSES.

Cruel Treatment of Young Women in Switzerland.

No sooner are the Swiss girls large enough to possess the requisite physical strength than they are set to do the most arduous work the land affords, says a traveler. The child has a pannier basket fitted to her shoulders at the earliest possible moment, and she drops it only when old age, premature, but mercurial, robs her of power to carry it longer.

I have seen sweet little girls of 12 and 14 load the girls onto a mule or donkey and then rough pathway under the weight of bundles of faggots as large as their bodies, which they no sooner dropped than they hurried back for another load. I have seen girls of 15 years, bareheaded in the blistering rays of an August sun, breaking up the ground by swinging mallets heavy enough to tax the strength of able-bodied men.

I have known a young man, no older than these, to be employed as a porter for carrying the baggage of travelers up and down the steepest mountain path in all the region round about. He admitted that it was sometimes very hard to take another step, but she must do it!

And of carried such an amount of baggage! A stout-limbed guide is protected by the law, so that he cannot be compelled to carry above twenty five pounds, but the limit to the burden put upon these girls is their inability to stand up under anything more. But the burden increases with the age and strength of the burden bearers, till by the time the girls come to womanhood there is no sort of mental toll which they do not bear a hand, and quite commonly the chief hand, in doing it.

France's Invasion of Abyssinia.
LONDON, Sept. 6.—Advices from Accra state a French expedition against Abomey, the capital of Dahomey, will set out Sept. 18, of which will consist of three divisions, one of which will start from Grand Papo, another from Whyda and the third from Porto Novo. Dahomean troops are already marching to oppose the invaders.

Arrests for Train Wrecking.
ALBANY, Sept. 7.—A striker named Reel has been arrested charged with causing the wreck of the Montreal express. It is said he has confessed implicating several others.

"Lou" Miller of Groulx, a striker who lives about a mile from the scene of Thursday night's wreck, has just been arrested on a suspicion of being one of the wreckers.

THE FAKIR'S FINE FAKE

COULDN'T HYPNOTIZE THE CAMERA BUT HEDD THE PEOPLE.

An Indian Juggler Juggles Marvellously—No Hypnotized the Crowd, and made them see things that Really did not happen—The Kodak Shows up the Trick.

Frederick S. Elmore is a Chicago man who has just returned from a trip around the world. He has a theory that the wonderful tricks of the East Indian jugglers were performed by the aid of hypnotism. Speaking of this he says: "We had done India pretty thoroughly and had spent some time in Calcutta. From there we went north, stopping for a short time at Rajmahal and Diqueer. From the latter city we went south to Gaya, which we reached in July last. Laming and I had frequently talked over the Indian fakirs and their marvellous performances, and had determined upon making a careful test of their powers. So we were constantly on the alert for some first-class juggler."

"One afternoon Laming rushed into the room where I was taking a nap, and told me there was a fakir in front about ready to begin his performance. I was as pleased as he was. Neither of us had been able previously to this time to see any of these fellows, but we arranged a little plan which we were to put into operation when opportunities offered."

"I had been impressed by a theory that the explanation of all their alleged supernatural performances would be found in hypnotism, but I did not know just how to get at it until Laming proposed this plan to test my theory. The fakir was going through his performance Laming was to make a rapid pencil sketch of what he saw, while I sat the same moment would take a snap shot with my kodak."

"Being prepared to put this plan in operation we went out from our abode, and there found the fakir and a crowd of natives and one or two Europeans."

"The fakir was a queer looking chap. His hair was long and matted, and his beard hung low on his breast. His only decoration was a copper ring about his right arm between the wrist and the elbow."

"His eyes were remarkable both for their brilliancy and their intense depth, if I may so term it. They seemed to be almost jet black and were set unusually deep in his head. When we stepped into the little circle about him they seemed to us as from so close a distance that we could see the pupils and the iris."

"He had spread upon the ground a coarse carpet of peculiar texture about four feet wide and six feet long. At his right stood a small earthen bowl, and across his knees lay a strange musical instrument."

"Having received the signal that all was ready, he bowed his head in his hands and turned the contents—a reddish, sand-like mixture—out upon the carpet. He mixed it about with his fingers, apparently to show that it contained no concealed objects."

"Replacing the sand into the bowl he stood in the centre of the carpet, several feet in front of his knees and covered it with a small shawl, first placing in the mixture several seeds of the mango fruit. Then he played a weird air on his pipe, swayed back and forth, and as he did so slowly took in each member of the crowd of spectators with those marvellous eyes of his. The swaying and pipe-playing lasted two or three minutes. Then he suddenly stopped and raised one corner of the shawl."

"We saw several green shoots two or three inches high. He replaced the shawl, played a little more on his pipe, and I could have sworn I saw the shawl pushed three feet into the air. Again he stopped and replaced the shawl. This time there was a perfect tree, two feet or more in height, with long slender flat leaves. Laming nudged me, and I took my picture while he made his sketch."

"While we were watching this creation of the queer old man, it seemed to vanish before our eyes. When it was gone he removed the bowl and spread the shawl on the ground before him. Then there was more music and more swaying, more looking at the crowd; and as we watched the dirty square of cloth he had placed on the ground grew outlaid beneath it some moving object. As we watched, he grasped the shawl by each of two corners and stretched it from the ground."

"Upon the spot where it had rested but a moment before there sat the queerest little Indian baby that I had seen in my travels. Laming kept his nerve better than I. I never before forgot what I was doing if he had not run in my mind."

"I took the picture and he made his sketch. The baby remained but a moment before Mr. Fakir recovered it with the shawl, and, drawing a knife, cut a hole in the shawl where the infant sat. In another instant he threw away the shawl and there was nothing there."

"We had scarce time to recover from our astonishment when the fakir drew from under his knee a ball of grey twine. Taking the loop and between his teeth, he, with a quick upward motion, tossed the ball into the air."

"Instead of coming back to him it kept on going up and up until out of sight, and there remained only the long swaying end. When we looked down after it to see where the ball had gone we were all astonished to see standing beside the fakir a boy about 6 years old. He had not been there when the ball was tossed into the air, but he was here now, and at a word from the fakir he walked over to the twine and began climbing it, a good deal after the fashion of a monkey climbing a grapevine."

"As he was starting I got his range and made a picture of him. Laming at the same time making a sketch. The boy disappeared when he had reached a point 30 or 40 feet from the ground, at least we could not see him. A moment later the twine disappeared. Then the fakir arose, rolled up his carpet, took the bowl away, and passed among the crowd collecting the contributions to his performance."

"I had no facilities for developing the kodak film, and it was some time before I was able to see what I had taken. The fakir picture, with a few others, I received this afternoon. After the fakir's departure Laming filled in his sketches, and then he left with me. You'll see that during the time when the twine was with the photograph that in no instance did the camera record the marvellous features of the performance."

"For instance, Laming's sketch shows the tree grown from the bush there. Laming saw a baby and so did I, and he has got it in his sketch, but the camera demonstrated that there was no baby. Laming's sketch shows the twine as evidence that he saw it, but the camera says there was no boy and no twine. From which I am compelled to believe that my theory is absolutely correct—that Mr. Fakir had simply hypnotized the entire crowd, but couldn't hypnotize the camera. I'm going to write out a history of the affair and have copies made of the pictures and forward them to the London Society for Psychical Research. I have no doubt it will make good use of them."—Chicago Tribune.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS.

Palace Restaurant.

O'Keefe's Pilsener Lager, the best made in Canada, on draught at the Palace Restaurant.

—In the Town—

The best wines in Canada, O'Keefe and Black Tea, at Alex. Elliott's, on George St., Peterborough.

—The Ladies' Reception Concert—

The plan of the House for the Ladies' Reception concert will be open on Tuesday next, Sept. 16th, at the Grandeur street, Peterborough, for one week, to subscribers only.

—The Ladies of St. John's Church—will provide dinner and tea on the last two days of the Central Fair, in the store formerly occupied by Mr. O. G. Brown, George St., from 12 to 3 p.m. on Sept. 13 and 14.

—Navigation Notes—

Steamer Golden Eye has been compelled to lay up on account of the mouth of the Otonabee river being blocked up with sawdust for the last two weeks. It has been stuck in the sawdust every time she went through. It has got so bad at last it was impossible to get out at all. The Daily will continue the trip to Harwood.

—If You Need Anything—

come up to the table and get it. In a free and hearty invitation heard every day in the hotel. (Gongs want you to come and get your clothing needs filled at the Kild's headquarters. Clothing so low that the price will fairly alarm you.

—Two Revived Barley—

Mr. F. Birdall, of Asphodel, sowed four bags of two-rowed barley last spring on one acre, and he has left at this office a sample of the grain grown. It yields thirty bushels to the acre, a much better yield than the six-rowed barley in the same vicinity, and the grain is a good sample. This settles the question that the two-rowed barley can be grown here and a very satisfactory yield obtained. Mr. Birdall will send more of the barley next year.

—Felling Down the Market House—

Workmen are already at work wrecking the old market house. Quantities of the ripped off boards are tumbled into the street. The careless passer-by will have to grow careful, unless he wears Kild's thick-soled shoes. Then he can tread over the brick with impunity and pleasure and never a rusty nail or antiquated spike will protrude into his foot. Moral—always wear Kild's boots and your soles will be secure.

—A Wise Suggestion—

A farmer called into the Review office and made a suggestion which might well be acted upon, as it involves little expense and would be a great convenience. It was that a movable railing be made for the weigh scales on the market, so that when a farmer or drover has a herd of swine to weigh the railing can be placed on the scales and the great difficulty of keeping the animals on the platform would be done away with. As it is now it is only with the greatest difficulty that smaller animals are kept on the scales long enough to weigh.

Two young men were arrested at Campbellford last night under suspicious circumstances. It appears that Mr. Theo. Blute's restaurant has been the object of the burglar's attention the last couple of nights and last night Mr. Blute decided to mount guard. Accordingly, armed with a rifle and accompanied by "Jim" Daly, the baggage man, he concealed himself to keep watch. He was not to watch in vain for shortly after two men were seen to come along and enter the restaurant by a window. A noise startled them and they started to run. Mr. Blute called to them to halt or he would fire but they paid no heed. A charge of shot was sent after them, but not with intent to hit, but the two night prowlers never stopped. Mr. Blute and Mr. Daly gave chase and caught the two men whose names were Ned Frederick and Larry McDermott, two young men in the village who have not the best of characters.

—A Nail Injector for Sale—

A Nail Injector for sale with each bottle of Shill's Ointment. Price 50c. For sale by Geo. A. Schofield, druggist, Peterborough.

BY THE POWER OF STEAM.

THE PROCESS FOLLOWED IN A STEAM LAUNDRY.

The Perkin Steam Laundry Vindicated—An Excellent Enterprise With an Immense Capacity—It is Bound to Succeed on the Merits.

Time in its steady march into the future has brought about great changes, both in things and methods, and in nothing has greater revolution been wrought than in the laundry business. Steam has been utilized, and with its introduction has come change, great and wonderful, not only as regards the superior character of the work done, but as regards the labor and time which they save. The steam laundry has made the old-time wringing, rinsing and rubbing a thing of the past to all those who have taken advantage of the establishment and successful operation of a first-class steam laundry in Peterborough.

It is not long since Graham & Co. purchased the Perkin Laundry, but during the few weeks the enterprise has been under the new management steam has been brought into use, the latest and most improved machinery has been purchased, competent hands have been employed, and new and larger premises have been leased. To-day Peterborough has a steam laundry which cannot well be surpassed in the Province for the cleanliness of its work and the time which it turns out. The new premises are in the new shrouded block on Simcoe-st., where the first and second floors of the eastern store are occupied. Here every day an immense amount of work is turned out and in an incredibly short time. The laundry is a model of the capacity of the laundry, the reader may know that two thousand shirts can be turned out in a week, while collars and cuffs can be turned out at the rate of one hundred and fifty dozen per day. Besides this a corresponding quantity of general wearing apparel and household linen can be handled.

Such an enterprise it may easily be imagined would be an interesting place for inspection, and accordingly a Review reporter visited the centrally-situated premises on Simcoe-st., and was allowed to take a tour through the building and follow the clothes from the time they are brought to the office, sorted and dirty, in the elegant road cart, until they come out shining and snowy white, ready to be returned to the customers.

On entering the premises the visitor steps into the front or business office, which has been neatly and appropriately fitted up, and where the clothes as they come in are received. Then they go into the sorting and marking room. In this room the linen and endless lot of wearing apparel are separated, the woolens from the lins, the fine from the coarse, etc. All the articles are also marked here before they are sent into the next room to be mixed up in the process of washing. From the sorting room the clothes go into the washing room. This is where the process of steam laundry work is seen and its good qualities made patent. In the room is a ten horse-power boiler which supplies steam for the washer and motive power for the engine which drives the shafting to which is attached the various machines. The clothes when they are brought from the sorting into the washing room are put into the hydraulic "washer." This washer is manufactured by the Troy Laundry Machine Co., of Troy, N.Y., and is the most improved machine of its kind. It is cylindrical in shape and the clothes are placed in water inside a large revolving perforated cylinder. Steam at a pressure of from ninety to one hundred pounds is turned in and the dirt is driven out of the clothes, which are always in motion, the cylinder revolving all the time. By a patent gearing the cylinder revolves six times in one direction and then makes six revolutions the opposite way, thus making it impossible for the clothes to get torn by being twisted. Two hours or less will make white and spotless the dirtiest clothes. From this washer the clothes, now cleaned, are taken to the drying machine, which is a large cylinder, which is also driven by steam. This extractor or dryer is a remarkable piece of machinery. It consists of an iron or steel circular vat, within which is a copper, perforated basket, also circular in shape. This basket is driven at a rate of two thousand revolutions per minute, and the clothes are dried by pressure. Seventy-five shirts can be thrown in at one time and the great speed at which the basket is revolving gradually presses the linen into a solid mass against the perforated side of the basket, so that the moisture escapes. There is no wringing or danger of tearing, merely a pressure, and in fifteen minutes the clothes will be dried as well and completely as if passed through a wringer and hung in the open air for a whole day. In this room there are also a number of stationary tubs for the washing of silk shirts and fine wool underwear.

—IRONING AND POLISHING—
 After being washed and dried the clothes go upstairs. Linens requiring starch are taken to the "dip wheel," then wiped off and hung in the drying room, which is a metal lined and in which a very high temperature is maintained. When sufficiently dry the linen is brought back to the ironing machine. The collars and cuffs are passed between bulwark steel rollers heated by internal gas fixtures. This machine irons and polishes, leaving the linen that high gloss which the domestic ironer can not put on. Here a prevalent mistake should be corrected. Persons imagine that in putting on this high polish the collars, cuffs or shirt fronts are subjected to a treatment which soon makes them unfit for wear. This is a mistake, there being nothing but the smooth roller applied. The shirt fronts are polished in the Tyler, which is the most reliable machine of its kind made and which is easily operated. Mrs. Long, who has been in the laundry business for twenty-seven years and who for eleven years was proprietress of the Graham steam laundry, has charge of the ironing room and her experience ensures good work.

Finishing and other wearing apparel not requiring starching or ironing do not pass through so many processes, but after being washed and dried are finished in the mangle. Then there are a great many articles, such as white vests, bolles of shirts, etc., which have to be ironed by hand and for this purpose several women are employed. Having been finished upstairs the clothes, now spotlessly white, again return to the main room where they are parcelled for delivery.

—BOUND TO SUCCEED—
 The many improvements and the introduction of the improved machinery necessitated a large expenditure of money, but perfection in work was the aim and it has been attained. Mr. Jas. Graham, proprietor and manager, is giving the most strict attention to all work and by his energy the business is being successfully operated. The public by patronizing the laundry will not only encourage enterprise and a home industry, but will secure excellent work at moderate prices. Already there has been a large increase in the local trade, while branches have been established in Port Hope and Lindsay. Agencies are also to be found at all the sundry villages and towns and the business will undoubtedly thrive in its merits.

CONGRATULATED AND CANED.

Mr. A. C. Herridge the Recipient of an Address and Presentation by His Fellow Employees.

Last evening when the labors of the day had been completed the employees of the different departments of the Review office gathered in the company room to participate in a pleasant act of friendship and congratulation. Mr. A. C. Herridge, foreman in the newsroom, whose recent marriage was the occasion of the event, was made the recipient of a nicely-worded address accompanied by a handsome gold-headed cane presented by his fellow employees in the office as a token of friendship and good-will. Miss Annie Wall, of the bindery department, made the presentation and the address read as follows: To Mr. A. C. Herridge:

Dear Sir—We, your fellow employees in the Review office, desire to take advantage of the first opportunity afforded us to congratulate you on your entrance into the state matrimony. For a number of years we have worked together, as fellow craftsmen in the art preservative of all arts, and we deem this a good opportunity to recognize the pleasant relations that have always existed between us and to assure you of our esteem in the responsible position which you now hold and formerly you have always held a position which has won our regard. We desire also to assure you of our best wishes for the happiness of yourself and Mrs. Herridge.

We would ask you to accept—not because we think you will need such a support or will need it as a desirable weapon of ward off an offensive broomstick—but as a token of our friendship, this walking stick.

Signed on behalf of the employees,

R. T. HOUTWELL,

Geo. SOCHAL, H. MARTIN.

Mr. G. J. Atkinson, barrister, of Toronto, is in town at the Oriental.

Mr. Wm. Kelly, of the Chicago Tribune, and a graduate of the Review office, who has been spending a few weeks among his relatives, left for World's Fair City yesterday.

 Judgment for either Plaintiff or the Defendant.

—By Principals to the Review.

Peterboro, Sept. 12.—Hon. Justice Mac-Kegave judgment this morning at Osgoode Hall in the famous St. George Grand Trunk case. The judgment was a lengthy and exhaustive one, dealing with the state of the law as settled in England by the leading cases upon the various points in issue. The substance of his decision was this: That while upon the findings of the jury a judgment could be entered for the defendants upon certain issues, yet there was really a disagreement of the jury upon the material questions. The result was that no judgment could be entered for either the plaintiffs or the defendants.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

BY ANNA KATHARINE GREEN.

"Certainly, before I went for you to identify her."

"You noticed how pale she was then, how unwell?"

"I did not think so."

"She is the living picture of despair," Mr. Grey's hand trembled as he spoke, and down the stairs he suddenly stopped. "Your emotions make you exaggerate," he declared. "It is scarcely three hours since I saw her, and she struck me then as looking not only well, but full of bloom and cheerfulness."

"Go and look for yourself," suggested the doctor. "If I am any reader of countenances it is a wretched woman we have to deal with."

Mr. Grey paused no longer. Gliding swiftly back, he procured the key and unlocked the door. He stepped in, and came out troubled.

"I don't understand it," he looked so to say to the unconscious lady as he handed it back for the second time to the obliging chambermaid.

The girl may have surprised that look, as all events she captured upon a word or two that seemed to move the detective strangely. He gave the key another glance, asked a question or two, and then hurried away to the office by another stair than that which was used by Dr. Cameron's tall figure. He was gone five minutes, and the doctor was beginning to lose control over his patience, when the detective appeared below, and hastily beckoned to him. Dr. Cameron at once came down. There was a change in the detective's manner which he could not but notice.

"It is as I said," remarked he. Mr. Grey laughed—he did sometimes— and hastened towards the street door. "We have no time to lose," he affirmed.

"You have not, perhaps," exclaimed his companion, energetically. "But my duty is here; Miss Cameron, I am sure, needs a friend, and if it is true that her mind is affected—"

"Hark," cried the other, in his shortest, sharpest accents.

"I might perhaps have agreed with you, but since then I have heard something which changes my mind. Sir," he asserted, "since I saw the lady three hours ago, she had a visitor, a gentleman. He re- ceived him in her room; they talked a full hour, and when he went out, he stepped up to the girl we saw in the passage, and said to her, 'I love her, I love her'—said that he was coming back again at 9 o'clock; that he would bring a clergyman with him; that in short, he expected to marry the lady this evening in the room in which he had just left her, and wished it put in readiness for the purpose. He told me the same story to the clerk down stairs, and I am sure that his name, what was the villain's name, or didn't he leave any name? Quite! let me know my lady's dearest at once."

"He left a card and the name on it is one you may know," and the detective handed over to his companion a visiting-card on which was inscribed:

"Monsieur!" cried the other in a tone of incredulous amazement. "Impossible! Some one has made use of his card."

"You think so?"

"I know so. She could never have become entangled with him. He is a graduate of the Medical School and is all right in a professional way, but he is on the Health Board, and he has been practicing charity patients in the—Ward. She could never have met him."

"It is not always safe to say whom a woman may or may not meet."

"She would never have been attracted to him if she had. Monsieur is one of the most eccentric of men. And Dr. Cameron drew up his eyebrows in a way that was sufficiently significant."

Mr. Grey smiled and shook his head.

"Let us make ourselves sure of the matter," said he. "I will accompany you back to the office, he asked a description of the owner of the card."

"A peculiar looking person," answered the clerk. "Medium sized, but with a face that meant business. His hair is dark and he wears no beard. He has a pleasant smile, but his frown makes you feel as if you wanted to stand from under. His clothes—"

But Dr. Cameron had already drawn the detective to the door.

"Let us get away from here," he cried.

"CHAPTER IV.

MR. GREY.

They were in the street. Dr. Cameron, who had just been looking in at the hotel steps looking in a vague way about him, like one made suddenly homeless; while the detective with his hand on his arm, continued to make him understand the necessity of haste.

"Haste? Why should I hasten?" asked he at last, struck by the word. "I have no engagements, and I am not in a hurry to get to bed."

"Possibly not, but that absence must be accounted for. That is my duty, perhaps, but you have one, too, I think, sir."

"Here? possibly."

"No, I don't think you can do anything here. But you might try. The lady is alone, and she is waiting."

"I cannot," interrupted the other, with a look of irrepressible repugnance. "Neither my love nor my complaisance is sufficient for such a business transaction. And he started away towards the carriage."

Mr. Grey followed him, saw him enter, and stepped into the vehicle himself.

"To the nearest elevated station," he shouted to the driver. "And quick! We have lost ten minutes by this unexpected discovery," he explained in apologetic tones to the doctor, "and must make them up at our own inconvenience."

The doctor did not reply; apathy had succeeded disgust.

Mr. Grey went on talking.

"I am in no position to suggest your duty to you, sir, but I will just say before you see two conclusions that have come to me in the last five minutes. Will you listen?"

"I have nothing else to do," dryly remarked the physician.

"Very well, then. Some time ago Miss Cameron engaged herself to you. She seemed happy; then some trouble came into her life, we do not know what, but we can easily connect it with this Melbourne, and she wished to break her engagement. But her mother to whom she mentioned her desire, thought it too late for her to do so, and driven by some unknown necessity of the situation, she quitted her home three days before her contemplated marriage."

TURNBULL'S COLUMN

Look out for this column during the Fall and Winter. It will keep you posted in dry goods news, and let you know about the bargains we offer from time to time. Our counters and shelves are now fairly groaning under the weight of new goods. Never before did we offer such an attractive stock as to-day. The new Mantle Cloths are just beautiful, the styles are so new both in black and colors. We show Black Astrachan Cloth so fine that it is a perfect imitation of the real thing. Any one thinking of getting an Astrachan or Polarian Mantle made to order this season should by all means see our stock before purchasing. Samples sent by mail if required.

We felt the want last season of a larger range of Ladies' and Children's ready-made Mantles, and have imported a well-selected stock in both long Mantles and short Jackets, in plain and fancy Cloths. Everybody can be suited as we import direct and mark the goods close.

A beautiful lot of fancy paintings arrived for the Gentleman's Furnishing Department this week. Try our tailor.

We are selling 3 pair of Men's Merino Half Hose for $1.00. Our Dress Trimmings from London, England, have arrived. As London is the best market in the world for these goods we believe the goods we are offering will be appreciated. Drop in and see the new shades in Dress Goods, we have the full range of Shades in several makes of Cloth.

See our 54 inch Wool Serge at 75 cents a yard.

CHOLERA IN OHIO.

THE PLAGUE SAID TO BE RAGING IN CARROLLTON.

Six Deaths in One Day—Physicians at First

Call the Disease Typhoid Fever but

Now it is Pronounced the Genuine

Asiatic Cholera.

CARROLLTON, O., Sept. 13.—An epidemic has been raging in the eastern part of this county for the past week and many deaths have resulted. Wednesday six deaths occurred. It was claimed by some to be typhoid fever.

Yesterday Dr. Williams of this place was called to the home of John Toole of this township, who was taken ill that morning. He died at 4 o'clock of cholera, after intense pain and frequent fits of vomiting, purging and other symptoms of that disease.

Dr. Williams pronounced it a genuine case of Asiatic cholera.

Heads in His Breach.

LINDSEY, Sept. 13.—The Warrier says:

Sam Burns of the 9th con. Howick, is perhaps one of the best known farmers in this county. By industry, straight and honorable dealings, he stands at the top of the ladder, notwithstanding the many mis-chances that have befallen him during his life.

About 13 years ago he nearly chopped his

years ago while driving a reaper his horse ran away, knocked him down and ran the reaper

over him, mangle him so much that the reaper man saw him concluded that he had had come, but he did not think so and resolved to be as good as dead. However, one day last week, Sandy's genuine

Scottish blood was made to almost stand still in his veins, and this is how we are informed

IN A FINANCIAL FIX.

U. S. TREASURY OFFICIALS TRYING

TO AVERT A PANIC.

President Harrison in America's Constitution With Washington—Secretary Winston Holds a Conference With Leading New York Bankers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—There was a long conference to-day by wire between the President and Acting Secretary Winston at the Treasury Department concerning the situation in the money market, during which the whole situation was thoroughly gone over. The President, it is understood, stated that it is his desire to avert a panic in the money market and that some shall be responsible to occur if the Treasury Department can prevent it. The views of the President were telegraphed to Secretary Winston at New York, who at noon sent the following message to the President:

"I have had conference with leading financiers

There appears to be considerable stringency, but no reason to apprehend serious consequences. I am fully advised and will take such action as I think the situation requires."

The President has also been in consultation by wire with Major McKinley, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, and wherein in regard to the propriety of extending the tariff bill by the Senate the new tariff bill to go into effect. The matter, it is understood, is to be the subject of a further conference.

The thing of the most announced to-day his willingness to buy largely of silver Monday if the offer is favorable, in order to assist in relieving the stringency in money.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Secretary Winston arrived at the city to-day and

and will be at once sent out to a number of bankers to attend a conference and exchange views with him.

A proposition which met with unanimous approval of the money market, was believed to one that extended all over the country, and was not confined to Wall-street or even

New York. He said it would require a great deal of careful consideration to settle upon the best mode of relieving the money market, and for that reason nothing would be done hastily.

Secretary Winston said that the present

the Queen's Hotel the past day or two, having arrived in New York Wednesday by the City of New York of the Italian line. His object in visiting this country is to attend the trial of Rex Birchall at Woodstock and wait, having been subpoenaed as a witness for the crown. The murdered man's father, Colonel Benwell, fully intended coming to the trial, but about the 30th of last month was seized with hemorrhage, either of the lungs or bronchial tubes, and for a time his life was despaired of, but when the son called he was considerably better.

Young Benwell was sworn to talking about the case, and said he hoped that the Canadian newspapers would not trust the trial in the sensational manner in which he understood some of the New York papers portrayed doing. When asked how much money his brother had in his possession, Mr.

Benwell replied: "None of my own; but he could not have had much. He was not to speak of the relations between Birchall and deceased prior to their sailing for Canada or divulge the contents of the letter alleged to have been sent to Col. Benwell by Birchall after the two men separated forever.

"You can readily understand," said Mr.

Benwell, "that if I were to discuss the case with you it might prejudice the interests of the crown, in whose behalf I have been summoned."

"Have you seen Douglas Kelly yet?" asked

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castor.

The Daily Review.
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1890.

BY ANNA MATHIAS GREEN.

For Anna, Mrs. Gryce drew him hurriedly.

"Don't stop for anything," he cried. "Forget your work, your fears, your hopes even. Be a machine; we have work to do. There is a sudden change of tide. You must not be seen by those people, and you must see the doctor, and immediately. How are you going to do it? Is there a back door?"

"Yes, but the side door is better. If we are seen it will cause less talk. I am expected at the side door."

"Good! To the side door then." And pushing through a crowd of small upstarts that blocked the road, they made their way round the house to the entrance mentioned, catching glimpses through the windows, and the doors, and the hearing of footsteps that may well be imagined, the lowering of a team of an elevator, mingling with the hum of many voices.

They opened the door. A festive scene burst upon them, but they paid it little heed. The tall figure of the family butler, bowing before them, absorbed all their attention, for he wore a look of expectancy and cheerful welcome that added to the mystery of the moment, and made it difficult for the doctor to stammer out:

"Where is Mrs. Gryce? I must see her at once."

The butler, surprised, started at the doctor's instant, and, seeing something in his face that he did not understand, faltered helplessly, and turned his eyes upon the detective.

"Mrs. Gryce?" repeated Dr. Cameron.

"I want to see her. Tell her."

"Wait," whispered Mr. Gryce. "I had better send her my name. And he took a card out of his pocket.

But the butler, more and more surprised, shook his head, and did not refuse to take the card, muttered:

"Pardon, Monsieur—Madame Gryce makes her toilet, but if Dr. Cameron will go to her room, I will tell her."

"That will do," broke in the detective. "Take us up stairs at once." And ignoring with his usual impetuosity, the glances of astonished inquiry that followed his rather burly figure clad in its common business coat, he pushed his way to the stairway, without waiting to see if the doctor was behind him.

This gave the butler an opportunity to whisper: "The lady is a little late, Monsieur; and Mrs. Gryce asked me to say—"

"I cannot wait," broke in the doctor, impatient that they should still attempt to keep him in ignorance of the state of affairs. "I will go up, and you see that Mrs. Gryce comes to me immediately."

And he followed in the wake of the detective, conscious from the glances of the butler, that he was in a position to be the subject of the most important position of the household.

Mr. Gryce was waiting in the hall above. "I have inquired for the room and sent for you," he whispered to the doctor, and they went on to the end of the hall. Isn't it a shame?" he added. "I was not for the part of the mother. I declare I had no idea she would carry it as far as this. But I suppose she could not help herself. She kept hoping and hoping from minute to minute that her daughter would come, and has not yet found courage nor opportunity to explain the situation and state of affairs. I will go up, and you see that Mrs. Gryce comes to me immediately."

"There is no excuse possible. The truth will have to be told," declared the doctor. But Mr. Gryce shook his head, and pointing to the clock, replied: "There is yet an hour before us. If she will come at once, Mr. Gryce may make it less tedious to the thought that his daughter has been suddenly taken so violently ill that her marriage to-night is impossible. Not one in a dozen will believe him; but the talk that will follow will not hurt you; and to-morrow any turn can be given to the story which the facts will bear out."

"Yes, yes," began the doctor, but he went on further, for at that moment there was a rattle heard on the threshold, and Mrs. Gryce, magnificent in velvet and diamonds, slowly pushed open the door and stood in a dignified and graceful attitude, both gentlemen started forward and both gentlemen passed confused, for her air was one of courteous protest and the glance that she allowed to travel from one to the other had nothing but a haughty inquiry in it, which to them, knowing as they did all that he had behind it, showed a power of dissimulation that was almost disconcerting. Nor were her first words calculated to better the impression she had made.

"You have sent for me?" said she, with a glance at the doctor which completely ignored the detective. "May I ask what I can do for you?" Then she looked at the detective in his agitation, added politely, "Is it 9 o'clock and my daughter is almost ready. I hope these few minutes of delay have not inconvenienced you."

"Your daughter?" pursued Dr. Cameron. "She is here!" While Mr. Gryce, who was disconcerted by the coldness with which his progress had been received, took up a silver paper from one of the tables near by and began to read, while the doctor, who was in a state of great anxiety, looked at the detective with a glance that was almost disconcerting.

"I beg pardon, but I thought—" plate you will receive a summons from her maid. Would you like any assistance your maid?"

This remark Dr. Cameron, advancing, he took the lady's hand and, "I am sorry, but you will not ignore me. If your daughter is in this house in the last few minutes. In that case—"

But here he was again interrupted.

"You mistake," Mrs. Gryce, "concerning whom movements you seemed to have formed the most unaccountable conclusions—has been in this house since noon. She came back with a couple of hours from Montreal, just as we were beginning to feel anxious about her. Her present delay is owing to an entirely different source. Her trouble about her maid, I believe."

For the second time the doctor showed an intense astonishment. "Mrs. Gryce, do you speak the truth?" he asked. "Miss Gryce here and since noon, when I myself saw her at the C—Hotel an hour ago? You are deceiving me and I as your intended son-in-law will not accept it. Though I pity your daughter from the bottom of my heart, I cannot marry her, for her conduct has shown a duplicity to which this tardy return to fulfill her engagement only gives ample evidence."

It was now Mrs. Gryce's turn to look dumfounded. She gazed at the doctor as if to see whether he in his proper sense of duty had stepped up to the detective.

"This is your work," she cried. "You have gone beyond your orders. Did you not receive my telegram?"

"No, no."

"I sent you one as soon as my daughter came back. Her explanations were entirely satisfactory. There is no reason why any of us should think of the matter again. Yet you have talked in the very quarter where I desired you to be silent, and the consequence is that my daughter's happiness is threatened and her character impeached. It is an irreparable injury which I shall never forgive. And leaving Mr. Gryce to digest these phrasing words, she turned again to Dr. Cameron.

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY.

It having become apparent that the McKinley bill will be passed by the United States Congress, the Toronto Empire thus discloses the situation. There is no reason why Canada should be dependent through some of the changes in the tariff raise the duties on our exports to the United States. Our country cannot be crushed by such action on the part of our neighbors, upon whom we are not dependent. Even if we were deprived of their market there are others where we may find eager purchasers and consumers. But the effect of the bill is not altogether to deprive us of a market for our exports in the United States. Some of our products upon which they have augmented the duties are things that they must have, and this need will force them to continue to buy from us and to pay the duty. In other cases the augmentation is due to the fact that they are not in need of the Canadian product, and therefore they would not be profitable customers in any event. We have only to look elsewhere for consumers whose wants we can supply.

When in a similar spirit our neighbors abrogated the old reciprocity treaty, they made an attempt to conceal their intentions that they would force us to go down on our knees and yield to them with object submission in everything, even to the extent of erasing admission into their ranks. As is well known, the result was widely different. Canadians were aroused to a feeling of self-dependence. They rose to the occasion instead of succumbing to threatened evils, which, as is so often the case, lost their formidable appearance when resistively faced. Among other steps in the direction of self-reliance our people, in lieu of the hostile markets of our neighbors, developed to an enormous extent our interprovincial trade and sought with much success fresh markets without our boundaries. The attempt of the United States to isolate us and bring us to subjection by the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty did not have the effect of coercing Canadians into submission or even of making us suffer for our independence. The McKinley bill will not be more successful in attaining the same object.

The identical attitude assumed by the United States in regard to our commercial relations may prove to be Canada's opportunity. The tariff bill they are now enacting, though in some cases tending to isolate us, is a general measure affecting other countries besides the Dominion. It is evident from the news received from different nations that they are strongly inclined to resent this treatment. When these countries are looking for other sources for the supplies they require they may be easily induced to have recourse to Canada. With a little enterprise we may secure the new channels of trade thus opened, and fill the position which the United States has forfeited by its paroled hostility.

When we have once a prospect before us there would be no excuse for taking a pessimistic view of the situation. The only effect of the threatened injury should be to spur us on to fresh exertions, to greater enterprise, when the result, instead of being disastrous, will be further advancement in the path of progress which Canada is treading to the admiration of the civilized world.

The Toronto Globe celebrated its entrance into its new building by publishing a history of itself and illustration of two buildings it formerly occupied. There is a very marked difference in the old-fashioned and comparatively miniature building occupied by the Globe in 1864 and the magnificent structure it has recently erected. The difference in the buildings is a type of the progress of Toronto, of the Province and of the Dominion. The Globe appears to have prospered—"In spite of the N.P." of course—and it is only its resurgent spirit that refrains us from heartily wishing it all prosperity.

The caricature of Grip has lectured in New York, at the suggestion of Mr. Wiman, and pleased the "Fellowcraft Club." The caricatures to be capable of amusing any audience, but when it is gravely stated that Mr. Benough has been urged to visit New York at least once a year in order that the press there "should keep pace with what is going on in Canada" the report of the lecture becomes as amusing as anything Mr. Benough could say. Grip is about as unreliable a source as one could apply to for trustworthy information regarding Canadian politics.

It is evident that the statements of the United States consider it useless to discuss reciprocity of trade with Canada as long as our Tory rulers and their organs are unable to name a single article of commerce in which they are willing to have reciprocity. —Ottawa Free Press.

Fellow, didn't Mr. Wiman tell us that it was only lack of time that prevented the Senate from passing Sherman's amendment? Surely the Free Press does not desire to contradict its leader in that way. Besides, you know, the "Tory rulers" and their "organs" have named a large number of articles of commerce in which they desire to have reciprocity.

Another way it was killed.
Detroit Free Press.

The endorsement of Mr. Sherman's reciprocity proposition by the Canadian press settles its fate. The doctrine of the party now in control is clear: it is that we must not trade with any nation on terms which can by any possibility prove profitable or satisfactory to such nation. Where two nations trade, they hold one must be the loser; and it is our duty to make ourselves out of reciprocity, that is sufficient to show that we cannot afford it.

Play Time at School.
Kingston Whig.

Rooms are allowed for physical training, and for the invigoration which a romp about the school-yard brings. But all the people do not engage in it. Those most in need of exercise are those who take the least of it, and so to them the intermission in study is practically unprofitable. There should be more order about the going and the coming of the school children. They should be trained physically according to certain well defined methods, and during the recesses. Then there would be an opportunity for the idleness which is so fruitful of the evil thoughts that corrupt good manners.

The Daily Review.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1920.

TO BE WORN AND WORN.

Another United States newspaper has interviewed Mr. Wines and has given a column of his views regarding trade with Canada and the results that would follow commercial union. Mr. Wines has either not become acquainted with the policies of the political parties in Canada or he was guilty of wilfully trying to mislead. He said that "the Liberal party have adopted the policy of unrestricted reciprocity," which is correct, and "the Tory party that of the National Policy, which means isolation, restriction and practical non-intercourse," in which he misrepresents in an absurd manner the National Policy, for embodied in that policy is an offer of free trade relations with the United States.

One sentence uttered by Mr. Wines is obviously significant. He said that "the Sherman resolution would give such power to the Liberal party while the McKinley bill is being enforced that it will unquestionably triumph at this election, and the country will then be in possession of a Government entirely friendly to the United States." The coupling of the Sherman resolution and the McKinley bill with the Liberal party in this way should set the editors of Canada to thinking. The unfriendly tariff measure and the Sherman bill have been withdrawn from consideration to lead Canada to turn to the Liberal party in order, through it, to throw itself upon the mercies of the Republic. There was, however, more than one miscalculation in the scheme. In the first place if Senator Sherman's resolution, which left the way open for a consideration of reciprocity, had been passed, the present Government would have agreed to a conference on the basis of the motion. This would have spoiled the game and would have been of no benefit to the Liberal party, and the resolution was withdrawn. It has been stated that the resolution would have had no chance of being adopted. Perhaps it would not, but at any rate the withdrawal of the resolution shows that there was no intention to offer reciprocity and that the whole manoeuvre was a trick to effect politics on this side of the line.

What the conspirators desire is not reciprocity, not a fair commercial arrangement with this country, but a government in possession of the country that will be "entirely friendly to the United States." And for what purpose? Mr. Wines has said plainly it is by saying that "if the Liberal party could be successful, Canada, with a smiling face, would turn towards the United States, ready to be wooed and won when the proper time comes," but "with a verdict in favor of Mr. John Canada" would practically turn her back upon the United States for all time. Fortunately, with or without the aid of Mr. Wines and his friends Mr. McKinnley and Senator Sherman, there is no danger of this country heading over the Dominion to men "entirely friendly" to the Republic. Canadian leaders wish to place their country in a position to be wooed or won by the United States. They wish to be and hope to be friendly neighbors, but they wish to have a Government that will be "entirely friendly" to its own country and not one that will waste all its friendship on a foreign nation.

If in time it is shown by events that these conspirators do not represent United States opinion, and the Republic evinces a disposition to meet Canada half way in a commercial arrangement, well and good, but these attempts to force this country into a humiliating position, to drive it out of the British empire and into the Republic, should be met with a calm but firm resistance that will stamp it out and that will also stamp the death warrant of any Canadian public man who give it their countenance.

Helpless and Helpless.

North Dakota Dispatch.
This country has reached a point where it cannot invite immigration, cannot retain what settlers it has, and must become hopelessly bankrupt, unless a system of irrigation be adopted or some means be found to insure crops or give the people profitable employment. Charity was once called in special cases last winter; it will have to be bestowed much more liberally next winter.

What's in a Name?

London Advertiser.
Federation being an accomplished fact, something remains to be done. The University should be Provincial in name as well as in nature. At present its title is "The University of Toronto," but being a purely Provincial institution that name is too restricted. Steps cannot too soon be taken to have the designation changed to "The University of Ontario." May we ask some energetic member of the Methodist General Conference to make a move in this direction?

FASHIONS OF THE HOUR.

WHAT IS BEING WORN BY WOMEN IN FASHION CENTRES.

Hats and Bonnets—Jackets and Waistcoats and Costumes of all Descriptions—Latest Styles in London, Paris and New York—Illustrated Notes.

These cooler days cause one to bring forth the jaunty wraps and jackets, which this season are more numerous than those worn for some time.

Quite the jacket of the season is made of very rough and hairy camel's-hair, with rolling fringes, faced with the cloth, heavily braided with gold or silver and lined either with white, yellow or silver gray plush de sole.

A large frog to match the braiding fastens the jacket across the chest, and is so arranged that the frog can be taken off where not desired, leaving only the knits, which do not look to the least out of place.

Flannel jackets of small checks on white grounds come next in order, and are very stylish. A perfect fantasy was a medium-sized check of rather a light green, a faded red and a dark yellow on a white ground.

This was made double-breasted, fastened with large white pearl buttons opened at the throat and finished with wide rows coming to the shoulder, a deep sailor collar in the back and deep turned cuffs. The jacket was lined throughout with a delicate shade of green.

Jackets of white flannel with blue stripes of color are also very popular and some made in various ways, all prettily lined. The sailor hat, always so popular, is the most appropriate to be worn with these pretty affairs.

white band, a small dotted veil just covering the dim browned hands with finger tips in jacket pocket, leaving sandy locks, the "and we waves" and a "jeunesse d'ore" in white flannel for accessories, and you have a complete picture of our girl of the nineteenth century. The Princess, or gown having the effect of the Princess gown is now having full sway and are very stylish. This effect can be given by draping the top of the skirt in folds along the front and side of the bodice and allowing all the fullness to fall in a large fan-like pleat in the center of the back. The skirt should be entirely cut on the bias and the foundation skirt separate. The bodice is either round or slightly pointed and is gathered either at the neck and the waistline or fitted in at the shoulders and laid in several plaits at the waist. An India silk of a pale yellow, with small dots scattered here and there (the dots being black), was made in this fashion. The skirt was finished with a deep pleat on the edge of which was Chantilly lace about five inches wide. The lace drapery on the waist was especially pretty. The lace was arranged as to form a bow, which was secured at the shoulder seams, curved around the front, and drawn under the arms, tucked here and there, and then carried to the middle of the back, where it ended in two large romettes of lace.

Some Charming Outfits.

Travelling gown of tan colored cloth, trimmed with brown silk; loose jacket to match. Bonnet of forget-me-nots and velvet bows.

An entirely new style of hair dressing is threatened. In Paris the frizzy bang has been widely adopted to give the wearer a new dress. Fashion appears to have gone out on those peculiar ornaments. A few weeks ago a dazzling light in Parisian society appeared with her hair dressed perfectly flat to her head on one side, and right as flat as an individual billiard plate, composed of diamonds and pearls and medallions of the same gems, as large as an English penny, going round to the other ear across the forehead just at the line of the hair.

How these jewels were kept in place was a secret known only to madam's coiffeur and jeweler; but it was Japonaise, and, therefore, a beautiful and distinguished innovation on the diamond star and butterfly ornamentation. This is one of the results of the Paris exposition, where the fashions of Java dancers were first introduced to western ladies.

Fashion papers are already predicting the revival of the Valois fashions in the coming season. Dresses are already being made abroad for elaborate wear with chess-fitting waists laid in puffs, full sleeves slashed high on the shoulder and pointed Van Dyke cuffs of ruffled lace, such as are familiar in portraits of Marie de Medicis and the women of her time. The Directorate cravat and full ruche are almost all that remain of the Directorate style. Half crown white plaques at shoulder, about four inches wide, and in large swastika on the edge, and tipped with a border of gold or silver, are put in handsome water-glass plaques of white wood. This plumed ruche lies flat around the throat and forms a soft fall to the waist.

Women rarely think of the dangers run by the men who steal from the sea their beautiful pearls. Not in Caylon only does the pearl fisher "go all asked to the angry Arab." The great event of the year among the Arab population of the shores of the Persian Gulf and its islands is the diving operation, which extends over one hundred days of the hot season. The pearl fisher is their slave, and all claims, from child to domestic slave, have some interest in it. Mr. Rose, who resides permanently at Bushiri, states in his report on the trade of that district, that, in spite of the abundant harvest of recent years, pearls have been steadily rising in the market, a fact which accounts for the prosperity of the coast folk, who are taking to build larger vessels than of yore. It is reported that nearly two thousand tons of pearls and 50,000 men are employed in the pearl-diving industry.

Smart girls who aspire to be whips wear driving coats of grass linen on the road. The English doctor is made without a doubt, the same being carefully finished in what is known as a "French seam," so that no raw edges are visible. While cheap to the figure it is yet sufficiently loose to give the arms full play and permit the pretty mistress of a frisky horse to keep him well under control. The double-breasted front has its style lent by the large linen buttons, which are made of leather, a similar flash being on the sleeves. These are a little high on the shoulders, and have, in addition to the shoulder, a button on each above each wrist. The knee collar worn with the gown shows above this coat, and a jaunty Alpine hat, covering the bang completely, is worn. The gloves are the usual heavy ones sold for driving. Faded pockets, with lapels, are on the coat, and are large enough to hold not only one's handkerchief, but the purse that is necessary on roads where a telephone may be, and where good money will have to be given before any body can pass. The woman who drives and who knows it is well as if she were a well grounded as her horse, an affection of the picturesque being allowable.

It is not every one who knows how to make tea. When it is one's duty to be hospitable to each person and one for the pot will not be too much. An earthen or agate iron teapot is best. The tea is perfectly clean and dry, and makes it as hot as possible before putting in tea. Do save your kettle boils, and use soft water if you can get it. Put the required amount of tea in the pot, pour the boiling water upon it, enough to cover the tea, let it stand four minutes, then add enough more water to make what tea you desire, and in three minutes more it is ready for use.

Complimentary to the Duchess of Fife, the English ladies have taken to wearing plaid silk hosiery. This is one of the novelties of the hour, and there are enough of them to show that there is no fear of imitation, as it is not possible to produce the bright coloring in cheap loom or poor dye. As a result the makers of the pure silk stockings are allowed the great privilege of paying 50 pence for the Duchess of Fife full regular silk hose.

A Wonderful Fabric.
Miss Elizabeth Blount, during her trip around the world last spring, picked up in Japan one of the most exquisite fabrics ever brought to this country. The original call it rainbow craps, and it is surely never was a name more aptly given. The dainty, dainty woven stuff is of silver white, having a sheen as of moonlight, overlying the minute creps (wells). The texture is of the finest, across the narrow breadth, are faint, elusive colors of pale rose, light gold, the blues of early dawn, a dim green, that, and shadowy lilac. The rainbow craps is rather suggestive than defined, seems to glitter through warp and weft of the lustrous silk, one minute turning in flames of color, to lose the next in vague, melting lightness. Coarsely and admirably beautiful as this rainbow material is, it is not reckoned, it holds no place whatever beside the moon-cloths worn by the Japanese nobles. Looking over and even handling this enchanting silken web, one can scarcely credit its reality. All of the golden palor of Diana's nightgown has been caught and imprisoned in its supple threads. There are silvery beams that the cunning craftsman has shot through his loom, to be subdued by the warm glow of the harvest's honey-colored moon. Here the lights are bravely lightened, and there the shuttle has thrown in a thread that hints of dusk and gloom. So far these wonderful triumphs of celestial skill are unknown to the western world.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Interesting Items for Housekeepers—Recipes—Rules for a Clean Skin.

You want to keep your skin nice all the year? Well, then, here are some rules for you:

Don't bathe in hard water; soften it with a few drops of ammonia or a little borax.

Don't bathe your face while it is very warm, and never use very cold water for it.

Don't attempt to remove dust with cold water. Give your face a hot bath, using plenty of good soap, then give it a thorough rinsing with water that has had the chill taken out of it.

Don't rub your face with a coarse towel; just remember it is not made of cast iron, and treat it as you would the finest porcelain, gently and delicately.

Don't use a sponge or linen rag for your face; choose instead a flannel one.

Don't wash your face when you are traveling, unless it is with a little alcohol and water, or a little vaseline.

Don't believe you can get rid of wrinkles by filling in the creases with powder. In stead give your face a Russian bath every night; that is, bathe it with water so hot that you wonder how you can stand it, and then, a minute after, with cold water the will make it glow with warmth; dry it with a soft towel and go to bed, and you ought to sleep like a baby while your skin is so firm and coming from out of the wrinkles, and you are resting.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Bakery Contrivances.

A pretty bookcase and one that can be made with very little expense is as follows: Take two pine boards 12 inches long and 8 broad, two boards 24 inches long and three others 35. Screw or nail the two 35-inch boards to the top and bottom of the 42-inch boards. Place the 12-inch boards on the inside fastened to the inside of the frame on each side at a suitable distance apart to accommodate your books. Use planed wood and stain it cherry, maple or oak. Paint a brown rod to run from the top, from which suspend curtains of China silk or other soft material. A pretty corner piece can be made similar to this by having two boards much higher and broader than those for the frame. Fasten these together to form a triangle and fit in shelves. The first shelf should be the height of a table from the ground, and the other shelves at certain regular distances above. Have rods and curtains attached to the frame and the wood stained. If for the dining-room the bottom part may be shaved and used for table linen and the upper part for China.—New York Herald.

Recipes.

SANDWICH DRESSING—Mix together very smoothly half a pound nice butter, three tablespoonfuls mixed mustard, a little white or red pepper, a little salt and the yolk of an egg. Chop some tongue and ham together very fine; cut some bread thin, spread it with the dressing, then with a layer of meat, put on another layer of bread and press it hard; with a sharp knife trim off the edges, and make all the sandwiches the same size.

APPLE JELLY.—Use fair, open apples. Slice them, wash, and cut, and stammer with one-half a cup of water till well cooked and soft. Then strain through a cloth, add a pound of sugar to pint of juice, boil a few moments, skimming off clear; then pour into glasses, and cover with wax.

SILVER CAKE.—One-half cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of sweet milk with whites of four eggs, one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Always beat the eggs separately and thoroughly, and always rub sugar and butter to a cream.

CUPPER CAKE.—Use cup sugar, one cup melted butter, one cup New Orleans molasses, one cup strong coffee, one egg, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one teaspoonful ground cloves, one tablespoon ground cinnamon, one-half pound each of raisins and currants, four cups sifted flour.

Wet Weather at Hand.

Those who delight to forecast what weather we may expect are already predicting a wet fall. The weather is not so sure as the rain, and any way it will have no terrors to the man who wears Kidd's anti-wet shoes, the best wearing and lasting shoes on the market. A Canadian Deputy Grand Jury.

Dr. C. T. Campbell, of London, the Senior Representative from the Ontario to the Northern Grand Jury, Independent Order of Oddfellows, and the Empire, has been elected Deputy Grand Jury by that body, now holding its annual session in Topeka, Kansas. This will be extremely gratifying intelligence to the order in Ontario, as this is the first instance where any other than an American citizen has been thus honored. The election is also a gratifying evidence of the cosmopolitan character of the order. This election means that in all human probability Mr. Campbell will two years hence (the election being held biennially) be elected Grand Jury and for the two following years will preside over the destinies of this vast and constantly increasing brotherhood. The Northern Grand Jury has done itself great credit by electing to this high and honorable office one so eminently qualified to do credit to and uphold the dignity of the order, as well as to reflect credit on his native land, Ontario.

YOUNG LADIES LABORING.

A Pictorial Description of the "Y" The Work of the Year.

The best and comfortable rooms of the "Y" were the scene of a very pleasant gathering of about one hundred and fifty young people last evening, when the society tendered a reception to the honorary members. Social chat and intercourse made the evening slip by pleasantly, there being an entire absence of any formal programme. During the evening, however, the conversation was varied by excellent instrumental selections from Miss Edith Hall and Miss Perry, and a pleasing vocal solo by Mrs. Perry, and the evening was a most enjoyable one.

Wet Weather at Hand.

Those who delight to forecast what weather we may expect are already predicting a wet fall. The weather is not so sure as the rain, and any way it will have no terrors to the man who wears Kidd's anti-wet shoes, the best wearing and lasting shoes on the market. No other shoe or boot will give half the service Kidd's shoes do. 46112

Pulling Down the Market House.

Workmen are already at work pulling down the old market house. Quantities of the ripped off boards are tumbled into the street. The careless passer-by will have to grow careful, unless he wears Kidd's thick soled shoes. Then he can tread over the broken boards with safety and pleasure, and never a rusty nail or antiquated spike will protrude into his foot. Moral—always wear Kidd's shoes, and your shoes will be secure. 46112

Tax Exemption.

A tax is something no one likes to pay, although no one objects to share in the benefits provided for by taxation. Large profits are also objectionable to taxation, and rightly so, for everyone is entitled to receive full value for his money. If you wish to receive full value for your money in tea or coffee—the best and purest article at the lowest margin of profit—go to Hawley Bros.' tea store, George-st., where a large stock is always kept on hand and sold at cash prices. 46112

A Canadian Deputy Grand Jury.

Dr. C. T. Campbell, of London, the Senior Representative from the Ontario to the Northern Grand Jury, Independent Order of Oddfellows, and the Empire, has been elected Deputy Grand Jury by that body, now holding its annual session in Topeka, Kansas. This will be extremely gratifying intelligence to the order in Ontario, as this is the first instance where any other than an American citizen has been thus honored. The election is also a gratifying evidence of the cosmopolitan character of the order. This election means that in all human probability Mr. Campbell will two years hence (the election being held biennially) be elected Grand Jury and for the two following years will preside over the destinies of this vast and constantly increasing brotherhood. The Northern Grand Jury has done itself great credit by electing to this high and honorable office one so eminently qualified to do credit to and uphold the dignity of the order, as well as to reflect credit on his native land, Ontario.

THE MCKINLEY BILL.

The Minister of Finance on the McKinley Bill—Sensible and Patriotic View.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster, the Minister of Finance, being asked for his views as to the effect on Canadian trade of the passage of the McKinley bill, said: "In the McKinley bill as passed by the Senate, there is little that is calculated to favor Canadian trade, while the general trend is in the line of prohibiting Canadian products from United States markets. Much as Canada may regret this it is not a thing which she could have avoided, for which, when accomplished, should cause no moment's hesitation or despondency. From 1846 up to the present the successive governments of Canada have knocked at the door of the United States for free admission to her markets, and with a few exceptions the refusals have been many and repeated. Only once, in 1855, were her overtures met with any success, and that was due to the fact that the United States was then in a state of commercial depression, and was seeking for any means to stimulate her trade. Since that time the United States has been steadily increasing her trade with the world, and the McKinley bill is but a natural result of this policy. BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

BY ANNA KATHLEEN GREEN.

"What is that?"

"Mr. Gray's tone was quite sharp. His face assumed its old expression."

"The man off; didn't wait for the clergyman to finish his sermon, and then he came back and said, 'I am not here to be married, I am here to be buried.'"

"Humph! You interest me. And at what hour was this? How soon after we left?"

"In a few minutes I should say; for you had not been gone more than half an hour when the unexpected bridegroom came with the Rev. Mr. Pease at his heels, and she was not here then nor had been for some little time."

"Who may her go out?"

"The half hour."

"No one else?"

"I think not."

"Did she leave any word behind her?"

"Yes, a note; it was lying on the table in her room. Moleworth got it."

"The door then was open?"

"It was unlocked."

"Curious. Three scenes to be so difficult in the way of wedding to-night. I have just come from a wedding, and the bride was three-quarters of an hour late."

"That's hard talking; he looked grim."

"Anything but a bridegroom's appearance at any time. But then, it was not the bride who was late."

"Any man marry? Mr. Pease on hand and no bride? I declare, I feel cheap myself; and the churchwarden I believe said tears, genuine ones, were the good for the church, I suppose."

"Yes, it's quite thrilling, quite romantic," quoth Mr. Gray, enthusiastically. "Then in quietude he remembered, 'You were all in the room, then, were you?'"

"No, I don't know anything about it. I tell Dr. Moleworth comes down, and giving me the price of the room, remarked that there would be no wedding at present, the young lady having preferred to wait till she could have her friends about her."

"Ah! I exclaimed. 'It's remarkable the clerk. 'Not he is so fool; and though I know on the spot that he had run away for good, I couldn't help giving him credit for common sense. It was all in his words, his look was terrible.'"

"Mr. Gray's eyes fixed themselves on the small lamp and lighted up."

"I can imagine it," said he. "But he wasn't tragic, not a bit of it, contained the clerk. Not even when he took out the note he had evidently received from the girl, and burned it in the flame of that jet."

"Oh! he burned it, did he?"

"Drove to the door, and then went away."

"Directly."

"Well, this has been a delightful evening," commented Mr. Gray, and he looked away a few more minutes in the office, then went out and entered a drug-store near by, searched for an address in the directory.

"I cannot sleep, why then not amuse myself," his look seemed to say, as glancing at the clock, he perceived that it was half past twelve, and he went out and entered a drug-store near by, searched for an address in the directory.

"A middle-aged woman, of neat enough appearance, answered his ring, after a short delay."

"Is the doctor in?" he asked.

"She shook her head, and glancing at a note that hung on one of the pages of the old-fashioned hallrack, declared."

"He won't be home before to-morrow."

"And I am so ill," murmured the detective, with an air of great weakness. He had read her character as a glance."

"You'll be all right," she said.

"I have come so far, he went on. 'I thought surely I should see him to-night, if I came late enough. I know he is going to be married soon, and I have been waiting for him for some time.'"

"Married?" The interruption was full of surprise and incredulity. "Married! Dr. Moleworth! I guess you are mistaken."

"O, no," the old gentleman persisted, assuming with every instant a look of greater distress.

"I had it from one who knows him intimately. He is going to be married; but sensible girls don't see their lovers out late, and I thought I might find him in it. I wish I had, for when I have them turn nothing but spirit will help me, and the drug clerk won't give it to me without a doctor's prescription. I want you."

"But the old lady's sympathy as well as curiosity had been aroused. She was a widow and a boarding-house keeper, but she had a heart and was not afraid of showing it."

"She therefore stopped him as he bobbed towards the door, and showing him the way into the parlor, asked him to sit down by the fire and warm himself a moment before going out."

"I am sitting up," she exclaimed, "because there are still four or five of my young men out, and as I do not give night-keys to any one but the doctor, I have to sit up, or see some of my hard-working girls to do so. It is dreary waiting sometimes, but on the whole they are comfortable, and I don't complain."

"Then as she saw or thought she saw the old gentleman's face grow brighter in the really genial glow of the good hard coal fire before them, she asked in a hospitable tone, if he had ever heard when the doctor was going to marry."

"He shook his gray hairs indifferently, picked out with his glasses a coal in the fireplace, and began to study it intently."

"I never paid it any attention," said he. "I am getting too old to busy myself about such matters; and girls are all the same to me, unless it be one girl, as I added, with a half-smile, half-patetic smile, taking from his pocket as he did so a photograph which he looked at fondly."

"Your daughter?" inquired the old lady.

"My grand-daughter," he replied, with enthusiasm.

"She looked over, as women will at the sight of any picture in the hand of another, and quietly looked at it."

"Good heavens!" she exclaimed, "it is Mildred Farley!"

"Mildred Farley?" he repeated, in mild surprise. "I never heard that name. This is Joanna Handman."

"Let me see it," cried she, and Mr.

Gryce, greatly pleased at the success of his trick, handed her the picture of Joanna Handman, and said that if this good woman continued to find it like the Mildred Farley she had seen, she should find that she could be had for the price of the original.

"It is a very fine picture," she said, and she looked at it with a smile.

"How these photographs can deceive," cried she. "If I had not stopped to look at this picture, I would have sworn it was Mildred Farley's face, but I see now that she wears her hair quite differently, and that the mouth is much better dressed than Mildred could ever hope to be. Nevertheless, there is a very striking similarity and I should like to see Miss Handman."

"Handman?" said the detective.

"And Mildred together. It would be a pleasing study." And she stared long and earnestly at the picture, wondering up with it.

"I should like to see it," said she, and she looked at it with a smile.

"You can do so," he observed. "If you do not have to marry her, for she is far from being a very attractive woman, you may see her. Can you see her to-night?"

IT LOOKS BAD FOR KUNZE.

A Detroit society young man in jail at Windsor.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—Harry Kunze, book keeper for Feltz & Helinger, insurance man at 94 Griswold-street, and society reporter for The Evening Journal, is in serious trouble. He was arrested in Windsor last night, charged with the abduction of a girl named Flora Bore, of that place. Kunze is 25 years old and lives with his mother, a widow, at 176 Champlain-street, Detroit.

Inquiry into the circumstances which led to Kunze's arrest shows that he has been paying marked attention to Miss Bore for some time past, and that recently he had a disagreement with her family. Last Friday the girl disappeared and her mother, Frederick Wickham, found that she was living at 28 Howard-street, Detroit. She was ordered to return home, but her uncle, Miss Wickham, asserts that Kunze refused to allow her to leave the house.

Mr. Wickham formerly resided in Detroit and is an intimate friend of Dr. Moleworth. A few days ago he called the doctor's services in an effort to induce Miss Bore to return to Windsor. Last night Kunze was discovered across the river and as he stepped off the boat was arrested and locked up. Mr. Wickham then hurried to Detroit and called upon Dr. Moleworth, who told him to accompany him to 28 Howard-street with the hope that by their combined efforts his niece might be induced to return with him to Detroit. Dr. Moleworth was unable to go with Mr. Wickham at the time, but agreed to meet him at the Howard-street residence at 9 o'clock. Mr. Wickham arrived and the girl eluded him by jumping out of a window.

Dr. Moleworth last night, "to have this matter settled without a scandal attaching to the girl's name. He belongs to a respectable family, and I desire to see them dragged into newspaper notoriety."

At a late hour last night no trace of Miss Bore had been secured by her relatives. The woman with whom she lived, at 28 Howard-street, who has no knowledge of her whereabouts.

A reporter visited Kunze in the Windsor jail last night.

"The girl is 21 years old," he said, "and I intend to marry her the 27th of this month."

Kunze is a tall, effeminate looking man, and seemed greatly moved over the predicament in which he finds himself.

"Did you induce Miss Bore to go to Detroit?" he was asked.

"No," he answered, "she came over there of her own free will."

In detail of Kunze's version of the affair, Mr. Wickham asserts that her niece is only 21 years old, while, he is under age, and that she says that had Kunze desired to marry the girl he could have done so at their home in Windsor.

Miss Bore is an orphan and is connected with one of the best families of Windsor, who provided her with all the comforts of a good home. Persons acquainted with her surroundings declare that she had no reason for leaving. It is of attractive appearance, amiable disposition, and in a class leader in St. Andrew's Church. She is just recovering from an attack of brain fever.

Miss Bore left home last Friday night, and it is evident of her leaving, that she was in the city, and the clothes she wore that she intended to be absent but a short time. Miss Wickham says that on her visit to 28 Howard-street Kunze said he would show her the trial to take them away. The affair will create considerable excitement in Windsor when the facts are made public. The girl's folks say they will not settle the case under any consideration whatever, and the penalty for abduction in Canada is fifteen years in prison.

A VERY MODEST DEAL.

Brother Dewey of Detroit Buys a Lot of Land 600 Feet Under Water.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—Harry J. Dewey, a real estate broker of this city, recently traded $10,000 in sailing stock with James Handman of Peterborough for lots of land in the northern peninsula of Michigan. Without looking up his property, Dewey disposed of the entire block to different parties, and a few days since, on a deed being sent to Handman, the latter for registration, it was discovered that the land in question lay miles off the shore of Lake Superior under 600 feet of water. An active search is being made for the party who perpetrated the swindle.

Conversation turned upon the difference in age that ought to exist between husband and wife.

"How is now?" queried a friend.

"Your lips are like straw," he said, when love had told him she was old. That kissing was a frightful sin, And something she would never do. What the Conference is Doing.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The Conference Committee on the Tariff Bill had another two-hour meeting to-day and had further progress towards complete agreement. The paper schedule was disposed of, also the tariff on fish and fish products. The Senate amendment relating to fish was modified so as to make the importation of fish caught by American vessels equipped with American nets and other appliances. The next conference will probably be held Monday morning. The Republican members of the committee expect to devote the larger part of the afternoon to private consultation. The tariff bill may be taken up on Tuesday or Wednesday. As the report goes first to the House, the latter part of the week. It will then depend upon the desire of members to get away whether the discussion shall be long or not. Notice has been given that three tariff questions are to be made, when the conference report is made to the Senate by Messrs. Aldrich and Carlisle of the Finance Committee and Mr. Ingalls, who was in the chair while the conference was under consideration in the Senate. The Republican conference on the Tariff bill were in session all day to-day. To-night one of them said that he was very well satisfied with the progress made, and that he would make a statement respecting the status of any one of the schedules and the changes made either in rate or pharology, for some of them were beyond the power of small meetings. It was agreed upon which would probably stand as agreed to—but which were all liable to change. Until the matter was finally settled and the report signed a definite statement could not be given. It was reported during the afternoon that the conference had finished their work and that the bill would be reported to-morrow. The gentleman said was not the case. The best that could be done in his estimation would be to finish the report by Tuesday night and have it ready to make to the House Wednesday morning.

It was agreed upon which would probably stand as agreed to—but which were all liable to change. Until the matter was finally settled and the report signed a definite statement could not be given. It was reported during the afternoon that the conference had finished their work and that the bill would be reported to-morrow. The gentleman said was not the case. WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1890.

THE VOTE TO-MORROW.

In another column the places where the polls will be held in the four wards are given. The poll will be opened at nine o'clock in the morning and remains open until five o'clock in the afternoon. The importance of this by-law to the town has been, we believe, sufficiently dwelt upon. Its passage will ensure to the town the establishment of a large, valuable and growing industry, one that new employers over two hundred hands and grants room to enlarge its business. The most to the town will be small—will, in fact, be nothing when the extra taxes that will be received from employees of the company, and the company itself after the expiration of ten years, are considered. The debentures will run for thirty years, but in ten years the company will be paying taxes on its property to meet the debentures.

Let the vote be polled early. Every voter should vote in the morning, but something should be done in the afternoon. The occasion is an important one, and much depends on the fate of the Edison by-law to-morrow.

May the fine weather continue for several days. It will suit the occasion.

Do you believe that manufacturing industries benefit a town? If so, vote for the Edison by-law.

Would you like to see more activity in the building trade in Peterborough? Then vote for the Edison by-law.

The population of the town would be increased by the location here of the Edison company's works. Vote for the by-law.

More employment for skilled and unskilled labor would be provided by the Edison company. Mark your ballot for the by-law.

Orono station moved because the Edison Company passed them by to come here. Do not fly in the face of good fortune, but vote for the by-law.

Do you wish the business of the town to be given a healthy impetus by an increased circulation of money? Show it by voting for the Edison by-law.

From $20,000 to $50,000 will be spent by the Edison Company at once in putting up buildings for their works if the by-law is carried. Vote for it.

If you would like to see the amount of money paid out in wages each week in town increased by thousands of dollars, vote for the Edison by-law.

That new reciprocity proposal, said to have been considered by the conference committee of Congress, seems to have been taken out of the Globe office.

The prosperity of the town would be materially helped by the addition of another large industry. Measure the industry by voting for the Edison by-law.

Manufacturing is in its infancy. The manufacture of electrical machinery and appliances is a business that will increase. Secure a growing industry for the town by voting for the Edison by-law.

Visit the Central Exhibition to-morrow by all means. It will be well worth seeing. Out your ballot for the Edison by-law and then go to the agricultural grounds.

Mr. R. H. HORTON has announced his intention to withdraw from Congress. And the Butterworth bill has not yet been passed. Mr. Wiman, how about your assurances?

The growing town is the prosperous town. Manufacturing industries make a town grow and without them it will stand still. A vote for the Edison by-law will help Peterborough.

AND Mr. John MacDonald pretends that he is still in favor of reciprocity. He also "wants to God he could catch" Mr. R. H. HORTON.

And he caught him. And how very sorry the Liberal leaders were when he was caught and he and those poor Indians who measured the people at Frog Lake were "condemned by bad laws to die," as a Liberal poet expressed it.

scrapes he got into. "Oh, he would settle with me afterwards," replied Birchall, who also told witness that he had left Beavell at Niagara Falls and that the latter had started for London. Witness asked if he had received a letter from Beavell since and he said that he had, (feeling in his pocket) he handed it to him with his wife, who was at Birchall's Hotel. Witness volunteered to go to the hotel for the letter and Birchall then said the letter was at Niagara Falls. Asked the contents of the letter and whether it mentioned the names of any farmers whom Beavell had seen, Birchall said he couldn't just say that Beavell mentioned any names. Fact he had forgotten all about what was in the letter. All he remembered was that it was a letter from Beavell to him and that it was a letter from Beavell to him and that it was a letter from Beavell to him.

To Mr. Birchall's witness admitted that at the inquest he had said that the body resembled a man who had been seen singing in the Royal Hotel, that he thought he recognized the clothing as the same. He explained the reason he asked Birchall if his friend was in the habit of attending houses of ill-fame by stating that the man whom he saw was thought to be in the habit of frequenting these places.

John Gregg, action of Princeton cemetery, testified to the exhuming of the body of Beavell for the purpose of identification, and that it looked exactly the same on all occasions.

The crowd that collected in the Market square after the adjournment of the court was about twice as large as it was last evening. There is only one exit from the court room, down a flight of stairs at the front of the building. Over 1000 people were jammed in the square during the adjournment.

One Buffalo Witness Dead.

BUFFALO, Sept. 23.—Michael Hall, the night clerk at the Stafford House where the Birchall party was there, died at Suspension bridge yesterday morning. He had not been employed at the Stafford House since spring. He would have testified to calling the Birchall party the morning of the day they were there.

J. H. King, one of the clerks at the Stafford House, says that he registered the Birchall party while they were stopping at that hotel. He received a message from Woodstock yesterday requesting him to go there and give his testimony.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1890.

THE VOTE TO-MORROW.

In another column the points where the polls will be held in the four wards are given. The poll will be opened at nine o'clock in the morning and remain open until five o'clock in the afternoon. The importance of this by-law to the town has been, we believe, sufficiently dwelt upon in the previous columns to the town of the establishment of a large, valuable and growing industry, one that now employs over two hundred hands and creates room to employ more. The cost to the town will be small—will, in fact, be nothing when the entire taxes that will be received from employees of the company, and the company itself after the expiration of ten years, are considered. The debentures will run for thirty years, but in ten years the company will be paying taxes on the property to meet the debentures.

Let the vote be polled early. Every voter should vote in the morning. Let something should interfere with his going to the poll in the afternoon. But if a taxpayer cannot vote in the morning he should not fail to do so in the afternoon. The census is an important one, and much depends on the rate of the Edison by-law to-morrow.

May the fine weather continue for several days. It will suit the exhibitors.

Do you believe that manufacturing industries benefit a town? If so, vote for the Edison by-law.

Would you like to see more activity in the building trade in Peterborough? Then vote for the Edison by-law.

The population of the town would be increased by the location here of the Edison company's works. Vote for the by-law.

More employment for skilled and unskilled labor would be provided by the Edison company. Mark your ballot for the by-law.

Other cities mourned because the Edison Company passed them by to come here. Do not fly in the face of good fortune, but vote for the by-law.

Do you wish the business of the town to be given a healthy impetus by an increased circulation of money? Show it by voting for the Edison by-law.

From $50,000 to $100,000 will be spent by the Edison Company at once in putting up buildings for their works if the by-law is carried. Vote for it.

If you would like to see the amount of money paid out in wages each week in town increased by thousands of dollars, vote for the Edison by-law.

That new reciprocity proposal, said to have been considered by the conference committee of Congress, seems to have been unheard of outside of the Globe office.

The prosperity of the town would be materially helped by the addition of another large industry. Secure the industry by voting for the Edison by-law.

Electricity is in its infancy. The manufacture of electrical machinery and appliances is a business that will increase. Secure a growing industry for the town by voting for the Edison by-law.

Visit the Central Exhibition to-morrow by all means. It will be well worth seeing. Out your ballot for the Edison by-law and then go to the agricultural grounds.

Mr. E. J. Witherspoon has announced his intention to withdraw from Congress. And the latter party bill has not yet been passed. Mr. Witherspoon, how about your assurance?

The growing town is the prosperous town. Manufacturing industries make a town grow and without them it will stand still. A vote for the Edison by-law will help Peterborough.

And Sir John Macdonald pretends that he is still in favor of reciprocity. He also wishes to God he could catch Lord. Macdonald. Free Press.

And he caught him. And how very sorry the Liberal leaders were when he was caught and he and those poor Indians who massacred the people at Frog Lake were "condemned by law to die," as a Liberal poet expressed it.

accepts his lot. "Oh, he would settle with me afterwards," replied Mitchell, who also told witness that he had left Hamilton for London. Witness asked if he had received a letter from Rex since and he said that he had. Witness then asked him to show him the letter. He showed him a letter from Rex which was dated at Hamilton. Witness then asked him to show him the letter. He showed him a letter from Rex which was dated at Hamilton. Witness then asked him to show him the letter. He showed him a letter from Rex which was dated at Hamilton.

To Mr. Blackstock witness admitted that at the inquest he had testified that the body was about twice as large as it was last evening. There is only one exit from the court room, down a flight of stairs at the front of the building. Over 1000 people were jammed in the square awaiting their turn to get a glimpse of Rex.

As the sheriff's officers landed him into the covered carriage and sped off to the jail. Now that so many prominent ladies of the town have been at the trial on Monday and to-day, the desire on the part of the average female to get a glimpse of the man who was the cause of so much excitement is not surprising.

The interest in the case is spreading throughout the whole country. This curiosity, or whatever it may be, will certainly culminate in the case of Rex.

Mr. George O'Neil, the young "bookie" who makes Woodstock his headquarters, is a firm believer in Rex's innocence. He wants to open a book on the man, and says if the accused is acquitted he will have a brain and tender Rex's case.

The court rose at 4 o'clock.

No Progress in Conference.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—It is proposed by some of the Democratic representatives that the Republican shall be compelled to pass the tariff bill without the aid of Democratic votes in the House. If sufficient signatures are obtained to the request for a call, a caucus of Democratic representatives will be held to determine upon a line of policy to be pursued. The Republican conference on the tariff bill were in session again to-day for two hours before noon. After they had separated it was said there was no further progress to report.

Representative Mills being unable to attend the conference on the tariff bill has been excused and Mr. Turner of Georgia has been appointed in his place.

The Republican conference on the tariff bill met again this afternoon. It is understood that the metal and glassware schedules have been agreed upon. As to sugar, a compromise on No. 14 as the dividing line between free and dutiable sugars is probable.

On Monday a small fire, probably half a cent a pound, will be imposed. This afternoon a conference was held of Republican members who voted to put the tariff on the free list. There were present Senators Ingalls, Platts, Pomeroy, Casey, Pettigrew, Morrill, Wilson, Davis, Foster and Paddock.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

BY ALMA LAMBERT GREEN.

"What does this mean?" eagerly asked the doctor. "Is it possible that the front door has been left open?"

And bravely pushing by the new owner, he shut the offending door and then came back, asked his business of the last arrival.

The fellow who was thinner than the other and much more dapper, pulled a small book and pencil from his pocket. It was enough. Dr. Moleworth recognized a reporter, and gave his irritation full play.

"You are intruding," cried he. "This is a private house, and no one asked you to enter. As for the calamity which has occurred, learn of it how and where you will; I shall tell you nothing."

But this young man was not to be easily deterred. "Do you wish me to make up an article on this tragedy?" he inquired. "A young girl of this city has died in a carriage and the people have a right to know how. Shall I say by one of the local artists?"

"Moleworth" came from Dr. Moleworth's lips. "You deserve chastising, but I shall simply say that you, who are a reporter, have probably never done before, tell the exact truth." And turning to the detective at his side, he exclaimed, "No one will tell the truth. If he attempts a word of truth, he is not borne out by what he observes and hears here."

During this case of Mildred Farley, it was long before he presented himself at the place designated. He found the carriage empty, and the following conversation ensued:

"Well, Gwynne," said the latter, "I have just come from the house where you played the part of a sick patient on a magnificent night. May I ask how you came to be so prompt on the scene of action? Do you count on mysterious cases or had you any knowledge which led you to that special spot just at the moment when your presence was possibly the most required?"

"Both," was the good-natured reply. "Something which I called curiosity, but which I am tempted to consider instinct, made me an intruder in Dr. Moleworth's home last night. But I had a lot of knowledge to start with that roused this curiosity, and it is in this I want to speak, if you think the subject worthy of discussion or Dr. Moleworth anything but what he seems, a good, honest and reliable man."

"I think," returned the doctor, slowly, "any subject of this kind worthy of discussion; and as for Dr. Moleworth, he stands high, but so do a great many others whom I have known, and who are called upon to question every day of our lives. You need not stop on his account if you have seen or discovered anything which contradicts his story."

"What is his story?"

"Didn't you hear it? I understood he told all that he had to tell in your presence."

"He told two stories."

Col. Atkins (of Denver)—Young man, what was that case you gave me about you yanked 'em out?"

The Detective—Quarrel and whisky, sir. Col. Atkins—Pull some more, Judge."

"No more, a son."

"I am a stranger in this town," said a man with a few drops on his forehead, the Woodbridge street station house the other day."

"Well, I went up here to the avenue looking about at the buildings and I say to myself, says I:

"It's a mighty lively town, and every man seems to be good-natured."

"That's what I said, you know, when a cat came along. The man who was driving of it, says to me and says if I want to ride."

"This is kind, says I, as I hopped on. 'I'm only a stranger here, and yet the people seem to do too much for me.'"

"Well, I had only just started when a chap came in and held out his hand. Says I to myself, says I:

"'Good day! They not only ask me to ride but are glad of my company. I'll shake of course I will.'"

"Well, when did the doctor do but tell me my story and demand pay, and when I refused my smile as to such conduct he gave me a lift off the car and rumbled on. Says I to myself, says I:

"'The fellow's all right and my ignorance is to blame for it. It's all in being used to the customs, you know. I'm thankful oblige, and when I was coming here I say to myself, says I:

WOODS LOOK, Sept. 25.—
This has probably been the most im-case since the trial began. The cross-examination of the witnesses was a severe one, and the result was a complete breakdown of the evidence.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1890.

ENJOYED THE SPORTS.

Large Attendance at the Exhibition.

EXCELLENT PROGRAMME.

THE CALEDONIAN GAMES AN ATTRACTIVE FEATURE.

The opening of the Caledonian Games at the Exhibition was a most successful one.

The first day of the fair opened with a very favorable prospect. After the fine weather of Thursday the continued fall of rain was depressing. There were few at the grounds in the morning, but after dinner people were moving in that direction.

There was a large attendance on Thursday afternoon and the various departments and events on the programme had many interested spectators. There were, in fact, four programmes going on at the same time, yet they fitted in so well that those who desired to do so could see nearly all of each. The judging proceeded on the agricultural grounds proper, while in the driving part the spectators in the ring, the Caledonian games and the military movements were carried out. The day's entertainment was carried out in a very successful manner, the different events being kept moving so that no time was lost. There was some very interesting racing on all the days, and at times two or three at a time. The large crowd that had been there on Thursday night, and the large number of people who came on Friday morning, were very much interested in the programme, although some who may not have seen the amusement of Mr. John Macdonald's inability to prevent on account of preventing public business may have been disappointed because the veteran Frazier was not present. The 5th Battalion Band was present during the afternoon and added to the pleasure of the people with their music.

The Military Movement. Major-General Macdonald, who picked company of men from the 5th Battalion went through a programme of physical drill and military movements, brought on between the tents in the evening in the ring. The first movement was the physical drill, without arms, which was performed to the music of the band. All the movements were made in unison and in perfect time and it was a fine sight. Then, with arms, the volunteers went through a series of drill, these movements also being made without a flaw and with a perfection of time and movement that could not be excelled. They were literally and very successfully applauded by the audience. In their second appearance the youthful soldiers appeared in full uniform and went through the manual to the music of brass instruments correctly and with a precision that showed excellent training and drill. Having finished the bayonet exercise was performed in the same way. In this they were not so successful at first, but they rallied and gave the exercise in a perfect manner.

Shortly after this the company was drawn up on the field and went through a number of field movements under command of Major-General Macdonald. They advanced in skirmishing order in two lines, firing with blank cartridges; advanced and retired firing; advanced and received enemy; skirmished as in a bush cutting shelter in the trees; formed hollow squares; cheered with fixed bayonets, and went through a number of interesting movements in an excellent manner. This part of the programme continued for some time and was very interesting.

Major-General Macdonald and his men are to be congratulated on giving such an interesting and creditable exhibition.

THE CALEDONIAN GAMES.

The programme of Caledonian games carried out under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Society was very successful in every way. There was good sport and the events were pushed forward without any delay. There were five events of Scotland from Toronto present in full Highland costume. Messrs. Wm. Johnston, champion dancer of America, H. Harrison, D. W. Smith, Charles Hurst, and John McKay, and they were accompanied by Mr. R. H. Harrison, an athlete from Toronto. The players evoked the memories of Scotland in the brains of the Scotchmen present with their music.

The games were opened with a Highland reel on an orchestra, in which four of the gentlemen in costume took part. The following is a list of the events and the winners:—

TURNBULL'S COLUMN.

As the cold weather creeps on us we naturally begin to think of underwear and the kind to buy. We look first for an article that is comfortable, then durable and not liable to shrink very much in washing. We mention more particularly to-day Ladies underwear. It is gratifying to be able to state that our manufacturers have made marvellous strides lately towards the perfecting of these goods. We show to-day a full range of what is known as Belknap underwear. One of the chief points in their favor is that they are being sold by us at the same price as ordinary common stuff.

Our range of men's and boys' underwear is also very large. We know we have the best and cheapest in the country, having examined carefully the products of all the leading mills before making selections, as we want our customers to feel that when they come to trade with us they do not need to look around to see if they can find anything better or cheaper. Our Millinery, Mantles, Dress Making and Tailoring Departments are now in full operation.

All the new Materials and Trimmings are to be seen. We have an immense stock of Mantles of all descriptions, both Ladies' and Children's.

We show some very pretty shades in Beaver Cloths in light and dark, fawn, green, grenat, brown.

Witnesses called at Drumbo.
James Oliver, son of the proprietor of Birchall's Hotel at Drumbo, testified that about 10 o'clock on the day prior to the discovery of the body in the room, he and his brother, William, came into the hotel. He had seen the body in the room and did not appear to have any business in particular.

Q. Could you say whether they appeared to have driven away?—A. I could not say anything about that. They told me they had come from Drumbo.

When Cry for Peterborough
The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1890.
BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

It was therefore with something like relief that in the early morning he found the hall ring and saw the courier enter followed by a woman, whose kind, motherly face did not seem to him to be the part who was to play in this drama. The long struggle with the covers, gloomy-browed doctor, who had the family of making his presence felt in a heavy, oppressive kind of way even when he did not speak, or appear to have been over at last, and he would now have the opportunity to gather such fragments of information as he knew would be available to Mr. Glynn.

But for some reason or other it was decided that he should not share in this affair. Though he had a merry time devoted to him in his search for knowledge as high as the room in which the unhappy girl had lodged, he seemed to have been told that when Mr. Glynn came, he had really nothing to report beyond the slight fact of which he had already made mention.

His first attempt at conversation as well as could be expected, Mrs. Glynn, as he called her, and telling him all she knew in a casual way, as if he had not so lately played upon her credulity the evening before.

Mildred Farley was an orphan, her widowed mother having died about a month before in the very house and in the very room which she herself was occupying at the time of her disappearance. This mother was a very strict woman, of the old-fashioned type, whose melancholy eyes told of a life of mingled love and sorrow. Her daughter, who had appeared to her as a bright, cheerful being, and who had been mainly an object of this mother's ill health that Mildred worked so hard at a trade, and she was not to be disappointed. From Mrs. Farley had been brought up in luxury and had many means which could only be obtained by means of her mother's ill health.

That Mildred was inevitably well and had never to all appearance stated in need of a doctor's prescription.

Thus Dr. McKeeney had been Mrs. Farley's physician, and in this way some much of the daughter. But then he had never appeared to take advantage of this fact, and she had never seen him since.

A poor array of seemingly unimportant facts, it is true; but Mr. Glynn was not discouraged. It was from some chance word or policy, however, he expected his clue, and from the open details which every one knew.

The next interview was with the woman who had come with the courier, and whom he, as well as Mrs. Farley, recognized as an expert female detective. She had taken Mrs. Glynn's place, and she had been from her to help to gather a fact about which he was very anxious.

"What, Mrs. Roberts," he exclaimed, upon seeing her, "did you get the line I sent you?"

"I did, sir."

"And what have you to say?"

"That you are all right. There is a man of fresh paint on the back of your hand, and the smaller blades."

Mr. Glynn drew a deep breath, and he cried: "And what was his color, Mrs. Roberts?"

"As near as I could judge in the light I had, it was brown but of a very bright and peculiar tint."

TURNBULL'S

COLUMN.

As the cold weather creeps on we naturally begin to think of underwear and the kind to

buy. We look first for an article that is comfortable, then durable
and not liable to shrink very much in washing. We mention more particularly today Ladies underwear. It is gratifying to be able to state that our manufacturers have made marvellous strides lately towards the perfecting of these goods. We show
to-day a full range of what is known as Boltonian underwear.
They are made of fine natural cape wool and are in wide and narrow rib like boys' hosiery.
One of the chief points in their favor is that they are being sold
by us at the same price as ordinary common stuff.

Our range of men's and boys'
underwear is also very large.
We know we have the best and cheapest in the country, having examined carefully the products of all the leading mills
before making selections, as we want our customers to feel that
when they come to trade with us
they do not need to look around
to see if they can find anything better or cheaper. Our Millinery, Mantles, Dress Making and Tailoring Departments are now
in full operation.

All the new Materials and Trimmings are to be seen. We have an immense stock of Mantles of all descriptions, both Ladies' and Children's.

We show some very pretty shades in Beaver Cloths in light
and dark, fawns, greens, grenat,
browns.

As the cold weather creeps on us we naturally begin to think of underwear and the kind to buy. We look first for an article that is comfortable, then durable and not liable to shrink very much in washing. We mention more particularly to-day Ladies' underwear. It is gratifying to be able to state that our manufacturers have made marvellous strides lately towards the perfecting of these goods. We show to-day a full range of what is known as Boltonian underwear. They are made of fine natural cape wool and are in wide and narrow ribs like boys' hosiery. One of the chief points in their favor is that they are being sold by us at the same price as ordinary common stuff.

Our range of men's and boys' underwear is also very large. We know we have the best and cheapest in the country, having examined carefully the products of all the leading mills before making selections, as we want our customers to feel that when they come to trade with us they do not need to look around to see if they can find anything better or cheaper. Our Millinery, Mantles, Dress Making and Tailoring Departments are now in full operation.

All the new Materials and Trimmings are to be seen. We have an immense stock of Mantles of all descriptions, both Ladies' and Children's.

We show some very pretty shades in Beaver Cloths in light and dark, fawn, greens, grenat, browns.

One is a Pegg Mongolian and the Other a

PETERBOROUGH, Pa., Oct. 2.—Bert Lee, an educated Chinaman, who is in charge of the electric light plant at Peterborough, is the happy father of two boys, Bert and John. Bert is a Mongolian, while the other looks like a full-blooded Caucasian.

The mother (who was Ida Newman of Fredericks, R.I.) is, of course, proud of her offspring. When seen at her home, on Duquesne Heights, she said she felt a slight disappointment because both did not possess

Mongolian features. The future lives of the oddly mixed pair have already been planned by the happy parents. Bert, who looks like his father, will go to China as a medical missionary if he shall live to reach the proper age, and Alexander, his twin brother, will probably be kept at home unless he shall develop a desire to accompany Bert.

Alexander is a lively little fellow and has light hair, blue eyes and fair complexion, while Bert has black hair, almond eyes and genuine Chinese features.

Mrs. Lee first met her husband at Fredericks, where she was teaching a Chinese language class. He was one of her pupils and she fell in love with and married him.

W. J. MASON

As Their Family Grocer.

His aim has been to sell honest goods to all a thoroughly reliable article to meet the wants of the community at the lowest possible price compatible with honest business.

Great attention is paid. Much injury is caused by the use of adulterated and impure tea, especially at the present time when so many dealers try to make each other in the quantity they can offer for a dollar. To secure the best quality of tea, Mr. Mason has secured the best quality of tea from the best sources and will not sell anything but strictly fine tea at his place.

—IN CIGARETTES—
The same can be said. We sell the most perfect grown.

—IN SUGARS—
And all other groceries we are particular in buying the best and most reliable in the market.

IN CHEESE, OLIVE OIL AND CROCKERY

THE CITY AND SUBURBS.

To Branch Out.
The Reporter says that some of the promoters of the Ontario Telephone Company will shortly be in Millbrook to interview the business men in regard to extending its business to that village.

Mrs. Purley Progressing Favorably.
Mrs. Purley, the woman whose head was so severely wounded by a blow from a club in the hands of her husband, is still in the hands of the living and is progressing favorably. "Jimmy," her husband, comes up for trial on Monday.

Still Missing.
The old man, John Barle, whose disappearance from his home at Duane's Corners was noted early this week, is still missing and no trace of him has been obtained. No theory of the old man's disappearance is held by his friends, who are becoming more anxious.

Civic Committee.
Three committees of the Town Council met last night, but no business of importance was disposed of. The Finance Committee met and passed a number of accounts, and the Fire, Water and Light and Charity Committees discussed minor matters. The reports will be made to the Council on Monday evening, when a regular meeting will be held.

The Market Moves.
There was a large market this morning, but the people who had to purchase outside had to wait through considerable mud, as the sidewalks from the new market building to the square on the south side are not laid yet. The butchers were into their new stalls in the arcade, and fine, large, clean-looking places they are. Mr. Wink is in the large one on the north side, and the Lompkins occupies the smaller one on the south side.

Reverend the General Order.
This morning Turner, the singing man, put up two awnings, rather in violation of the general rule that awnings should come down in October. These will stay up for all winter at Mr. Green's, the photographer, who expects summer, it appears, all the year round. Turner passes business and gets in his work in spite of the seasons. He also got a letter from a man in St. Louis, Mo., who anxiously inquired if Turner made balloons and parachutes, apparently relying on Turner to afford means to rise in the world and come down easily. 100

Two Stolen Pocket Books Recovered.
There is a pocket book at Mr. W. J. Green's tailor shop waiting an owner. It seems that Mrs. John Haggart lost a brown pocket book at the exhibition and found a green one. Later an elderly lady who is described as wearing white curls, reported that she had lost a green pocket book. Then the brown pocket book was found and returned to Mrs. Haggart, and now the lady with the white curls can get her lost purse by inquiring at Mr. Green's shop. Both the pocket books had been robbed of their contents and thrown away, as they were both empty. They were stolen at the exhibition.

THE LAKEFIELD EXHIBITION.

A Very Good Show and Attendance Despite the Showery Weather.

It takes more than a wet day to check the exhibition of the Smith, Ennis and Lakefield Agricultural Society at Lakefield. Thursday, the first day of the fair, the weather was favorable, but in the evening rain fell. There was, however, a fair attendance in the evening. Yesterday, the second day, rain fell more or less nearly all day, and the forenoon was very wet. But the muddy roads, threatening sky and rain did not spoil the exhibition, as the number of entries was within forty-nine of what it was last year (648 as against 704), and the attendance was good—exceedingly good, considering the weather, about 1,000 persons passing through the gates.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS
had been made in the grounds for the fair this year. A new fence was constructed around the horse ring, and in building it the space for spectators was enlarged. This was needed, as last year the people were somewhat crowded when viewing the horses. A yard was fenced off for the cattle at one side, and coops built for the poultry.

LIVE STOCK.
There was, as their always is at Lakefield, a good show of horses. There was a large number and some very fine animals in the different classes—fine large heavy draught, and good carriage horses and roadsters. The horse ring was the principal attraction for the crowd that was present and during the greater part of the afternoon the circle was lined with people watching the different animals as they were brought forward for the inspection of the judges. It is not surprising that this was the case for they were worth seeing, and the number of fine animals showed that interest is taken in good horses in that district.

The show of cattle was not so large, but there were some good Durhams and grades on the ground. There was also some fine sheep, and a very good pointer. The poultry exhibit was not a large one, but was very good.

INSIDE DEPARTMENTS.
Inside the building there was a very good display. The show of roots and vegetables was large and included many excellent specimens and a good show of fruit. The display of ladies' work was fine and was quite large, and there was a good exhibit of domestic manufactures. The apple exhibit was a comprehensive one and included tempting specimens of the fruit. In fine arts there were several good exhibits.

SOME SPECIAL EXHIBITS.
Mr. J. H. McWilliams had a good exhibit from his carriage factory, comprising a wagon, a buggy and road carts. They were well made and well finished vehicles.

Mr. Thomas Nicholls showed a scullie, and a collection of different kinds of ploughs from his farm. He is a well known agricultural implement worker.

Mr. David Smith had on exhibition a wagon and a set of harrows from his factory, and also a set of well-made knives made at his shop.

Mr. R. Chapin had an ash bedroom set on view from his furniture factory.

Mr. Theo. Gordon showed a handsome canoe, as also did Mr. J. Brown.

Mr. A. Cook, of Peterborough, had on exhibition the Parrelval make of ploughs.

Mr. G. A. Mitchell, of Peterborough, had on view a New Williams sewing machine and a Dominion organ.

The building was filled with music from the organ during the afternoon.

Mr. J. M. McCleary, of Peterborough, showed a handsome drop cabinet Singer Sewing machine and two family machines of the same make.

Among the exhibits of ladies' work was a handsome specimen of outline display embroidery made by Mrs. Trail, a lady in her 80th year.

The Lakefield band was in attendance during the afternoon and delivered the proceedings with a music.

Arches that had been erected to welcome the Governor-General were still standing and adorned the streets.

There were reports of booths on the grounds and they appeared to do a good business for a week day.

On account of the state of the track, which the rain had spoiled, there were no races.

The Separate School.

IN MEMORY
OF OUR LITTLE DAUGHTER, CLARA K. MAY, WHO DIED JULY 29TH, 1890.

She's gone from earth, she's gone in peace,
Beneath the bright green sod,
In yonder graveyard, the clay,
Her spirit is with God.

Youngest she left this earth,
Her spirit soared away
To regions of eternal bliss,
To realms of endless day.

Our trials here on earth are great,
Our afflictions here are sore,
But we are very dear to all;
Weaven dearest her for an angel;
Darling Clara, fare-thee well.

Arrested for Bigamy.
GURLEY, Oct. 3.—Peter Dingman, aged 47, of Luther, was arrested at Acton yesterday, on a charge of bigamy. Dingman had been married to George Lovell and was working for John McDonald, mason. He was a man well on in years, but Lovell's daughter, aged 18, a simple minded thing, listened to his stories and on Friday last, during her father's absence, cleared out with Dingman. He produced some kind of a paper as Arthur which he made the girl believe was a marriage certificate, or a divorce paper, and she accompanied him to his mother's in Acton, thinking she was his wife. Dingman, it appears, has a wife and large family living in Dayton. The authorities here at once say that there was no second marriage and the charge was altered to seduction.

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of his kind has given such satisfaction.

Palace Restaurant.
O'Keefe's Pilsener Lager, the best made in Canada, on draught at the Palace Restaurant.

Why will you cough when Shiloh's Cure will give immediate relief. Price 10c, 50c, and $1. Sold by Geo. A. Schofield, Druggist, Peterborough.

Ry, Ear and Throat.
Dr. Ryerson, of Toronto, will visit Peterborough Saturday, Oct. 11th next, and may be consulted at the Grand Central Hotel on diseases of the Eye, Ear and Throat.

Prof. Drenwood
the celebrated hair goods artist will be at Phoenix hotel, Peterborough, on Friday and Saturday, the 17th and 18th inst., with an entirely new stock of the latest styles in Wigs, Toupees, Switches, etc. Don't miss this visit, as Prof. Drenwood will not be able to visit Peterborough again this season.

The Public Brought with the bargains in groceries at Alex. Elliott's. Sugars way down. 18 lbs. bright yellow sugar for $1; 12 lbs. Redpost's standard granulated $1; 15 lbs. soap for 50c; 5 lbs. good prunes for 25c; canned (red) salmon 15c per tin. I don't keep inferior stock, my goods are first-class. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere. Alex. Elliott, 283 George-st., Peterborough.

What a commotion is caused by Morrow's advertising. Why, I work on those old stickers of high prices to place before the public little bait. Don't be foolish enough to bite. I sell you all goods cheap. They will say I don't give you weight. I will present you with a ten dollar bill for any of our parcels you find light in weight. Try our tea. Remember I will make them as good as I have bought previous to the advance. Call and examine our goods.

The opening of the New Town Hall, Ashburnham.

Rev. George Webber, of Toronto, will (D.V.) deliver his popular lecture on, "The Age We Live In," in the old Town Hall, Market-st., at 8 p. m. Mr. Webber is a late Bible Christian Minister and one of Toronto's most popular speakers of 60 days. A first class tea will be served in the old Town Hall, Market-st., from 5.30 to 7.40 p. m. Tickets to both tea and lecture 25c. Tea lecture only 15c. Every one will do well to take this. Proceeds in aid of Mark-st. Methodist Church Trust Fund.

The Town's Room.
Consequent on the location here of the Edison works there seems to be a general stiffening up in prices for real estate. Lots have advanced over 10 per cent and houses to rent are at a premium. There is one gratifying fact that the public who wish to buy can rely on that Hawley Bros. have not advanced the price of their own stock. No matter how well the town grows and enlarges its borders Hawley's prices remain the same—unless indeed they get lower. Fine teas of superior quality always in stock. Extensively a tea business and the proper place to buy tea is at Hawley Bros., George-st.

Thankful White Bachelors.
A meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Monday to finish business connected with the fair work of that Society. The President thanked the ladies for their faithful and united effort. Reference was also made to the great kindness of our friends and the public in general which contributed so largely to the success of our undertaking. On motion the following resolution was adopted:—"That the sincere thanks of this Union be tendered the many kind friends who contributed money and provisions and lent their aid in other ways to our enterprise." On Monday next the ladies and a few of their friends intend taking a social cup of tea together at 5 o'clock in the Hall. Members will please accept this intimation.

The Queen Pays all Expenses.
The Queen's last "Free Trip to Europe" having excited much newspaper interest, the publishers of that popular magazine offer another and $200.00 extra for expenses, to the person sending them the largest list of our subscribers. On motion the following resolution was adopted:—"That the sincere thanks of this Union be tendered the many kind friends who contributed money and provisions and lent their aid in other ways to our enterprise." On Monday next the ladies and a few of their friends intend taking a social cup of tea together at 5 o'clock in the Hall. Members will please accept this intimation.

TURNBULL'S COLUMN.

As the cold weather creeps on us we naturally begin to think of underwear and the kind to

buy. We look first for an article

that is comfortable, then durable

and not liable to shrink very

much in washing. We mention

more particularly to-day Ladies

underwear. It is gratifying to

be able to state that our manufacturers have made marvellous

strides lately towards the per-

fecting of these goods. We show

to-day a full range of what is known as Boltonian underwear.

They are made of fine natural wool and are in wide and narrow ribs like boys' hosiery.

One of the chief points in their

favor is that they are being sold

by us at the same price as ordinary common stuff.

Our range of men's and boys'

underwear is also very large.

We know we have the best and

examined carefully the products of all the leading mills

before making selections, as we

want our customers to feel that

when they come to trade with us

they do not need to look around

to see if they can find anything

better or cheaper. Our Millinery,

Mantles, Dress Making and

Tailoring Departments are now

in full operation.

All the new Materials and Trimnings are to be seen. We have an immense stock of Man-

tles of all descriptions, both

Ladies' and Children's.

We show some very pretty

shades in Beaver Cloths in light

and dark, fawns, greens, grenat,

browns.

THEIR FIRST MEETING.

The stockholders of the Ontario Telephone Co. in session—Last Reports and Bright Prospects.

The Ontario Telephone Company held its first general meeting of stockholders last evening in the company's offices on Gloucester Street.

There were present a large attendance of shareholders, among many others being Councilor James Keady, President of the Provincial Board of Directors, Messrs. D. O. Frye, A. L. Davis, J. A. Wright, Manager of the Federal Telephone Co., Geo. Kinsman, C. H. Clement, Thos. Brooks, W. H. Bell, A. E. Dineen, R. E. Rogers, W. H. Marshall, W. H. Hill, R. M. Dunsen, J. E. Rogers, R. Fair, Chas. Stapleton, R. Kingan, Arthur Stevenson, Geo. Walrath, Dr. Goldsmith, J. L. Davidson, J. E. Dolan, T. K. Bell, Geo. McWilliams, J. J. Hartley, R. Nichol and others.

Good progress in the work of construction was reported and the prospects of the new company were shown to be most promising.

Mr. Keady presided as chairman and Mr. T. E. Bell acted as secretary.

THE WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

The first business was the reception of a report from Mr. D. O. Frye, the superintendent, who gave a statement of the progress of the work of construction.

There had been 225 poles purchased and over 200 planted, while about forty-five miles of wire has been strung and over 100 feet of cable put up. Mr. Frye also stated that a first instalment of one hundred telephones had been received and would be placed in readiness for connection with the central office.

In answer to a question as to how the price being paid for material, etc., compared with the original estimate, the Superintendent said that up to date the expenditure was some seven hundred dollars below the estimate.

This report was adopted.

THEY OWED HIM A DUE.

Mr. Keady at this point took occasion to remark on the presence of Mr. J. A. Wright, General Manager of the Federal Telephone Co., of Montreal, and said the Ontario Board of Directors owed much to that gentleman for his valuable assistance and advice kindly given.

An editorial from Saturday's Empire, which was copied in the Review, was read, stating that in the opinion of that journal the action of any company in discriminating in the price charged subscribers was against the spirit of the law.

BY-LAWS ADOPTED.

The consideration and adoption of the by-laws for the company was then proceeded with. The by-laws were read clause by clause and duly adopted. One of the by-laws provided that no transfer of stock can be made unless ratified by the Board of Directors.

WELL DEFERRED.

Mr. E. B. Mousens offered the suggestion that a limit should be fixed to prevent any individual or corporation getting control of more than a certain amount of stock.

The Ontario Board of Directors was well distributed throughout the town and he did not fear any danger from this source.

THE NUMBER OF INSTRUMENTS.

Mr. Frye, in answer to an enquiry, stated that there were at least 200 or 250 telephones ordered for. There were many others, he said, not booked but which would be placed in when they were ready to do business. He further said they had about 110 of the Bell subscribers.

DEBATES MATTER.

The first Tuesday in October was fixed as the date of the annual meeting, and the financial year to commence on September 1st of each year.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

A resolution was passed endorsing the action of the Provincial Board of Directors.

The election of the new directors resulted in the following being elected: Messrs. James Keady, J. O. Wright, Geo. Davidson, C. H. Clement, A. Stevenson, R. E. Rogers and A. L. Davis.

Mr. F. K. Bell was elected auditor, and a vote of thanks was tendered the Provisional Board for their services and the meeting adjourned.

PRESIDENT—Jas. Keady.

VICE-PRESIDENT—Geo. Davidson.

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY.

The manufacture of telephones and telegraph instruments is commenced in connection with the Ontario Telephone Co.

The Brooks Manufacturing Company have decided to make an addition to their works and erect a building in the manufacture of a line of goods that are not made in Canada, viz., telephones and telegraph instruments. This will be an extensive addition to their present works, and as it will be the only industry of the kind in the Dominion it should have a prosperous future.

An addition to the works will be necessary and a building will be erected on the west side of the present one. This addition will be used as a forging and grinding shop. The manufacture will be entered into on a comparatively extensive scale, as some thirty-five hands will be employed and an output of about thirty dozen telephones and telegraph instruments a day.

Mr. O. W. Taylor, manager of the Carbon Works, is a practical man in the industry, having worked at it for some fourteen years. His experience is such, therefore, that a good article may be guaranteed.

Building operations have not been commenced yet, but will be in a few days and the necessary machinery will be brought here with no great delay. The citizens generally will wish the Company every success in this new enterprise.

A Private School.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Those parents whose children have been for a somewhat lengthened period under the tuition of Mr. Duff, and who are regretting the closing of his school in consequence of his removal to a distant city, will, I believe, have rejoiced to see in your issue of this evening, a notice to the effect that Mr. Sheldrake, of Lakeside, who has for some years conducted a similar school in the village, very much to the satisfaction of the Bishop of Toronto and many other gentlemen of high social position, who have entrusted their children to his care, has it in contemplation, should he meet with sufficient encouragement, to remove his present establishment to Peterborough and to carry on the work as efficiently as before.

I am writing altogether without the cognisance of Mr. Sheldrake, but I think I may suggest that the interest between the breaking up of Mr. Duff's school and the opening of another is so necessarily brief that some consideration should be allowed Mr. Sheldrake to enable him to complete his arrangements. Meanwhile he would need to Peterborough a tutor, at present acting as his assistant, to take charge of the children at present under the supervision of Mr. Duff.

I may perhaps be permitted to add that I should regard the advent of Mr. Sheldrake to our town as a great boon to our community, more especially as that gentleman has proved himself to be not only an excellent teacher of general knowledge, but one who has ever attended to the department of Latin and Greek, as much as when at their desks.

AN ENGLISH GRADUATE.

MUSIC IN THE SCHOOLS

FOUND TO BE BENEFICIAL AND THE INSTRUCTION INCREASED.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening in the City Hall.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and the communications and accounts then presented.

A regular meeting of the School Board was held last evening when Mayor Stevenson presided and present were Messrs. McCracken, Dr. Barnham, Dr. Boucher, Dr. Ferguson, Dr. Wright, English, Corder and Dunsen.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and the communications and accounts then presented.

Mr. Walker, who held the principality of the Central School during Mr. Smith's illness, sent in a communication asking the Board to supplement his salary for the past term by such a sum as will make it more in keeping with the increased amount of work and responsibility they saw fit to impose upon him.

Mr. John A. Jellison, English master, wrote asking for an increase of one hundred dollars in salary. Committee on Appointments.

OTHER COMMUNICATIONS.

The Government grant of $284.35 was received.

Mr. J. H. Stirling, head master of the North Ward school, in sending in his report of attendance, drew the attention of the Board to the fact that there were a number of children between the ages of 7 and 15 who did not attend school at all regularly.

The fees of the public schools for September were reported as having been $5.

THE QUESTION OF TITLE.

Dr. Boucher, under the head of enquiries, asked what had been done with the resolution moved by Mr. Deane authorizing the Chairman to obtain a legal opinion on the ownership of the Central school property.

Mr. Stevenson said he had not obtained a legal opinion, but had secured of the Deputy Minister of Justice and from what that gentleman had told him he was led to believe that the property belonged to the Collegiate Institute. The Chairman said he would, however, obtain a formal opinion before very long.

THE FINANCE REPORT.

THE KINDERGARTEN ASSISTANT.

Mr. Dunsen said that the Kindergarten department was over-crowded at present for the one teacher. It was difficult and almost impossible to get an assistant to assist in the department without salary. It was a question for the Board to decide whether they could pay a salary to an assistant.

The Chairman, Dr. Boucher, and others spoke of the interest that was manifested in the Kindergarten department and thought it should be well looked after.

Mr. Dunsen moved, seconded by Mr. McCracken, that the Board authorized the Committee on Appointments to engage an assistant for Miss Warner in the Kindergarten department and that $100 be the limit for compensation for the services of the assistants.—Carried.

THE GRANT FOR SCHOLARSHIPS.

Dr. Boucher said he might be a little premature in bringing the matter up, but as the Board had voted to let Mrs. Nichols' grant of $2,000 to the Collegiate Institute, the interest of which was to be expended in scholarship or medals for the institute, he thought that a committee should be appointed to confer with the staff of the Institute in regard to what medals or scholarships should be offered. He thereupon moved that Dr. Barnham, Mr. Dunsen and Mr. McKee be a committee to consider the establishment of scholarships for the Institute.

Dr. Boucher endorsed Dr. Boucher's remarks and seconded the motion.

Mr. Dunsen moved that the Board bring this matter before the Board, as it would be an inducement to pupils to study if they knew what scholarship or medals were to be offered. He wanted to see Dr. Boucher's committee added to the Committee.

This was done and the motion was carried with the following amendments:—

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Mr. Dunsen said he noticed the Principal of the Institute present and as he was his first appearance at a Board meeting he thought he might have something to say.

Mr. Farnham spoke briefly. He said he was glad to say that the Institute was making good progress, but he had something in particular to say to the Board. He said, however, in the future have to come to ask for better accommodation.

The Board then adjourned.

JIMMY FARLEY GETS A MONTH.

Two of the Worst Abused People in the World—A Picture of Domestic Trouble.

What was almost the Farley tragedy was closed this morning when the old man, "Jimmy," was sentenced by County Magistrate Edmondson to one month in goal at the Central Prison for a criminal offence.

The trial was a most interesting one, from the manner in which the evidence was given and the contradictory stories told by the wife, daughter and husband.

Mrs. Farley appeared in the Court room with her head tied up in a heavy white band and her moanings and expressions of grief were agonizing to both the ear and eye.

Her daughter, Mrs. Flaherty, was also present. Mrs. Farley, after giving her evidence, took a seat alone for her unfortunate husband, and in a tantalizing undertone began to whisper out her complaints until the Magistrate stopped her tongue with a severe rebuke.

According to Mrs. Farley's evidence she is the worst abused woman in the world. Her story of the domestic broil of Thursday last was the same as her daughter had told on Monday. "Jimmy" was drunk and knocked her down, stepped on her and struck her with the axe handle. According to her story these little family feuds had begun years ago and had been very frequent. "Jimmy" had broken her leg, shot at her, set the dog on her, and in fact abused her in every imaginable way. Her daughter's evidence went to substantiate both of these statements and that they were not drinking on Thursday.

"Jimmy" was allowed to go into the box and he laid quite a different story before the Magistrate. On Wednesday he said he came home and "graciously" gave the miscreant a dollar and a half. Part of this money was used to buy beer, which the women drank glass after glass and when once intoxicated, commenced dancing and singing and "enjoying themselves generally," ending by attacking him with the axe handle. He had snatched the weapon from his wife and struck her. It was a life of continual abuse and annoyance that he had lived, so he said, and they even "agitated him in his prayers."

The Magistrate, in sentencing the prisoner, advised him to separate from the women, and severely censured his conduct in striking a woman with such a weapon as an axe handle.

Mr. Farley protested that his wife might have made herself annoying by nagging and harping with her tongue, yet no man was justified in striking a woman a blow which might have resulted in murder. After some further advice to Mrs. Farley, the Magistrate sentenced "Jimmy" to one month in goal at the Central Prison.

"Jimmy" accepted his fate with apparent fortitude. "God will see justice done," he said, "and will lay them low for their lies. You should break up the whole lot, for lying, drinking and revelry is going on there continually, Mr. Edmondson. But the end will come if we wait in patience, and God will see justice done."

Mrs. Farley said that her son had rented the house where she lived and helped to support her, and it is probable that when released the husband will not return to live with his better half, but will, according to the Magistrate's advice and his own resolution, "keep away and leave her to herself."

Something Else.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg always generously responds to appeals for money, and delightfully her audience by singing some of our old fashioned but always popular songs like "The Swanee River," "Home, Sweet Home," or "Coming through the Rye." Make it a point to attend the concert to-night, Oct. 8th, in the Opera House.

"Hatchcock," a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents. For sale by Geo. A. Schofield, Druggist, Peterborough.

The Town's Room.

Consequent on the location here of the Kellogg works there seems to be a general stiffening up in prices for real estate. Lots have advanced over 10 per cent and houses to rent are at a premium. There is one gratifying fact that the public who wish to buy can rely on, that Hawley Bros. have not advanced the price of less one cent. No matter how well the town grows and enlarges its borders, Hawley's prices remain the same. Fine lots of superior quality always in stock. Exclusively a business and the proper place to buy tea is at Hawley Bros., George-st.

How to Wear Lace.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg appears not only in concert alone, but also in entire sets of grand opera, given in full costume and stage settings, supported by a company of operatic artists which no doubt greatly adds in interest to her entertainments.

Shiloh's Cure will immediately relieve Croup, Whooping Cough and Bronchitis. For sale by Geo. A. Schofield, Druggist, Peterborough.

BY ANNA KATHERINE GREEN.

CHAPTER I.

TRIVIALITY.

Dr. Cameron told his wife of his interview with Mrs. Cameron, and how she had been so kind as to allow him to see her in the morning and he did not strive to increase it.

Her pay was too good for him to use it. At the door of their own house they looked on each other and smiled.

"It is pleasant to go home," he cried.

"It is pleasant," she faintly murmured.

The house was exquisitely furnished.

As they entered, an atmosphere of ease and luxury enveloped them, making it hard for them to part at the foot of the stairs.

And so it happened that when he was standing by her door, he saw her enter her dressing-room to take off her hat; and the two rooms being contiguous, he plainly heard the cry of admiration which she uttered as she beheld lying out before her on the bed her whole assortment of dresses.

"What is it?" he asked.

"Nothing, I suppose."

"We will soon find out."

But at this instant the young girl

when they had been entering for upstairs work, came into the room.

"Did you call, ma'am?" she asked,

watching with covert awe her mistress's eyes

fall on her own wardrobe.

"No, but I should have done so in a moment. Why are these things lying

closets and did not expect to find them presumed in my absence to take them down."

"I am sure, ma'am," began the girl, travelling, "that you thought you were the young woman dressed very well of herself, and told me just what dress you wanted and I could not find it."

"Young woman? What young woman?"

"Why, the one from the dressmaker's ma'am. She told me you had sent her; that one of your dresses, a blue silk, she said, was too long in the skirt, and that she had come to fix it. She had her needle and thread with her, ma'am, and looked very respectable. But I couldn't find the blue silk, and she went away."

"I sent for no girl from any dressmaker, and you did very wrong to touch my dresses without my express order. It is lucky she did not walk away with one."

"Oh, ma'am," the girl exclaimed, "she was very respectable. You can see her, ma'am, if you wish, she will tell you it is just as I say."

The girl left her name, then, and told you the place where she works."

state here, makes it difficult for the police to settle down to the belief that her death was the simple result of an accident, in that no one can be expected to be surprised when she is found dead in the morning in the house to see if some light cannot be thrown upon the case.

Dr. Cameron, who was called to see her,

found her lying on the floor, her head resting on the wall, and her eyes closed.

"You think then, that I know Mildred Farley?" he asked.

"Did you not?" he inquired.

"Her lips broke into a smile." "Ask Dr.

Cameron," she suggested.

Their visitor glanced at the doctor, and saw a faint smile on his face, and considered it a mere formal tone.

"If you do not know Miss Farley, it is strange she should have made the dress of your tressure, Mrs. Cameron."

"I don't understand you," was the lady's reply. "My dress was made by my own tailor, but that girl, this I can assure you positively, sir."

"Can you?" "We are then brought round to my first question. Who was it that did make your dress, Mrs. Cameron?"

It was smilingly said, but it seemed her to flush with great indignation. "I should tell you"

she somewhat haughtily inquired.

"If you do not, I cannot prevent certain people I know from thinking it was Mildred Farley."

"And why?" Dr. Cameron now broke in. "What reasons have they or any one to connect my wife with that poor unfortunate?"

As the cold weather creeps on we naturally begin to think of underwear and the kind to buy. We look first for an article that is comfortable, then durable and not liable to shrink very much in washing. We mention more particularly to-day Ladies' underwear. It is gratifying to be able to state that our manufacturers lately towards the perfecting of these goods. What to-day a full range of what is known as Boltonian underwear. They are made of fine natural cape wool and are in wide and narrow ribs like boys' homery. One of the chief points in their favor is that they are being sold by us at the same price as ordinary common stuff.

Our range of men's and boys' underwear is also very large. We know we have the best and cheapest in the country, having examined carefully the products of all the leading mills before making selections, as we want our customers to feel that when they come to trade with us they do not need to look around to see if they can find anything better or cheaper. Our Millinery, Mantles, Dress Making and Tailoring Departments are now in full operation.

MURDERED INNOCENTS.

TELL-TALE FOOTPRINTS FOUND BY DETECTIVES.

The Prisoner Alleged to Have Made a Partial Confession—Indecent Relationship in the Neighborhood Where the Tragedy Occurred.

CORNBURG, Ont., Oct. 10.—This village is still in a state of great excitement over the brutal murder of the two young, pretty and innocent daughters of Mr. McGonagle. The crime, for sheer brutality and wantonness, has, it is to be said, never been equaled in Canada, and the manner in which the deed was committed is suggestive of the methods of the thugs of Oriental countries. The villagers are asking themselves how it was possible for a human being to be so cold and deliberately wicked and strange two innocent school girls. Mingled with these remarks are others of more sinister import, and vague threats and mutterings of lynching and shooting on sight are heard on every hand among the knaves of the village who are discussing the occurrence. But others more experienced and moderate are counselling calmness.

Tell-Tale Footprints. An investigation of the most important results this morning. Detective Grier started out with the prisoner's boots to the scene of the tragedy. At a spot about 20 feet from where the bodies had been found he found in the soft mud and wet ground a set of foot marks that exactly fitted the prisoner's boots. The sole of the boot was round and the boot mark in the mud was identically similar in shape and size. The detective then followed the outside mark as it led to the bodies and found a view of discovering further traces.

The prisoner declines to say anything about these discoveries.

Charles Wilson of Green's Creek, brother-in-law of McGonagle, created a scene at the inquest by exclaiming, "If that was my child he should never enter that house alive. I would kill him if I had my hands on him!"

The mother has not eaten since the murder, but she is crying incessantly. She was taken to a neighbor's yesterday, but it only made her worse. She is in a delicate condition.

A knotted handkerchief belonging to the little girl was found near the spot. It was evidently used to wipe her face from weeping. There was also found an old piece of a buggy wheel.

Think They Have the Right Man. Mr. Windsor told a reporter this morning that yesterday he went into prisoner's room and looking reproachfully at Larocque, exclaimed suddenly and emotionally: "For heaven's sake, Larocque, what possessed you to do it? I had been saying for weeks that you would do it, but I knew what you would do before the week is out."

Some of the juryman wanted to take prisoner before the children and to the scene of the murder, but the police refused to do so.

They lost four of their eight children two years ago by diphtheria, two of them being buried in one day. Now they have but two children left, aged 3 and 5 years.

A Torontoan Killed. WINNIPEG, Oct. 10.—The criminal libel suit instituted by Attorney-General Macdonald against the editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, was dismissed at the Police Court to-day, the authorship of alleged libellous article not having been proven.

George Farnet, son of Prof. Farnet of Philadelphia, Pa., formerly professor of languages in Toronto University, was thrown off his horse while trying to catch another one near Glenora yesterday and his neck was broken.

THE L'ORIGINE MURDER.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE AGAINST THE ACCUSED.

The Father of a Prisoner Testifies as to How Galt, While the Daughter of the Victim on the "Star" Boat, Were to All for the Alleged Murderer.

L'ORIGINE, Oct. 10.—The trial of Oliver Monette, husband of the former, on Sept. 13 last has been in progress here for the past three days. The prisoner was tried before Mr. Justice Ross last May and after the evidence for the crown was all in the court adjourned for lunch and when the court resumed an hour afterwards it was found that one of the jurymen was absent, and for this reason the trial had to be postponed. The evidence is purely of a circumstantial character. William Benson of Michigan, brother-in-law of the murdered man, was the last witness examined. He testified to having seen a trail from the edge of the woods and road to where the body was found, which looked as if a body might have been dragged along. He also admitted that he had been intimate with the female prisoner. Several witnesses saw Larocque and Monette go into the bush together on the morning of the murder, and they heard screams proceeding from there just about the time the two would get there.

Henry Gray and Desrosiers Marie related going through the bush toward the Nelson River, and as they came to the bank seeing a man's body out in the stream, which proved to be that of Oliver Monette. His feet were there with a piece of string.

Other witnesses corroborated this story and told of the evidence of a terrible struggle in the woods near by. Medical evidence was put in and the wounds on the body were shown to the jury. The jurymen had heard of the murder and they had seen the body of the victim.

The most interesting witness was Francois Parent, father of Mrs. Monette, who swore he heard Larocque say, in presence of Mr. Monette and others, "I have done it! I have put him out of my way!"

For the defence evidence as to character was put in and the jury was told that the prisoner was a man of good character and that he was a man of good character.

THE L'ORIGINE MURDER.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE AGAINST THE ACCUSED.

The Father of a Prisoner Testifies as to How Galt, While the Daughter of the Victim on the "Star" Boat, Were to All for the Alleged Murderer.

L'ORIGINE, Oct. 10.—The trial of Oliver Monette, husband of the former, on Sept. 13 last has been in progress here for the past three days. The prisoner was tried before Mr. Justice Ross last May and after the evidence for the crown was all in the court adjourned for lunch and when the court resumed an hour afterwards it was found that one of the jurymen was absent, and for this reason the trial had to be postponed. The evidence is purely of a circumstantial character. William Benson of Michigan, brother-in-law of the murdered man, was the last witness examined. He testified to having seen a trail from the edge of the woods and road to where the body was found, which looked as if a body might have been dragged along. He also admitted that he had been intimate with the female prisoner. Several witnesses saw Larocque and Monette go into the bush together on the morning of the murder, and they heard screams proceeding from there just about the time the two would get there.

Henry Gray and Desrosiers Marie related going through the bush toward the Nelson River, and as they came to the bank seeing a man's body out in the stream, which proved to be that of Oliver Monette. His feet were there with a piece of string.

Other witnesses corroborated this story and told of the evidence of a terrible struggle in the woods near by. Medical evidence was put in and the wounds on the body were shown to the jury. The jurymen had heard of the murder and they had seen the body of the victim.

The most interesting witness was Francois Parent, father of Mrs. Monette, who swore he heard Larocque say, in presence of Mr. Monette and others, "I have done it! I have put him out of my way!"

A Visit to Banff Park-The Mountains.

Dear Reviewer:—I have just returned from a visit to Banff Park, the mountains, and the lakes, and I have much to tell you.

I have seen some of the most beautiful scenery in the world. The mountains are so high and steep, and the lakes are so clear and blue, that it is almost impossible to describe them.

The Ploughing Match.

The ploughing match which will be held here on Oct. 20th will be open to a large number of competitors. It will be open to the counties of Peterborough, Hastings, Addington, Lennox, Prince Edward, Durham, Northumberland, York, Victoria, Haliburton, Ontario, Peel, Cardwell, and the city of Toronto. There may not be many entries from the city, but these counties have very many excellent ploughmen who can turn over a straight and even furrow. The land which has been secured for the match on the Howden estate is excellently situated. It is immediately across the southern boundary of the town and is therefore easily accessible by both the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways. It is close to the Exhibition grounds and the shade there may be used if necessary. This match will be an interesting one for farmers.

Prevention Better Than Cure.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—This is especially true with regard to dandruff, which is intended to be a cure. If the hair comes off before it reaches the scalp, the cure is impossible, therefore prevent it by wiping off all blood and moisture and keeping it dry, also use salt in the mouth and neck and where possible, and if you do not wish a comb to be shown do not let it up the front but down the back of the neck. You can cut it from the scalp down as far as you desire. Give a long neck, they look best and stand as soon as possible. With regard to dandruff, hang them up by the back for a week and wipe the scalp with a little oil and moisture and give a little salt. These few hints will be helpful to those just starting upon a dandruff cure.

Yours, &c.

The P. A. A. A. F. F.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—As it is three weeks since the sports were held in connection with the last meeting of the P. A. A. A. F. F. (and others as well) I think it is about time that something was forthcoming in the shape of prizes.

Now, it seems to me that the Association is trying to get out of giving the 5 cups and 11 medals, which they are in honor bound to give. They have had plenty of time to make the prizes since the meeting, and nothing has been done towards giving the prizes.

Can any one give a good reason why we should not have the prizes we have won? A. FRANK WILSON.

Peterborough, Oct. 11, 1890.

[NOTE.—The Review has been informed that arrangements were made by the directors for the purchase of the prizes, but a misunderstanding arose which caused a delay. All the prizes will be sent to the winners in a few days.]

BRIDGENORTH.

Correspondence of the Review.

OCTOBER 12.—On Friday Mrs. Hannah Dean Kelly, widow of the late A. Kelly, J.P., and mother of Mr. W. E. Kelly, died suddenly at the family residence. Mrs. Kelly was in her usual health on Friday morning and was active for a woman of her age. During the day she went up stairs, but on coming down she complained of being unwell, and died in the evening. The deceased lady was 80 years of age, and was one of the oldest and most respected residents of the town. She was married to Mr. Kelly, who was a well-known and successful merchant. They had several children, and Mrs. Kelly was a devoted mother and a kind friend. Her death is a great loss to the family and the community. The funeral will be held on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. J. H. Smith. The interment will be in the cemetery at 11 o'clock.

OTONABEE.

Correspondence of the Review.

A LATE TREATMENT.—A late treatment used by some of the thrashers in Otonabee for their thrashing machines is said to be the very best and they recommend it. It is said to be very penetrating. It consists of lamb's tallow, hog's fat and linseed oil all mixed together, with a perfume added that gives it a pleasant odor. It has none of the unpleasant odor of coal oil and other greases.

NOT SURPRISING

By which many wonderful cures are said to have been made. We visited one of them, entering the side of the mountain by a tunnel cut through the rock and lit with lamps even in daylight. Here is a basin of hot sulphur water, so hot that you can scarcely bear your hands in it. If you can bear the water you can take a plunge in it; if not, you may go to a basin out in the open air some distance away where the water is not so hot. There are quite a number of basins here where people stay while bathing at the springs, one called the Sanitarium, which was told is a very good place to stay while here.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by mothers for children's colic for over fifty years with perfect success. It relieves the little sufferer at once, produces natural, quiet sleep by soothing the inflamed bowels, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to take, soothes the child, restores the game, allays pain, relieves wind, equalizes the bowels, and is the best remedy for all disorders, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

FOREIGN STOCKS FLAT.

Prices Fall Slightly, Especially for the More Active Securities.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—On the stock exchange an American railway market has been thoroughly disorganized. Prices have fallen heavily, especially for the more active securities. In several instances quotations have been at the lowest points of the year. Union Pacific have been quoted at 51½, a fall of 31 from the highest quotations this year. Milwaukee touched 61 against 81½ last May. Erie touched 22 compared with 30½ last May. Wabash, preferred, which, after the silver boom, rose to 37, touched 20½. Central Pacific, Reading and New York, Ontario & Western shares fell during the week to the lowest quotations of the year. Carrying over rates were extremely onerous. The greater part of the business was adjusted on terms equivalent to 7½ per cent. per annum and even higher terms in special instances.

A PROPOSED READING ROOM.
A petition was read from Rev. A. C. Wilson and others, asking the Council to establish a public reading room.

Mr. HARRIS, GENTLY, appeared in support of this petition. He said that as the evenings grow long the question arises among boys and young men, "Where shall we go?" The thought struck him that a public reading room would attract them, and if a taste for reading was cultivated by them they would make better men. The project had been heartily approved of by those to whom he had spoken. Such an institution would be highly creditable to the corporation. He dwelt further upon the advantages of such a reading room.

The Rev. said he did not see how the corporation could manage such an institution, though it might provide a place for it if it was taken hold of by others. He would be willing to aid it himself.

Mr. ADAMS said the Council might give assistance, but he did not see how it could do more.

This was the feeling of the Council. After some conversation the petition was referred to a committee composed of the Rev. and Messrs. Throp and Adams.

THE STREET RAILWAY.
Messrs. Donatson & Stevens, on behalf of the Peterborough Street Railway company, wrote asking the Council to pass a resolution stating that it had no objection to a street railway.

Mr. A. STEVENSON addressed the Council in support of the petition.

A resolution, moved by Mr. ADAMS and seconded by Mr. THROOP, was adopted as amended, with the proviso that the resolution would not prevent the Council from passing a similar resolution for any other company.

THE OLD MAN AGAIN.
The Rev. reported that Mr. Ties, the old man who had appeared before the Council before, had been refused assistance by the town. The Charity Committee of the Town Council refusing to pay half of his expenses at the home.

After some discussion the matter was dropped without action.

A LEVEL HEAD.

The Advantage of Presence of Mind in an Emergency.

During the late strike on the New York Central Railroad, the militia were ordered to be in readiness in case of a riot, but they were not called out.

In an interview, Gov. Hill said the troops were not to be called upon except in case of an emergency. The emergency had not arisen, therefore they would not be ordered out. He remarked that this was the first great strike with which he had had experience, and he did not propose to lose his head; the only point at which there had been some serious trouble was at Syracuse, and there a company of militia had lost his head and precipitated an emergency.

The strike continued several weeks, and there was serious action at various points along the road, but the civil authorities were able to cope with it without calling on the militia.

The test of a man's real ability comes when an emergency arises which makes a heavy call on his good judgment and discretion. The man who is able to keep his head in such a crisis, and who is able to make a correct decision, is to be relied on and will be put to the test.

Men with level heads have the staying quality which does not fail in the face of danger. Gov. A. C. Hill, in his speech of June 16, 1887, writes: "In the fall of 1886 I was feeling ill. I consulted a doctor and he said I had Bright's disease of the kidneys and that he would not stand in my shoes for the state of Ohio." But he did not lose courage or give up; he says: "I saw the specimen of Mr. John Coleman, 100 Grosvenor, New York, Conn., and I wrote to him. In due time I received an answer, stating that the testimonial that he gave was genuine and not overdrawn in any particular. I took a good many bottles of Warner's Safe Cure; have not taken any for a year."

Gov. Hill is accounted a very successful man; he is cool and calculating and belongs to the class that do not lose their heads when emergencies arise.

Head Reading Again.

"My dear," he said laying down the Revue, "this is a singular case—the young lady at Keene who has the gift of mind-reading. How do you account for it?" "I don't account for it at all—but if you would read my mind you'd find that I think you'd better go to Hawley Bros. and get some more of their tea for we are just out—Hawley's mind, I want no other."

From Italy was sent, we gave her Castoria, when she was a child, she cried for Castoria, when she was a girl, she cried for Castoria, when she had children, she gave them Castoria.

THE NEW YORK BALLOT.

At the state elections on November 5th a new ballot system, modeled after the Australian or Canadian system, will be used in New York state. It is an improvement on the old ballot system of that state and the United States generally, yet it is not as simple as the Canadian plan. The difference, however, arises largely on account of the difference in the political systems of the two countries. In the United States the electors are elected at the same time, and the Legislature has apparently thought it inadvisable to place the names of all candidates on one ballot.

In this New York system official ballots only are used, and they are supplied by officials to the voters at the polls. This is of itself an improvement. The parties are recognized, as there is a separate ballot for the candidates of each party, which is one marked difference from the Canadian system. The ballots are provided with a perforated stub and the stub is numbered and is initiated by the clerk. The tickets and names must be uniform, no distinguishing marks or signs being permitted. On the back of each ballot is printed an endorsement of the place of voting and the offices to be voted for, with a fac-simile of the signature of the county clerk (who performs the duties of returning officer), and the voter must fold the ticket so that this endorsement and the number on the stub will show. The ballot is marked or arranged in a book or stall. There must be a booth provided for every fifty voters in the sub-division or precinct. It must be six feet high and at least three feet square, with a swinging door. In it must be a shelf, with pen and ink, pencil blotter and muslin—quite an array of articles compared with a simple lead pencil required by the Canadian method. There is also a guard rail, so that none but the voter inside can get within six feet of the booths or ballot boxes. The voter may either vote a "straight ticket" or use pasters—that is, cut a name out of one ballot and past it over a name on the ballot he is voting, which explains the presence of the muslin—and the pasters must be taken as the voter's choice even if another name for the same office is not erased or covered. When all is ready the election is formally opened by the inspectors, who deliver the official ballots to the clerks. The voter enters, his right to vote is verified and he is given a complete set of ballots—his name being numbered to correspond with the number on the stub of the ballots given him. After marking the ballot in the booth, he hands his ballot to the inspector, the number is called and identified, the stub is then removed in view of the voter and without unfolding the ballot, and he surrenders his unused ballots to the clerks, who deposit them in a box to be burned without examination at the close. No electioneering is allowed within 100 feet of the polling place.

Much, in brief, is the new ballot system of the state. We believe that the Dominion system is better, because it is more simple and mistakes are less liable to occur. It is in one important particular better than the Ontario system, because the ballots are not numbered and secrecy is thus provided for.

Another Sheep Killing Case.
The Hastings Star says:—"An interesting case was tried at Westwood the other day before Squires Brackbridge, Moore, Hazell and Humphries. Robert Gardner, of Dunsmuir, had four sheep killed by a dog a few weeks ago, and accused Joseph Reynolds, of Asphodel, with being the proprietor of the canine which had committed the depredation, at the same time asking Reynolds to kill the dog and pay for the sheep. Reynolds denied the charge and refused compensation to Gardner, hence the action. Judgment was awarded in favor of plaintiff for $12.50. The magistrate also ordered the dog to be destroyed inside of 24 hours."

A DAUGHTER OF AN EARL.

LADY BLANCHE MURPHY'S ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

The Death of the Husband for Whom She Gave Up Rank and Fortune Recalls an Interesting Story—Ended With an Orgasm.

New York, Oct. 14.—"Kind hearts are more than coronets, and simple faith than Norman blood," was the sentiment that inspired Lady Blanche Elizabeth Mary Aunstrup-Niel, eldest child of the Earl of Gainsborough, one of England's proudest peers, to follow her husband's social station, a luxury she found in Rutlandshire, loving relatives and warm friends to clove with Thomas P. Murphy, the penitential organist of her father's chapel. She died in a foreign land and the husband for whom she sacrificed everything lives there in a Boston hospital last Monday. Much a genuine romance is rarely found outside the covers of a novel.

The dowager and Murphy's old friends the priests, had him appointed organist at the Church of St. James, the most influential place of Catholic worship in London. Murphy soon found that he was not strong enough to perform upon the organ. As it was ruining his health he resolved to resign.

At that time the Brompton Fathers received an application for an organist from Lord Gainsborough. Murphy was given the position.

Murphy was born in London, of Irish parents, and was left an orphan at an early age. He was cared for by Catholic clergymen who were interested in his musical talents.

Through the offices of these kind men young Murphy became the protégé of a wealthy Catholic dowager in London. She sent him to Leipzig to study at the rank of his art, and later had him schooled in the famous conservatory of music in Brussels.

He was then about 20 years old, short in stature, slender, blue-eyed and with a poll of curling blond hair.

Lady Blanche was the daughter of Lord Gainsborough and the Duchess of Pife, and was the 17th granddaughter of the Earl of Gainsborough. She was a highly-cultivated woman, a fine linguist and skilled musician. When young Murphy came to her father's estate, Huxham Hall, Rutlandshire, she was 24 years old. Many noblemen had paid court to her, but she was fancy free. She led the chapel choir, composed of tenants on her father's estate. Her musical gave the musician and his employer's fair daughter ample opportunities for flirtations that ended in love-making. They concealed their affection for months, until her father learned the true state of affairs and insisted on Murphy that his resignation would be acceptable. Murphy wanted to explain, but was politely ushered to the family carriage and driven to the nearest railway station, and went to London. Before long the lovers began conducting a clandestine correspondence that finally resulted in the making of a rendezvous in London.

In September, on the Earl of Gainsborough's estate, the annual harvest festival was celebrated with wine and merriment, and he sat at the table for hours with his tenants and neighbors. Lady Blanche had shrewdly fixed on this time of festivity to fly to her sweetheart in London. She left her home attended by a household's flock and cloak, walked three miles across fields to a railway station, and a few hours later joined Murphy in London.

The lovers were found on the eve of their marriage and the earl offered the organist a handsome annuity if he would leave his Ladyship and go to the Continent. This offer Murphy declined, and his wife told her father that if her affianced had consented she would have entered a convent.

They were then married by a Catholic priest of Westminster diocese. Lady Blanche's father held in trust for his daughter several thousand pounds, bequeathed to her by an aunt, but she was too proud to ask for it.

London newspapers were filled with serious and semi-humorous stories of the elopement, and to escape this humiliation husband and wife sailed in the steamer of the ship Plymouth Rock for New York. The elopement of the young couple, however, was not so much a scandal as it was a mystery. Murphy was made organist at St. James' Church, and later secured a better position at the Church of the Holy Innocents.

Over the signature of Lady Blanche Murphy the wife wrote innumerable stories, sketches and serious articles for Lippincott's Magazine, The Galaxy and The Catholic World and Tablet. Her husband's income was increased through the generosity of "Boss" Tweed, who made him a Twenty-fifth building inspector, or something of that kind, for which he drew salary without work.

Tweed and his associates fell and with them went Murphy, who became organist of a church in Yorkville. Lady Murphy in her hour of direct need would not ask the Earl for money, in the hope that he would forgive her husband and herself.

Agents of Baring Brothers in this city frequently notified her to draw on her father through them. Poverty and sickness finally broke her spirit and five years after her marriage she accepted several thousand dollars, with which she bought a farm near North Conway, N.H.

They settled there and discovered that the peer of the realm in which Murphy was to be organist was a Mr. Noel, a relative of her family. Her love for her husband and father never faltered, and she was a devout Catholic. In 1881 her father died, and she only survived a year longer. Her body was shipped to her brother, the present Earl of Gainsborough. After his wife's death Murphy sold the New Hampshire farm and lived recklessly on the proceeds until death called him.

He died on the 14th inst. at the age of 55.

TURNBULL'S COLUMN.

As the cold weather creeps on us we naturally begin to think of underwear and the kind to buy. We look first for an article that is comfortable, then durable and not liable to shrink very much in washing. We mention more particularly to-day Ladies' underwear. It is gratifying to be able to state that our manufacturers have made marvellous strides lately towards the perfecting of these goods. We show to-day a full range of what is known as Boltonian underwear. They are made of fine natural cape wool and are in wide and narrow rib like boys' hosiery. One of the chief points in their favor is that they are being sold by us at the same price as ordinary common stuff.

Our range of men's and boys' underwear is also very large. We know we have the best and cheapest in the country, having examined carefully the products of all the leading mills before making selections, as we want our customers to feel that when they come to trade with us they do not need to look around to see if they can find anything better or cheaper. Our Millinery, Mantles, Dress Making and Tailoring Departments are now in full operation.

All the new Materials and Trimmings are to be seen. We have an immense stock of Mantles of all descriptions, both Ladies' and Children's.

We show some very pretty shades in Beaver Cloths in light and dark, fawns, greens, grenat, browns.

WILL AUCTION IT OFF.

BIRCHALL'S LIFE HISTORY TO BE SOLD BY TENDER.

IN WILL Consist of 100 Pages of Manuscript and the Proceeds Are to go to His Wife—An English Hangman's Widow.

WOODROCK, Oct. 15.—Birchall expects to have the sketch of his life which he has been completing within a week, as he wants to see it in print before he dies. The manuscript will contain about 100 pages of footnotes. The first part, which is already written, contains an account of some of the more interesting incidents of his early life, his youthful escapades, narrow escapes, etc., but when his account of the last year or so of his life and the incidents connected with it will be it is impossible to say. He is at present in negotiation with a number of publishers who are willing to put the sketch in print and pay him for it, including The People's Store, 31 C.E., Governor-General of Canada.

Whatever sum he receives for the sketch Birchall intends handing over to his wife. The manuscript will likely go to the highest bidder.

Sherriff Perry has received an application from a death artist in England. The communication is in the "York Mail and Westerner," London, Eng. The writer says that he has achieved a world-wide fame in his business and is prepared to do a "nest" job either with guillotine, electricity or the gallows.

By way perhaps of testimonial he adds that he is about to go to France "to treat a subject" according to the guillotine method, and he volunteers the information that the guillotine is to be used in the execution of the "treatment" is over, except some parts of his body, which owing to their abnormal development are to be retained by a medical school. The sketch of the "subject" are to be hurriedly sent to Turkey, as the man had some Turkish blood in his veins.

PETITION FOR BIRCHALL.
The Reasons Advanced for Executive Clemency.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Birchall has some sympathizers—how many will shortly be known—who believe in his case. They have prepared a petition to be presented to the Governor-General in behalf of the prisoner, which was sent out for signatures yesterday. The petition is signed by the Hon. J. C. Turnbull, George & Simcoe-sts., Peterborough, and the Hon. J. C. Turnbull, George & Simcoe-sts., Peterborough.

The petition of the undersigned, resident in the Province of Ontario, humbly sheweth: That the said Birchall, on the 10th day of September, 1890, sentenced to be hanged on the 15th day of November next for the murder of one Frederick Cornwallis.

That the evidence adduced against the said John Reginald Birchall, and upon which a verdict of guilty was found, was wholly circumstantial.

That the press of Ontario, and particularly of the Province of Ontario, had prior to the trial by their articles, comments and accounts, so far as the said Birchall was concerned, been most unkind and prejudicial to the public of Ontario against the said John Reginald Birchall, and it was impossible to obtain a jury to try the matter impartially and without bias.

That the petitioners believe the said John Reginald Birchall was not dealt with fairly by the public press, and that much that was alleged in the newspapers against the said John Reginald Birchall after his arrest, but of which no proof was given at the trial, must have had an influence upon the minds of the jury prejudicial to the prisoner.

Your petitioners, therefore, pray that You be pleased to order that the sentence of the Court be rescinded, and that the said John Reginald Birchall be set at liberty.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—The jury in the case of A. W. Walls, the dry-goods clerk who suicided on a street car, returned a verdict in accordance with the facts.

John Smith, the first white man born in Toronto, whose death occurred a few days ago, left an estate valued at $200,000.

Conviction of a Common Thief.
SCARBOROUGH, Oct. 15.—If the old-fashioned ducking stool were still in vogue for the punishment of common thieves, Charles Walters, who has just been convicted here of that offense, would be immersed in the presence of a host of witnesses who testified that her tongue was a terror. But the ducking stool is obsolete in Peterborough and there is a stilling in order which the common thief is punished. He was sent to jail for three days.

A few weeks ago a woman was charged in Toronto with the same offense, but the grand jury threw out the bill.

O'BRIEN AND DILLON.

STORY OF THEIR ESCAPE AS TOLD BY O'BRIEN.

Amusement Tattered by the Turb—All sorts of Creditors Inflated Upon the Captives—The Portuguese Cabinet and the British Occupation of the Zambezi River.

DUBLIN, Oct. 15.—The United Ireland prints an account of the escape of Maura Dillon and O'Brien, written by O'Brien himself. O'Brien says: "We moved from Dublin Wednesday night at midnight, two miles off. Not an enemy was in sight. Next day found us 30 miles away toward the coast. Friday and Saturday we had a dead calm. On Sunday morning we could not stop the pain. The wind again fell. A Trinity House cutter passed quite close to us and the crew of the Royal Adelaide of Falmouth actually exchanged greetings with our sailors. A Dublin steamer also passed us, and a heavy fog buried us from sight Sunday night, four steamers blowing fog horns around us during the night. We cleared the Lizard in the morning and sailed across for the French coast to enter British shipping. 1/2 were hounded again on Monday, and we were obliged to beat up the channel. A British gunboat on Monday night in which the yacht, backed by a heavy gun, was passing Germany after midnight we were apparently pursued by a revenue cutter, which, however, was unable to weather the gale and abandoned the chase. In the morning we were running fast before the wind for Cherbourg, where we landed at 11 o'clock. We had reached our last night's supply of fresh water. All the arrangements were perfectly, thanks to the prominent Dublin citizens who supported the cause, and we had unparalled good luck. Mrs. O'Brien left Dublin this evening to join her husband.

Tortured by the Turb.
VIRGINIA, Oct. 15.—A dispatch from Constantinople states that arrests of Armenians are still being made, and many of them have been taken into custody have been shockingly maltreated and tortured. Among other cruelties to which the prisoners have been subjected is the withholding of food of all food. They have also been deprived of sleep. Persons suspected of disloyalty are arrested upon information lodged against them by any spy. The Armenian recently arrested for attempting to escape from the prison in the Koon Kapou quarter of Constantinople was today found dead in his cell. It is alleged his death was the direct result of torture inflicted upon him. The official at Van, Armenia, are still arming the Turb, and outrages upon the Armenians are of frequent occurrence.

The New Portuguese Prime Minister Outlines His Policy.
LONDON, Oct. 15.—In the Cortes today in the presence of all the ministers, Senhor Balsemão, the new Prime Minister, read a statement of his proposed policy. He said he was unable to recommend the sanction of the convention with England, but did not desire to prevent the execution of the clause already in operation. The Government identified itself with the national sentiment on this question and would willingly accept modifications which, while preserving the dignity and interests of the nation, would facilitate restoration of harmony with our old ally, but he feared it would be harder than ever to arrive at an equitable agreement, which, though always sincerely desired, the nation's credit has been attacked by private interests, but not shaken. The Government would devote itself to economical measures in order to reduce the national expenditure. The President of the Cortes, however, said that the Government should give the Government the support it needed on these two important subjects.

This Strike a Failure.
BREMEN, Oct. 15.—There is plenty of ammunition labor to be had here and the strike is collapsing. Many members of the unions are applying to be reinstated in their old positions.

A Clergyman's Unusual Affliction.
ST. JOHN, Oct. 15.—Some two years ago Rev. J. Emery, a Methodist clergyman, was transferred from the Newfoundland Conference to the Province of Ontario, and was stationed in Albert County. A year ago his wife died. Recently diphtheria broke out in his household, his five children and servant girl all being stricken. Finally Mr. Emery was himself attacked with the disease, and was on the verge of death last evening. The orphan children are still down but may recover.

Hope for the Russian.
ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 15.—The Russian Government will shortly introduce a reformed judicial system in Siberia and the Russian provinces in Central Asia.

Thought to Escape Foreign Service.
LONDON, Oct. 15.—The detachment of the East Surrey Regiment, recently ordered from Germany to India, which at the last moment obeyed the order, sailed from Portsmouth for India today. The embarkation was marked by no disorder. The men stated, the object of the long foreign service and virtually misadventure, thinking they would be punished in England.

Extraordinary Conduct of the British Stock Market.
LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Standard, commenting on the fluctuations, says it has not been equalled since the Crimean war, and the argument that the market is uncoupled is possible but shallow. Councils are weak for the same reason that common stocks are weak, because they are now among syndicate operations. Mr. Goucher has dislodged them from the investment banks and created a new class of investors, the masses of stock that are thrown upon the world have never found a home. The high rate of interest obtainable elsewhere have compelled temporary holders to sell.

A Contested Cemetery.
REAR, Oct. 15.—The British newspaper publishes an imperial order creating a colonial cemetery, when duty it shall be to give advice on all colonial affairs. The Prince of Holstein-Langenburg will be president of the council.

Drowned in the Accident at Prague.
PRAGUE, Oct. 15.—The city was visited by another calamity this morning, when the wall of the Karl bridge, which was partly destroyed during the last great flood, and which the market is uncoupled is possible but shallow. Councils are weak for the same reason that common stocks are weak, because they are now among syndicate operations. Mr. Goucher has dislodged them from the investment banks and created a new class of investors, the masses of stock that are thrown upon the world have never found a home. The high rate of interest obtainable elsewhere have compelled temporary holders to sell.

Another Ocean Race.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The steamer City of New York and Tarentine sailed from here today on another ocean race to Europe. Their time of passing the lighthouse was New York 7 1/2 a.m. Tarentine 7 34 a.m.

FOOLED HER HUSBY.

A Mid-air Performer's Pretty Wife Tried to Ship With His Friends.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Achille Philion, the daring mid-air performer, was nearly outwitted by his wife here Saturday, but he has got more than even with her. His wife was treasurer of the Spiral Tower Combination. She was married about four years ago. Her stage name was Almes Harvett. She is about 31 years old. Towards the end of the London engagement, which terminated last Saturday, there was a quarrel between Philion and his wife. Just what the reason was has not been ascertained. On Saturday Mrs. Philion fell in the passenger of the boat where the pair were stopping. Her husband was with her at the time. She was carried upstairs complaining that her ankle was sprained. Philion rubbed liniment on the ankle and did everything he could to stop the pain. Finally he went away to attend to his business. Then Mrs. Philion jumped nimbly out of bed, went down to the hotel office, paid the company's bill, wrote her husband a note including $50, packed up personal belongings and fled. She had $200 in her possession that morning, and when she got away it was reduced to about $25. She went to St. Thomas and caught the Michigan Central train, which arrives in Buffalo at 8 p.m. When Philion learned of his wife's flight he promptly applied to the police. Manager Griffin was sent to different points. Officer Griffin of Fort Erie copied Mrs. Philion on the Michigan Central train at 7 1/2 last Saturday evening. She had a ticket for New York. Officer Griffin promptly arrested her, and she promptly went into hysterics. Officer Hydon of the London detective force was at once despatched to Fort Erie to take charge of the prisoner. Philion followed, arriving at Fort Erie yesterday. There were tears, explanations and a complete reconciliation. The husband withdrew the charge at once.

WAS THIS A MURDER?
Mysterious Death of Jack McNeill's.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Jack McNeill, the champion light-weight pugilist of America, was arrested in Brooklyn this morning on suspicion of having caused the death of Katie Hart, the well-known singer, in the Westside Hotel at Fifteenth-street and Sixth-avenue yesterday afternoon. It had been known for some time past in the theatrical profession that McNeill was engaged to marry Katie Hart. She was a young woman of remarkable physical beauty, about 10 years old, and apparently deeply in love with the boxer. She was playing here in "The Natural Gas Co." McNeill entered the Westside Hotel about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, accompanied by the young woman, and called for a room. Towards 5 o'clock McNeill rushed down the stairs of the hotel and told the clerk that his wife had just died and begged him to send for a physician. When the latter arrived he found the young woman lying dead on the bed. When the police saw the body a light wound on the neck and a swelling of the upper lip were noticed. The cause of death as given by the physician in attendance was heart failure. An inquest will be held.

The autopsy since held showed that the actress died from heart disease. The body was removed to her mother's home, and McNeill will be released.

J. C. Rykert's Case.
ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 15.—At the Police Court yesterday the charge of breach of trust and perjury preferred against Mr. J. C. Rykert, late of St. Catharines, was dismissed and partially investigated. The case was dismissed a short time ago by Magistrate Foster in the absence of documentary evidence. The history of the case is briefly as follows: During the progress of a trial in the Supreme Court of New York City, Andrews v. Tompkins, the defendant's veracity was questioned, and he then swore to an affidavit which stated that Mr. Rykert had been his solicitor but he had been dismissed for infidelity. Mr. Rykert took affidavit that he had never acted in the capacity of solicitor for Mr. Tompkins. Mr. Tompkins lost his suit, as he claims, through the affidavits of Mr. Rykert and others reflecting on his character, and is thus trying to get even with the defendant. Mr. Rykert stoutly maintains that it was Mr. Tompkins and not Mr. Tompkins who was his client and that all the legal bills were settled by her. The evidence was long and protracted, several hours and involving a number of nice technicalities.

The Christian Scientist Acquitted.
TORONTO, Oct. 15.—At the Police Court yesterday the grand jury in the case of Isabella MacMillan Stewart returned "no bill." She was charged with manslaughter in procuring the Christian Scientist method of treatment on the late John Kent. No bill was returned in the case of Thomas Tait, superintendent of the C.P.R., on the charge of manslaughter in connection with the Brock-avenue fatality.

The Mimico Tragedy.
TORONTO, Oct. 15.—The time of the Amos Court today was taken up with the trial of John Byron, charged with manslaughter. It will be remembered that in March the deceased, the prisoner and a party of laboring men and mechanics were taken to the Toronto Mimico on a late train one Saturday night, when the prisoner, who was very much under the influence of liquor, quarrelled with the deceased and used filthy language to him. Afterwards on the platform at Mimico the prisoner offered an apology, but deceased refused to accept it. While the parties were walking along the track home deceased struck Byron and Byron struck back, after which it was discovered that Wade had received a wound, from which he died. The jury disagreed on a previous trial. To-day they acquitted the prisoner, evidently believing that Byron used the knife in self-defence.

Claims Invalidly Made Him a Thief.
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 15.—The trial of John Hurlman, son of millionaire Ed. Spellman of Peoria, is going on in the court. He is accused of robbing a gun store here. Inspector Fleming of the postoffice department is here and wants Spellman for robbing a mail pouch. Sheriff Hatter of Peoria also wants him for safe-blowing, and the authorities of Terre Haute are ready to put him through for robbing a ticket office. He does not deny the acts but claims emotional or impulsive insanity.

Another Suspected Murderer.
KINGSTON, Oct. 15.—Some new facts have come to light concerning the death of Charles Rogers at Bath last week. The body has been exhumed and a post-mortem examination will be held. From rumors about about the village it is thought that there was some violence in connection with the death. An inquest will also be held.

"THE ARMY'S MOTHER."

FUNERAL OF MRS. GENERAL BOOTH IN LONDON.

The Death of Her Husband and Entrance Army Mysms—Honoured Fellow Citizens of the Crowd—The Ambulance Taken Charge of the Wounded.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The final ceremonies to-day attending the interment of Mrs. Gen. Booth, widow of the Salvation Army's founder, were as rosy and vulgar as yesterday's obsequies in the Olympia were impressive, in spite of their grotesque surroundings.

A count by the doormen shows that 24,000 people found seats in the Olympia last night, while 4000 more were admitted to stand standing room as best they could. This is four times the number that Westminster Abbey will hold, and three times as many as can be placed within hearing of St. Paul's Cathedral.

The long procession which followed the coffin was made up of men and women of the working class. The singing in the streets was enormous. Time and again the crowd outside the Army's headquarters made a determined rush, but the police gallantly held their own. The police were reinforced, with fog from the streets above all rounded the crash of Salvation Army bands. Banners were but dimly discerned. As the head of the column emerged through the fog and approached the headquarters of the Army, a tremendous cheer was raised. Then ensued a fearful crush, in which it was long doubtful whether the police would be able to keep control over the crowd which heaved in the rough manner possible. The victory was decided in their favor by the arrival of a small body of mounted police. All efforts to keep clear a space in front of the hearse were, however, futile. In the struggle which followed this attempt of the police to keep a pathway clear several persons were injured, and the ambulance was called into requisition.

For nearly an hour Salvation Army of men, men and women in the well-known dress, filed past their headquarters, headed by their district bands, playing selections from Salvation hymnology. A hymn was sung, and then the coffin, covered with a red pall, on which rested the deceased woman's bonnet badge, was borne on the shoulders of the chief officers to the hearse. Reverently deposited there, the place was left "hats off" from the crowd. This request was at once complied with amid respectful silence. Then a loud cheer greeted the General and his household, as they took their place along the chief mourners' carriage.

Gen. Booth looked well and handsome, but stood up and acknowledged the salutes of the onlookers. He was followed by the female members of the family, who were all respectfully greeted, but the appearance of a fair-haired individual clad in the flowing robes and turban of an Arab sheik testifying a relative borne was too much for a London crowd, and the people (Oriental was made the recipient of considerable shaft. At the spectacle of an utterly impossible Salvation Highlander all members of gravity was thrown to the winds, and roars of laughter collected and the people (Oriental was made the recipient of considerable shaft. At the spectacle of an utterly impossible Salvation Highlander all members of gravity was thrown to the winds, and roars of laughter collected and the people (Oriental was made the recipient of considerable shaft.

More hands, more Salvationists, and then a strong body of police brought up the rear of this remarkable funeral pageant.

At the cemetery the fog was so dense that only a few people gathered around the grave could see or hear the ceremony. Gen. Booth continued to make a few farewell remarks without breaking down. The body was lowered into the grave and the hearse, together with the funeral service was over.

ONTARIO TRAGEDY RECALLED.

Similar Case in France With a Sensational End—Robert Kestler.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 15.—The city is horrified today by a domestic tragedy, induced by one of the most revolting acts imaginable. A policeman named Pourquereux was shot yesterday by his own daughter, aged 18. In order to spare her mother's feelings the girl had kept her trouble secret and tried in every way to avoid going into her father's presence. At 10 o'clock Pourquereux returned his attempt. A terrible struggle ensued, and the girl managed to reach a loaded revolver which was hanging with some other weapons on the wall of the room. She then turned and fired it point-blank at her father, who fell dead on the spot. The hearse having passed through his temple. Later on the girl went to the police station and gave a full account of the affair. As soon as the news leaked out the people gathered round with rage and horror, and strategy had to be resorted to by the authorities in order to convey the body to the morgue without its being attacked.

Three or four years ago a wealthy miller of Ayrton, Ont., named George Goodfellow, was accused by his 16-year-old daughter of the same horrible crime. Goodfellow, who was one of the most prominent citizens of the town, was arrested and held in custody until his own death. His wife, who was a widow, was left with a young child and a large estate. The case was a sensation in the town.

A Remarkable Case Reported From New Montreal.

Finally young Lafleur, who had been teased for a long time, was provoked to take revenge. He went to the house of the farm hand and shot him dead. The case was a sensation

Cash in the Police Court.

The irrepressible "Jimmy" Cash was awakened out of a sound sleep which he was enjoying on the hard cot in the police cells and taken before the Magistrate this morning on a charge of drunkenness.

"Is that Mr. Cash?" inquired the Magistrate as Jimmy went into the box.

"It is the same, Mr. Dumbell," said Jimmy, and he immediately began in an unbroken string of words to beg for liberty, and the Magistrate took him at his word and Jimmy left with a "God bless you all."

Although no young man can become a member of the order without undergoing a three months probation, all who desire to attend the meeting and see something of what the brotherhood is, are made welcome.

A COMPLETE SUCCESS.

THE EXHIBITION OF THE EAST RISING AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

The first in the history of the Society—a Very Large Number of Entries and a Large Attendance—The Prize Winners.

The agricultural exhibition held at Norwood by the East Peterborough Agricultural Society has for some years been steadily growing and this year it took a bound forward. It was favored with good weather; in fact it has been very fortunate in this regard for many years, and although this year it was held late in the season the weather on the second and important day could scarcely have been better. It was clear, fine and mild, and the sun beamed upon the successful show. The exhibition has been growing in favor with exhibitors and the general public, and while the entries itself has grown—the number of entries increased, until this year it reached 3,900 the attendance has become larger. The exhibitors were principally from the West Riding, but Seymour and Percy in Northumberland were also represented.

THREE DEPARTMENTS.

On Tuesday the exhibits of the inside department were brought on the grounds, placed in order and judged. The building was well filled, was, in fact, almost too well filled, for the exhibits were closely arranged in order to find room for them.

The Horticulture and Northwest exhibit of grain and grasses in charge of Mr. R. F. Matthews, occupied a prominent place and was neatly arranged with a view to being easily seen and appreciated.

The ladies' departments were well filled. The display of ladies' work was attractive and comprehensive, and the exhibit of domestic manufactures was also quite large.

The fruit exhibit included a large show of apples, of many kinds and of good quality, and also fine grapes, crab apples and pears. In some classes of apples the competition was close.

There was a very fine, though not large, display of plants, and a very good show of butter, canned fruit, bread, honey, etc.

The fine art display included pictures of all sketches and penmanship.

GRASS, ROOTS AND VEGETABLES.

In the display of roots and vegetables this exhibition excelled. There was a large quantity of the different classes and the size and quality of the exhibits, especially considering the numbers, was remarkable.

The competition for the prizes was very keen and the judges had no difficulty in making the awards.

Of course there was also a large exhibit and the samples were of very fine quality.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

Mr. C. N. Harrison showed an ingenious attachment, a coil spring, for use on a common cart, for the purpose of saving labor.

Mr. John S. Patterson had on exhibition a collection of Indian clubs, all neatly made and some of them very novel. Some of the most novel work was turned out by a machine made by Mr. Patterson.

Mr. F. Tyler, of Hastings, displayed several sets of harness, with and without ornamental trimmings and well made.

Mr. T. Howard, of Hastings, also made a good display of harness, double and single, of good workmanship and finish.

Mr. J. Henderson, of Norwood, had on exhibition two large organs, and during the day their musical qualities were displayed.

THE SECOND DAY.

Yesterday all the departments of the exhibition were open and the fair was in full swing. From an early hour the grounds presented a lively scene and from nine o'clock until well into the afternoon the gate keepers were busy owing to the stream of people passing in. There were between 3,000 and 3,500 persons on the ground during the day. The Norwood band was in attendance and furnished good music during the afternoon.

LIVE STOCK.

There was a good show of live stock on the grounds, and although the building was constantly occupied by spectators the four classes of horses, and from nine o'clock until well into the afternoon the gate keepers were busy owing to the stream of people passing in. There were between 3,000 and 3,500 persons on the ground during the day. The Norwood band was in attendance and furnished good music during the afternoon.

There was also a fine show of cattle, including Durham, Ayrshire, Holstein, a few fine Jersey and Guernsey.

Of sheep there was a good show. Leicester, Oxfordshire, Southdowns, Shropshire and Oxfordshire Down were represented by a large number of fine animals.

There was also quite a large show of swine, Berkshire, Yorkshire, and other large and small breeds.

Of poultry there was a good exhibit and a large variety of fowl was shown.

MANUFACTURES AND CANNERS.

The manufacturers were well represented on the grounds and a variety of implements shown.

Mr. W. O. Harrison had on the grounds four pumps of his manufacture, force and lift—a good and popular make of pumps, and also pump legs.

Mr. Peter Hamilton, of Peterborough, had on exhibition a collection of implements from his manufactory in charge of Mr. A. Nichols. It included the light steel binder, Daisy seeder, I. X. L., combination, stock or head. The new coupling is very convenient and effective. His New Improved Cone Pump is a product of Mr. Owens' long experience and is a superior one.

Mr. John Thompson, of Norwood, showed the Frost & Wood binder, Eagle seeder, cultivator, and sulky harrow, chains, chumpon plough, hay fork and power iron grider, and also a fine collection of vehicles, including a wagon, a number of buggies, carriages, cutters and road carts.

Mr. W. Plant, of Norwood, showed the Norwood mow, a root cutter, straw cutter, four ploughs, the Butterly harrow, a land roller, a turnip seeder and Copp Bros' gang plough.

Mr. John Herring, of Norwood, had on view two Armstrong road carts.

Mr. O. C. McDonald, of Peterborough, showed several Chasman fanning mills.

SOCIAL AND PRESENTATION.

A Pleasant Evening—Mr. F. Saunders the the Receptant of Two Presents.

The social given at the residence of Mrs. Northern Ode in Ashburham last evening was a most pleasant gathering and was marked by an interesting evening.

Mr. F. Saunders, who left this morning for Toronto, where he will take a special course of study prior to leaving for foreign missionary work. The social was held in aid of St. Luke's church and was well attended. There was no formality of programme or proceedings but during the evening those present were delighted with musical selections by Misses E. Hall, J. Barker, C. Cameron, Tivy and Jackson.

The presentations were made to Mr. Saunders on behalf of the choir and the Sunday school. In the former the departing young man has been a valued member, while in the latter he has been a member and has been an active worker and will be greatly missed. Col. G. G. Rogers, superintendent of the Sunday school, made the presentation for the school. In a few complimentary remarks he referred to Mr. Saunders' active labors in the school and expressed the regret that was felt at his departure, at the same time wishing him God-speed and that he would continue to be a blessing to his church with a very elegant presentation on his behalf of the school.

The choir had placed their sentiments in writing and Mr. F. Saunders read the address. Mr. Geo. Ode made the presentation, which was a handsome dressing case. The address read as follows:

To Mr. Fred. G. Saunders:—We, the members of the choir of St. Luke's church, Ashburham, cannot allow you to leave us without an expression of our regret at your departure and of our good wishes for the future.

You have been so long a member of the choir and also of our young men's service so cheerfully and faithfully in the interest of the church and Sunday school, that we shall deeply miss you and feel that our church will experience a great loss in your departure.

While, however, we regret your going, we cannot attempt to dissuade you from the course you have determined on. You are chosen to do a noble and useful work in this world. There can be no higher aim than to endeavor to advance the spiritual welfare of our fellow-men—to strive "to open their eyes, to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God," and we will hope and pray that a great blessing may accompany the work you have undertaken.

We feel you will accept this slight token of our esteem and regard for you. Signed on behalf of the choir.

Asburyham, Oct. 15, 1890.

It was all a complete surprise to Mr. Saunders and he about rendered speechless. However, in a few words he returned his thanks for the kind remembrance by the choir and Sunday school and choir, and promised to always cherish them as a memento of his work in St. Luke's.

TURNBULL'S COLUMN.

As the cold weather creeps on us we naturally begin to think of underwear and the kind to buy. We look first for an article that is comfortable, then durable and not liable to shrink very much in washing. We mention more particularly to-day Ladies' underwear. It is gratifying to be able to state that our manufacturers have made marvellous strides lately towards the perfecting of these goods. We show to-day a full range of what is known as Boltonian underwear. They are made of fine natural cape wool and are in wide and narrow ribs like boys' hosiery. One of the chief points in their favor is that they are being sold by us at the same price as ordinary common stuff.

Our range of men's and boys' underwear is also very large. We know we have the best and cheapest in the country, having examined carefully the products of all the leading mills before making selections, as we want our customers to feel that when they come to trade with us they do not need to look around to see if they can find anything better or cheaper. Our Millinery, Mantles, Dress Making and Tailoring Departments are now in full operation.

All the new Materials and Trimmings are to be seen. We have an immense stock of Mantles of all descriptions, both Ladies' and Children's.

We show some very pretty shades in Beaver Cloths in light and dark, fawns, greens, grenat, browns.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—Dillon and Brown are expected to embark for the United States Oct. 20. They will remain in America four months and will then return to Ireland and surround themselves. Dillon expects to raise $100,000 in America, and expects a year's imprisonment when he returns. Regarding the probability of his flight, Dillon said to-day: "I made special enquiry in regard to the question of keeping good faith and was satisfied we no more under obligation to keep within bounds than a prisoner is to remain in prison." He thought the British Government would not ask for their extradition.

EN ROUTE FOR THE TURNIP FIELD.

Eleven Partisans Had Their Lives in a Single Day.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The city is horrified at what seems to be a suicide epidemic. For some time past as many as twelve to eighteen suicides have been reported daily. On Sunday the total was eleven. In the Rue Berthe women, suffering from a nervous affection, overtook a quantity of tincture of iodine. A diamond merchant named Cohen, in the Rue-Montorgueil, blew out his brains for some reason which has not yet transpired. Another man of about sixty committed suicide on the Rue St. Martin in a similar manner. In the Rue des Halles a man hanged himself. He left behind him a paper on which the following words were written: "No more, no more, no more, anything two days. Enough of this. No more for the turnip field." A woman also committed suicide in the Rue de la Harpe, and her daughter, a girl of 18, by means of a razor. Two young women were found drowned in the Seine. In the Rue des Pyrenees a woman committed suicide with her husband.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Voting on Money Bill—Remorse Above Hon. Oliver Mowat.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—The bylaws to expend $24,000 and $14,000 in general improvement of the city were passed.

The old saying that had new travel had been strikingly exemplified yesterday, when a rumor spread rapidly around town that Hon. Oliver Mowat had been stricken with paralysis. The rumor was not confined to the city alone, for several gentlemen who arrived on the train last night enquired anxiously at the hotels if the alleged news was true, one gentleman saying that he had heard it as far east as Belleville.

The rumor turned out to have no foundation in fact, as the Premier was reported last night to be in his usual health.

DEPARTURE OF A PROSPECTIVE BRIDE.
groom on the Eve of His Wedding.

ALBION, Mich., Oct. 16.—Dr. C. H. Johnson of New Jersey, who has been here for two weeks and was to marry Miss Cora Ben, an estimable young lady of this place yesterday evening, was suddenly disappeared. He returned as usual Tuesday night. Nothing more has been seen of him. Miss Benham is greatly shocked over the matter, as wedding cards were out and all arrangements made for a big wedding.

Robbed the House of His Dead.
DUNDAS, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Mary Agnes O'Riverney dropped dead Tuesday. The following night some soundless made his way into the cellar belonging and stole four jars of fruit.

Great Increase of Juvenile Crime.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—The boy thief is multiplying at an alarming rate. Heard, every day several cases of juvenile delinquency, ranging from burglary to mere thieving from stalls and back yards, engaged the attention of the Police Magistrate. From Aug. 1 to Oct. 15 there were 121 boys between the ages of 7 and 15 before His Worship, and all except two or three were convicted. The number of prisoners between the ages of 11 and 16 was fully as large. Whipping is advocated by many people as a deterrent for the boy who is guilty of thieving. Many of the boys, young in years, are old offenders.

Lives Lost by Explosion.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 16.—At Moorehead's McCann & Co.'s blast furnace at Soho a day while coke was being drawn from the oven the hot dust blew out, enveloping eight men. Edward and John Hughes were burned almost beyond recognition. Six others were badly burned.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 16.—An explosion occurred in the Steel Works to-day. The roof was torn from the mill, the building ignited and a score of men more or less seriously injured, three critically. The firemen quickly subdued the flames.

ALL NET WATERY GRAVES

THE FATAL CRUISE OF A TURKISH MAN-OF-WAR.

Tales of the Survivors—Hundreds of Borneo Men Drowned Within Sight of Land—Graphic Description of the Wreck.

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 16.—The waters of Japan have recently been the scene of a most singular disaster. Not the loss of the Ruby, nor of the Atlanta, nor even the recent disaster at Bataan, has resulted in so many deaths as has the wrecking of the Turkish man-of-war Ertugrul in the typhoon of September 15, and, firing a parting salute or twenty-one guns in honor of the Japanese flag, shaped her course for the south. On Sept. 16, telegrams were received from Kobe announcing that the Ertugrul had been wrecked off Okinawa light, which marks the north side of the entrance to Kii channel, and that of the 600 persons on board only 10 had been rescued.

The Ertugrul was a wooden frigate and was built by the Turkish Government at Constantinople in 1880.

She carried a long battery of broadside guns and four 75-inch breechloading rifles. She was full of passengers and was supplied with auxiliary steam power, her horse power being about 1,000.

The lesson of this disaster, like that taught at Bataan, would seem to be that a little steam power, like a little learning, is a dangerous thing.

It seems that the Ertugrul was steaming along the coast, probably with the intention of visiting Okinawa light. Suddenly the steam pipe burst, doubling the already weak engines. The vessel was rendered helpless.

The full nature of the accident will probably never be known, as the destruction was so complete that those who were in possession of the facts are not able to give a reliable account. According to one account the ship was so close to shore that she struck a rock, and, either by the working of the ship or owing to her inertia the boilers were carried away from their foundations and fell into the sea, shattering the already weak engines, and rendering the vessel helpless.

Though the survivors can explain them, the cause of the disaster is not yet known. The ship was gathered to give a faint idea of the horrors of the scene. The captain of the ship, Ali Bey, appeared on the bridge and gave orders to lower the boats, but as soon as they reached the water they were swamped or carried away by the heavy sea which was running. Those of the crew who were not killed outright by the explosion crowded up the ladders to the upper decks, where a scene of wild confusion reigned. Many of them were crushed by fright or bodily injury, and the completeness of the wreck and the apparent inability to discover any chance of rescue turned the heads of the sailors and brave Turks.

The scene must have been a perfect pandemonium. For Ali Bey, finding that there was no means of escape for the crew, gave the order to "muzzle your own guns." The ship was fired at several times, and the explosion was so great that the ship was broken in two. The survivors were now being carried for the Japanese Government and will receive every kindness and attention until arrangements can be perfected for their return to their homes.

Shortly before the Ertugrul sailed from Yokohama cholera broke out on board and about 40 deaths were the result. The ship was taken to the quarantine station, where, in spite of all disinfectants, new cases came out each day. It was just after leaving the quarantine station and while en route for Kobe that the fatal accident occurred.

Fourteen Years.

New York, Oct. 16.—Old Dr. McConagel who murdered Philip Andri (Giovanni), was sentenced yesterday by Judge Fitzgerald, in the Court of General Sessions, to State Prison for 14 years. McConagel is now more than 70 years old and a pretty vigorous old man. It is possible that he may be alive and strong enough to walk out of prison in April, 1901, if he shall have been perfect in his behavior up to that time.

Judge Fitzgerald said: "McConagel, I do not know of any case where circumstantial evidence proved the case of the prosecution more clearly. It appears from the facts that you are a heartless, cruel old man. I have been put in possession of facts about your career that show that you have more than likely committed other crimes. The only thing that entitles you to clemency is your age. Under the statute I might sentence you to 30 to 40 years in State Prison. You are over 70 years old. The sentence of this court is that you be confined in State Prison at hard labor for 14 years."

Lucky Premier's Sister.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—Yesterday was Premier's birthday. To celebrate the occasion the most favored members of the Patria National purchased a pair of horses at a cost of $1200 and a carriage at a cost of $1500, which last night they presented to Mr. Mevrie at a meeting in the government offices. The funds were raised by subscription, most of them being of $100 and the balance $50. The presentation was made by His Worship Mayor Grenier.

Transferring the Remains.

BELLINGHAM, Oct. 16.—The coffin containing the remains of Emperor Frederick, Prince Waldemar and Prince Sigismund were removed to-day from the Friends Church at Potsdam and deposited in the new mausoleum erected there.

FROM CANAAN'S HAPPY LAND

To a Gloomy Cell in an Ottawa Police Station.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16.—Thomas McCormick, a farmer's son, aged 20, hailing from Canaan, Russell County, came here to-day expecting to meet an American from whom he fondly imagined he would receive a big sum of counterfeit money for a small consideration. He met instead Inspector Dan O'Leary of the Dominion police and is now in custody.

Government Detectives have been a list of 300 Canadians who have responded to the carefully-worded circulars with which the New York crooks are flooding the country. This information reached him from Anthony Comstock, postoffice inspector in New York. The victims included several prominent business men. Young McCormick lit at the bait like a many others. The letter he wrote the New York crooks was intercepted by Mr. Comstock. It reads as follows:

My Dear Friend: I greatly regret having to send for the medium, as I would have rather been a personal interview, but I find that I am unable to raise enough to meet your face to face, so I am sending you all I can raise. I thought when I telegraphed for instructions that I would be able to raise $500, but I have only been able to raise $100. I hope you will excuse this one error, for, however small, I would have raised a large amount if I could. You will find enclosed five $10's, twenty $5's and twenty $2's. I would like to have them sent to me, but I will follow the instructions you sent me, or will I telegraph for more instructions. Trusting you will send me without delay, I remain in honor and gratitude.

Thomas McCormick.
Canaan, P. Q., Russell County, Ontario, Canada.

Chief Sherwood through wrote McCormick a type-written letter dated and mailed from New York, and arranged to meet McCormick at the Windsor Hotel, Ottawa. The guileless youth met the inspector in room 72 to-day and was taken into custody.

YEE QUON IN DEATH ROBES.

Yee Quon, Chinese, who died of consumption at the Homeopathic Hospital, lies in state at the public morgue.

Yee's remains make anything but a pleasant picture as they lie on the morgue slab. His long, attenuated body has an uncanny appearance, and his face, which has been in the morgue since he died, is a study in death.

The funeral director told the remains yesterday. A short white shirt of fine cambric was first put on. Then Quon's feet were encased in white cambric hose, on which fantastic figures in blue silk were worked. His dark red trousers, with grotesque images representing the satellites of Joo, god of the Chinese, which meant an indirect appeal for mercy on poor Quon's soul, was put on the dead Chinese. His blue male trousers, on the ends of which were small tinging bells, followed next. The pantaloons were held in place with a girde of dark green cloth and gold bangles, and on this Quon was again imported to save Quon from haid, or the place where wicked Chinese go. Yee's shoes were diminutive bits of flowered cloth, leather, wood and metal. Then and his great coat of blue broadcloth, fringed by lotions of gold, were placed in position.

Quon then needed nothing but his cap to complete his burial suit. The cap was put on his head, and gave a funny appearance. He looked about as if to say: "Cheer up, or no way out." The cap was a polo, the inside red lined and the outside black silk, ornamented by a band of pink beads. One side was decorated with Chinese figures the final appeal to Joo for Quon's salvation. Translated into English, it read: "Wicked in life, but repentant. Great Joo, mercy for Yee Quon." The white lining the dead man's face will tell his hopes for Quon's future happiness.

Two More Detroit Girls Assailed by the Knight of the Shroud.

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—Two more girls have been assaulted by the knight of the shroud who is making a collection of maiden treasures. Miss Libbie Merrill, the 17-year-old daughter of Henry Merrill, who lives at No. 125 Abbott-street, is the seventh victim. The girl had beautiful auburn tresses, reaching below her waist, and the ruthless stealer of locks clipped off about half their length. Miss Orta Wendel, a young woman who resides with her parents at No. 23 Napoleon-street, was walking along Market-street Monday evening when she was assaulted by a young man, who attempted to cut her hair, but she made such a determined resistance that he was foiled. She picked a stout hairpin from her braids and used it with such telling effect on his face that he was glad to get away.

Miss Louise Steinbrecher, a typewriter in a downtown office, who is the possessor of a beautiful head of hair, has been approached on two occasions by a young man, who she thinks, carries her tresses, and several letters have been written to young ladies with abundant tresses signed "Jack," threatening to cut their hair, but they are mostly regarded as fakes.

THE EGG TRADE.

A British Dealer Says the Market There is Unsettled.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—Some time before the McKinley bill came into force the editor of the True Witness, being intimate with the dealer in dairy produce in London, communicated with that gentleman, and to-day the following important letter has been received:—

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TRUE WITNESS:

My dear Sir:—In reply to your favor of September 28, permit me, in thanking you, to enclose a paragraph respecting the egg trade here in London. I have been associated with the trade for the last 25 years, both here and in connection with our French house in Laigle, France. I am constantly handling goods (eggs) from France, Italy, Germany, Hungary, Russia, etc.

Time occupied in transit of goods from Russia is at least ten days, and as you would reach us in less than that time there is no doubt of their being in good condition if sent fresh and properly packed.

From samples of 185 cases Canadian eggs which I placed in our market here the universal testimony of the buyers places them on an equality with the finest of our home products, and if goods of this character can reach us properly packed and uniform in quality in regular and weekly consignments, there is practically an unlimited field for them, and a brilliant future before the industry, as they will always command top prices. Hence they can be formed of the capacity of this country for absorbing the products of other nations by the expedient of re-exporting to imports of eggs, butter and margarine. In fact we could absorb all your Canadian egg produce with the greatest of ease, so that your people need not be alarmed about the effect of the McKinley tariff. The principal things to be avoided are bad straw, loose and careless packing and handling in transit. The few best suited for packing in straw and hush, thoroughly dry and by no means use barley straw.

(Signed)

J. G. CORNAR.

The following is the extract referred to:

Twenty-one millions of pounds sterling was paid by England last year to continental countries for dairy produce alone. The butter and margarine imported weighed over three million hundredweight and the cheese nearly two millions. These immense quantities will probably continue to be imported until inland freight charges become reduced. At present it is dangerous to send packages from London to Belgium than from many parts of Yorkshire. —London Daily News.

YOUNG'S POINT PENCILS.

The Masters Going North—Burying Navigation—A Canoe Sinks.

Correspondence of the Review.

DEAR READER.—Several reports from here and at a distance are away to the back townships hunting the deer, which are getting very scarce. It would be more in the right direction if the Government would prohibit deer hunting for at least three years, also partridge as well. Bye and bye there will not be any left to kill.

OUR BACK LAKES.—Mr. R. B. Rogers, the Superintendent of the T. V. M. works, is having traps laid down on the dangerous rocks in Clear and Bony lakes, which will be of great service to the numerous anglers, who are fishing on these waters and well spent public money.

CARON RIDGES.—For the convenience of motorists there has been erected at the back of the saw mill here, under the direction of Mr. John Dinwoodie, a canoe slide, saving a long portage. It will remain to be seen. These interested can govern themselves accordingly.

THE ROAD.—The members of Legislative Assembly in the East and West Ridings are now fulfilling their election pledges, viz., of having money spent upon our travelled roads in the townships of Bourne, Smith and Harvey. The way Government money is spent now-days is very little short of bribery for catching votes. The municipalities should attend to their own road work, especially old townships like the above. The Government roads to our back townships should be better looked after than they have been.

OUR POST OFFICE.—Your correspondent had a communication from Mr. Griffin, the Inspector at Kingston, on a daily mail service by the Lakeshore mail from Lakefield on the opposite days of the week from our tri-weekly from Peterborough to our Post Office is so very small that he doubts whether the Postmaster-General would approve of the expense. I may here state that the revenue of this office would be much larger if the present postage would only stop a supply of stamps on hand of all kinds for sale to the public, and a good many more have to purchase our stamps at Peterborough and Lakefield.

Canada, Our Home.

Montreal Star.

If we look abroad at the condition of our country, their standing armies, their costly fleets, their conscriptions, their burdens of taxation, their groundswater of discontent, the revolutionary propaganda, their political smut, their social dislocation, with here and there a "Red Terror" or a "Black Horror," how infinitely more happy does our country appear in comparison. If we look across the line and examine the status of our neighbors, which they have to contend, we will find much cause for congratulation, and additional reasons for celebrating Canadian anniversaries.

WHY GRANT WAS GREAT.

Due Recognition When True Merit is Over-

Established.

Was Grant a great general?—conceded. What made him so?

When U. S. Grant was hauling cord-wood into St. Louis his neighbors did not imagine he would become the most famous man of his generation. When he was managing the little tannery in Galena no one of his intimates recognized in him a future hero. But he displayed qualities which should have satisfied them he was no common man. What was there about him?

If you start to build a single story shanty you pay little attention to the foundation; you may lay stringers in the sand, with little fear the building will fall. But if you propose erecting a ten-story block, your architect will tell you you must go to the rock for the basis of your foundation, or the stately structure is liable to tumble about your ears.

The foundation of a great man is moral force—character; this is the rock foundation. The shillless man lacks it; he over-estimates. Grant never used an oath—a sure indication of moral character. He never told, or listened to, if he could help it, a vulgar story; this showed peculiar moral fibre, an unusual strength of character. He was a man of opinions—as his wife said, was obstinate; in other words, he had will power, force.

These qualities, with good judgment, well balanced mental powers, and peculiar executive ability, supplemented by a military education, fitted him for the emergency, when it came. As soon as his merits became known, success was assured. This is always the case with things as well as men. "I well know the value of Warren's 'Safe Cure,'" writes Mr. Carr, of the Hotel Bennett, Birmingham, N.Y. "In 1864 I had difficulty with my kidneys. The doctors did not help me; I was badly out of vigor. One day a travelling man from Union advised me to try Warren's Safe Cure. The first bottle did so much good that when my family doctor called I threw his medicine out of the window, while he was present. I continued to use Warren's Safe Cure until I was entirely well."

The test of merit is the accomplishment of the matter in hand. The test is that which is most certain.

Personal Liberty.

Physical Slavery.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty, but most of us are as physical slaves, suffering from scurvy, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which dissolves the poisons of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.

THE REALM OF FASHION.

FAD. FANCIES AND FASHIONS FOR FEMALE FOLK—THIS WEEK.

Some New Importations.—The Distinctive New Bonnet.—Fashionable Method of Mounting Skirts.—Shirts for These Who Are not Bonnet.—The Latest Things.

Out.

A certain French noblewoman advised her son in this wise: "Put on your gown and then forget it." And, indeed, a more difficult task could not be assigned to one, especially if any lady is governed in any of the costly fashions at her command just now. If a woman is conscious that her apparel is the perfection of taste she at once becomes more gracious and at ease, and Voltaire's maxim is to the truth when he said that "dress changes the manner."

Something akin to the luxury of the Orient is observed in the newest display of dressmakers for evening gowns. Crapes de chine and chiffon of the finest texture and most exquisite colors vie with the exquisitely embroidered nets, just received. These elaborate and costly gowns, however, have a border along one edge, above which single sprays are scattered over the surface, and are frequently accented with cabochons, or imitation pearls, rubies, brilliants, turquoise, sapphires, emeralds, amethysts and the like.

The net will then be draped over folds of the color most prominent in the embroidery. One design, a lily flower, is wrought with old-rose silk, while the petals of the flower are of cascade; another combines butterfly and waving plumes in shades of mauve, and again pink damask roses with buds and foliage have a brilliant resting on a single rose petal, like a drop of shimmering dew.

A lovely ball gown for a young lady is made of white tulle and embroidered crape de chine. In front is a full bodice of crape draped in festoons on the edge and caught up with a single pink rose with foliage.

Above the bodice the bodice is loosely draped, the folds being also kept in place by roses. On each side of the bodice is a narrow band covered with two rows of deepening white feather tips, and the plain full back is of white tulle. The low bodice of crape is finished off around the neck with a border of feather tips, which extends to the shoulders, and around the waist in a soft-folded sash, with three roses taking the place of the long buckle in front. The combination of white feathers, with pink roses, is very charming.

A wonderful becoming little bonnet has folded down of salmon pink velvet, daintily drawn together so that they form a kind of bow in front, held in place by a jet buckle and surrounded by dainty wings of black lace. These wings are stiffened by the quills of black feathers and stand up both in front and at the back very prettily. A border of black velvet features in a knot beneath the chin.

A striking novel shape, and one which promises to become very popular in Paris, is a hat with a crown of light grey velvet, the front and made in a myrtle-green velvet, with a broad edge of black astrakhan fur. At the back is a cluster of black ostrich tips, below which are two cups of black velvet, covering the hair and closely covered with bright steel beads. Narrow strings of velvet caught up the sides and forming a hat.

The fashionable method of mounting the back fascias of skirts in the fan-painted style, is chiefly adapted for heavy fabrics in silk or wool, such as cloth, broad, shirtings or poplin. The front and side of the skirt are in flat plain or pleated, quite round to the centre back, where the fulcrum is secured by a button. Velvet revers are an ornamental addition, and an improvement to a figure which is not slender. These revers should meet at the waist, where they are narrow, and widen to the foot of the skirt. Prince's waists are arranged in two ways, either in flat plains underneath, or in fitted garters which are attached to the hanging back.

In patterns the variety is endless. There are plain round patterns, mounted on pressed yokes, the newest being placed at the back and drawn in at the waist, the fronts terminating in long narrow ends, which are loosely knotted at the waist.

These little variations are also made with Medici colors, combined with long redolent revers that extend nearly to the edge of the garment, while others again have long narrow ends falling in narrow C-shaped folds from the throat. A lovely imported material is a mantle of café au lait cloth, a shade between a cream and fawn, with straight, square-cut ends in front, edged with the new jeweled pelerines, which give the effect of sumptuousness in gold. The back terminates in a square band, and the sleeves consist of three spaces, one above the other. If such a thing can be, robes d'interieur which, by the way, must not be confounded with robes de chambre, are growing more elaborate than ever. The fabrics are more varied and the cut is more costly.

Any one, if not given to wearing them elaborate gowns, will appreciate the ease and comfort of a mantle or robe de chambre.

The last 20 years have seen an extensive elaboration as one may desire, and if a simpler design is preferred, a graceful one is made of mauve bengaline, trimmed with white silk, and a robe d'interieur which, by the way, must not be confounded with robes de chambre, are growing more elaborate than ever. The fabrics are more varied and the cut is more costly.

THE REALM OF FASHION.

FAD. FANCIES AND FASHIONS FOR FEMALE FOLK—THIS WEEK.

Out.

A certain French noblewoman advised her son in this wise: "Put on your gown and then forget it." And, indeed, a more difficult task could not be assigned to one, especially if any lady is governed in any of the costly fashions at her command just now. If a woman is conscious that her apparel is the perfection of taste she at once becomes more gracious and at ease, and Voltaire's maxim is to the truth when he said that "dress changes the manner."

Something akin to the luxury of the Orient is observed in the newest display of dressmakers for evening gowns. Crapes de chine and chiffon of the finest texture and most exquisite colors vie with the exquisitely embroidered nets, just received. These elaborate and costly gowns, however, have a border along one edge, above which single sprays are scattered over the surface, and are frequently accented with cabochons, or imitation pearls, rubies, brilliants, turquoise, sapphires, emeralds, amethysts and the like.

The net will then be draped over folds of the color most prominent in the embroidery. One design, a lily flower, is wrought with old-rose silk, while the petals of the flower are of cascade; another combines butterfly and waving plumes in shades of mauve, and again pink damask roses with buds and foliage have a brilliant resting on a single rose petal, like a drop of shimmering dew.

A lovely ball gown for a young lady is made of white tulle and embroidered crape de chine. In front is a full bodice of crape draped in festoons on the edge and caught up with a single pink rose with foliage.

Above the bodice the bodice is loosely draped, the folds being also kept in place by roses. On each side of the bodice is a narrow band covered with two rows of deepening white feather tips, and the plain full back is of white tulle. The low bodice of crape is finished off around the neck with a border of feather tips, which extends to the shoulders, and around the waist in a soft-folded sash, with three roses taking the place of the long buckle in front. The combination of white feathers, with pink roses, is very charming.

A wonderful becoming little bonnet has folded down of salmon pink velvet, daintily drawn together so that they form a kind of bow in front, held in place by a jet buckle and surrounded by dainty wings of black lace. These wings are stiffened by the quills of black feathers and stand up both in front and at the back very prettily. A border of black velvet features in a knot beneath the chin.

A striking novel shape, and one which promises to become very popular in Paris, is a hat with a crown of light grey velvet, the front and made in a myrtle-green velvet, with a broad edge of black astrakhan fur. At the back is a cluster of black ostrich tips, below which are two cups of black velvet, covering the hair and closely covered with bright steel beads. Narrow strings of velvet caught up the sides and forming a hat.

The fashionable method of mounting the back fascias of skirts in the fan-painted style, is chiefly adapted for heavy fabrics in silk or wool, such as cloth, broad, shirtings or poplin. The front and side of the skirt are in flat plain or pleated, quite round to the centre back, where the fulcrum is secured by a button. Velvet revers are an ornamental addition, and an improvement to a figure which is not slender. These revers should meet at the waist, where they are narrow, and widen to the foot of the skirt. Prince's waists are arranged in two ways, either in flat plains underneath, or in fitted garters which are attached to the hanging back.

In patterns the variety is endless. There are plain round patterns, mounted on pressed yokes, the newest being placed at the back and drawn in at the waist, the fronts terminating in long narrow ends, which are loosely knotted at the waist.

These little variations are also made with Medici colors, combined with long redolent revers that extend nearly to the edge of the garment, while others again have long narrow ends falling in narrow C-shaped folds from the throat. A lovely imported material is a mantle of café au lait cloth, a shade between a cream and fawn, with straight, square-cut ends in front, edged with the new jeweled pelerines, which give the effect of sumptuousness in gold. The back terminates in a square band, and the sleeves consist of three spaces, one above the other. If such a thing can be, robes d'interieur which, by the way, must not be confounded with robes de chambre, are growing more elaborate than ever. The fabrics are more varied and the cut is more costly.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1890.
THE CITY AND SUBURBS.

Mr. Charles F. Cameron, of Coburn, has made an important discovery of silver and nickel on lot 23 in the 2nd concession of the township of Chatham, Peterborough county, says the Belleville Intelligencer. The vein of silver is 50 ft. wide and is now being worked. It has yielded as high as $44 to the ton. The vein in which the nickel is located is 100 feet wide and it is also being worked with good results.

Accident to Capt. Reynolds.
His friends will be sorry to learn that Capt. Reynolds, of the steamer Cruiser, met with an unfortunate accident on Saturday. The captain was up the lake with a hunting party and was attempting to draw a cartridge from his Winchester when another cartridge which was in the repeater exploded. The powder was blown into the captain's face and his eyes were severely injured. However, he is doing well and the doctor does not anticipate any serious or permanent injury to his eyesight.

oddities Conspicuous.
At the regular meeting of the Coburn Lodge, No. 18, I. O. O. F., last evening, a committee was appointed to draft a resolution of congratulation to Bro. C. S. Campbell, of London, who has been elected to the office of Deputy Grand Wre, the second highest position in Oddfellows in the world. This is indeed a distinguished and honorable position for a Canadian to attain, and the Canadian brethren are duly pleased with the honor accorded them in the merited election of Bro. Campbell in the Sovereign Grand Lodge. A congratulatory resolution was also passed to be forwarded to Bro. H. A. V. Alford, of Oshawa Lodge, who is now in New York, extending the local brethren's well wishes upon his recent marriage.

Personal.
Mr. W. A. Dixon, of Toronto, was in town today.

Mr. O. C. Rowe, has returned from his European trip, which was enjoyed in an immense degree.

Mr. C. B. Routley has returned from New York, where he made large purchases and will soon receive a large consignment of the prettiest and best class of fancy goods and novelties.

The Ottawa Journal of yesterday says:—“Mr. James Menzies, who has been connected with the Ottawa Daily Free Press for the last six years as foreman of the newsroom, leaves this evening for Peterborough, from whence he goes to Detroit, Mich., where he intends residing in the future. During his stay in the capital he has made hosts of friends, particularly so with the Oddfellows, with which fraternity he was held in very high esteem. He was an active member of the three branches of the triple Alliance, viz: Ontario Oddfellows, No. 8, Ontario Encampment, No. 88, and Carleton Lodge, No. 28. Mr. Menzies' many friends will wish him success in his new home.”

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN.

REMARKABLE EXPANSION OF THE
WM. HAMILTON WORKS.

An Industry With a Small Engineering has grown to Great Dimensions—The Hamilton Works—The Growth of the Business—An Office to be Opened in British Columbia—The Addition Made Since the First—Additions to the Plant.

From time to time the press has noticed additions which have been made to the works of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, but the magnitude to which these works have expanded is perhaps realized by few of the residents of the town. Increased demand for the company's manufactures has been the cause of this expansion and has resulted in the buildings being added to piece by piece, until today the works of the company cover a large area and are of the most improved character, both as regards buildings and machinery. The recent fire which destroyed the old foundry and pattern shop room necessitated extensive building operations, and these are now about reaching a stage of completion. The buildings destroyed by the devouring element have been replaced by substantial and improved additions, which will not only enhance the appearance of the works as a whole, but will greatly increase the accommodation and convenience.

A REMARKABLE EXPANSION.
A visit to the works will give the observer an idea of the extent to which this valuable industry of the town has grown. The main building, the labyrinth of machinery, to look at the mass of belts and shafting which furnish the power, and to see the many pieces of metal in the different stages of manufacture throughout the shop, is the only way to gain a proper idea of the great growth which has taken place during the past few years. One of the members of the company, when talking to a Review reporter, pointed out the building to which the works were confined when he came here about twenty-three years ago. The building then occupied could easily be dropped inside the new foundry or moulding shop which has recently been completed on the east side of Reid-st. But the greatest strides forward have been made during the last eight years. To give the reader an idea of the works it might be stated that the buildings have a front of 200 feet on Reid-st. by 125 feet deep. The machine shop alone is 100 feet by 70 and 20 feet by 34. Above the machine shop is the pattern department, where thirteen men are now constantly employed making patterns for the castings in the foundry. Then across the road on the east side of Reid-st. stands the new foundry, a magnificent building for its purpose, 125 feet by 70. There besides the large department.

There is a blacksmith shop 40 by 40 feet, containing one steam hammer and five fires, a boiler shop, engine house, offices, storehouse, coal sheds, etc., all going to make up a hive of industry and manufacture of which the town may well be proud and have within its limits and the magnitude of which is a standing monument of the energy, enterprise and ability which has built up and developed the great from the small. The works will now be lighted throughout by electricity during the dark hours of the winter mornings and evenings and when the rush of orders make necessary over-time work. It will be seen, therefore, that the manufacture has grown to large proportions, giving employment to 125 men, and all the latest and most approved improvements have been introduced.

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN.
The company does business. Down in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, where the shores are washed by the Atlantic, are mills which have been fitted with machinery from the shops of the company in Peterborough, while away west where the peaceful Pacific laves the shores of British Columbia the company has shipped thousands of dollars worth of their machinery. Last year alone the trade in British Columbia amounted to about eighty thousand dollars, and this year that will likely increase. In anticipation of this the company is opening an office in Vancouver, where their business can be done by practical men. Of the future of the works the most promising pictures might be painted, for an increase in milling operations in the forests of the west will cause an increased demand for machinery. Not only this, but the company are considering the question of entering into the manufacturing of mining machinery, for which the extensive mining operations now anticipated in different parts will give a good demand. The unequalled quality of the work turned out by the company and the improved patterns of machinery and engine manufactures have made the name of the works renowned throughout the whole Dominion and will carry them to a still higher plane of success and prosperity.

AMONG THE CHANGES THIS FIRM.
Of the present changes something may be said. As stated the fire of this summer made the erection of new additions necessary. Perhaps the most striking addition to the approaching observer will be the immense brick chimney which towers above the surrounding structures. This smoke stack rises upwards 95 feet, measures 8 feet 4 inches at the base and 6 feet at the top. This, as well as other brickwork, was done by Mr. F. J. McKinnon and is a most satisfactory piece of masonry. This gigantic pile of brick and mortar rises from the new boiler and engine house which has been erected. The boiler room proper contains two large boilers, one a brand new one manufactured in the Company's own boiler shop, while the other is the one that has been used before. In the engine room stands what may be called the pride of the works, the finest engine in the Dominion to-day, which also was made in the company's shops and set in motion for the first time in May last. It is a handsome and large piece of machinery, known as the Harris Corless engine and has a capacity of 40 horse power. Then in the same room is the electric dynamo, sending electricity and light to forty lamps throughout the works. A new Leonard Hall engine of 20 horse power will furnish the power for the electric dynamo. Next to the more extensive additions. From the ruins of the old foundry has risen a large, commodious shop which will be devoted to the work of an art department.

ERECTED UP AS AN ADDITION.
The new addition to the shop. This addition measures 55 by 70 feet, has a lofty roof, is well lighted and has a cedar block floor laid in sand. In this addition two new pieces of machinery will be added to the plant. One of these, a planer, 74 inches by 16 feet, is now in place, while the other, a new drill of large dimensions, is in the process of manufacture in the Company's machine shop. This drill is 8 by 7 feet, is made from patterns brought from the other side and is not offered by the trade. Next to this addition to the machine shop is the pattern store room, which was destroyed by fire but is now rebuilt and fitted up in the best of style. Across the road stands the new foundry which has been used since the fire. This building is 125 feet and is lighted from the sides by windows extending its entire length, while a glass skylight throws the light of day from the roof. The interior requires no description, except that it contains a fifteen horse power engine which supplies power for the cranes which are used to lift and move the heavy castings. The cupola in the shop is capable of melting five tons of iron in an hour, and has 1000 alongside of it for another of like capacity when necessary and growth of trade demands it. All these additions have been built of brick. Mr. A. Sutherland had the contract for the work and has done his part well.

An unusual silence has reigned throughout the works during the past few days, as no machinery had to be shut down while the changes were being made in the boiler and engine house. To-morrow, it is expected, steam will be turned on and the buzz of hundreds of wheels and the whirr of belts will furnish music for the ears of the workmen as they fashion the iron for the heavy mill machinery or the powerful engine.

The healthy growth and prosperity of the past may be continued in the future will be the wish of every citizen.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

Mary Power's Case—A Man—Fined For Being in a Room—

Mary Power, the pleasant looking young girl who was arrested for and pleaded guilty on Friday last to stealing a far cape from a valise at the Grand Trunk station, was brought down from the goal this morning to receive the sentence of the court. When asked the usual questions by the girl looked the picture of cleanliness and neatness. “Well, Mary,” remarked the Chief, “how are you enjoying your new home?” “Very good,” replied the girl with a pleasant smile. “I might as well enjoy it as not.” She will have an opportunity of enjoying her new home as the Magistrate passed the light sentence of one month in goal at hard labor upon her. In passing sentence he said that she had been charged with larceny and had shown her good judgment in confessing her guilt. He had enquired into her history and as far as he could learn she had been a respectable girl who had been a victim of a bad man. He was inclined to make her sentence a light one, but said he could not ignore the offence. He would, however, make the period of imprisonment short in the hope that some kind friends would look after her when released from goal. He received that parental care which a young girl should have. He was inclined to make her sentence a light one, but said he could not ignore the offence. He would, however, make the period of imprisonment short in the hope that some kind friends would look after her when released from goal.

In the case of Cochrane vs. Van Norman and Cochrane vs. Houston, in which the two defendants were charged with having been in the bar of the U. P. R. hotel during the riotous and disorderly conduct of which the town may well be proud and have within its limits and the magnitude of which is a standing monument of the energy, enterprise and ability which has built up and developed the great from the small. The works will now be lighted throughout by electricity during the dark hours of the winter mornings and evenings and when the rush of orders make necessary over-time work. It will be seen, therefore, that the manufacture has grown to large proportions, giving employment to 125 men, and all the latest and most approved improvements have been introduced.

A Vocalist Married.
The San Francisco papers of September 22nd announced the marriage at that place of Mr. John T. Gray, of San Francisco, to Miss Alice Walz, of Toronto. The bride is the talented vocalist who has many times delighted Peterborough audiences and her friends here will extend their warmest good wishes.

Dead in Quebec.
The remains of the late Wm. Emerson, who died at Sherbrooke, Que., on Sunday, will arrive here this evening. The deceased was an old Peterborough boy and was a brother of Messrs. John and Thos. T. Emerson of town. The funeral takes place from the mother's residence on Division-st. to-morrow afternoon.

Revelries.
—There will be a social (litter) meeting of the whole Town Council to-night regarding matters in connection with the Edison works.

—Mr. J. J. Turner, the test and awning man, shipped three sails yesterday to Plover. They were for the schooner F. F. Cole.

Relative Numbers of the Sexes.
Speaking of census matters, there are many curious results to be obtained from study of the census figures. For example, says the Milwaukee Sentinel, while we all recognize the apparent fact that the number of men and the number of women are about equal in the country as a whole, the census returns show that at the most active period of more productive period of life, they are more nearly equal than at any other time. There are more males born than females, but at the age of twenty years there are more females than males. During the years from nineteen to twenty-three the numbers are almost exactly equal between the two sexes. From twenty-three to thirty-five there is an increasing preponderance of men, but between forty and fifty the women are in the majority again. From seventy years and over there is a large majority of women.

The total number of native white males in 1880 was 14,000,385 and of females 13,354,024. This slight preponderance of males is due mainly to the excess of males over females in the early years. At the age of ten years there were 27,000 more girls than boys among the native whites, at fifteen years less than 1,000 more boys than girls, and at twenty years there were 41,000 more girls than boys. Probably the greater liability of boys to accident and their more frequent exposure to contagious diseases may account for their failure to remain in the majority. But from twenty to nearly forty the majority of women to diseases peculiar to their sex during the child-bearing period is the probable cause of the majority which the men show. From forty years upward the proportion of women increases, for then the vicissitudes and displacements of male life begin to bring in their train.

It is wonderful how nearly equal the two sexes are in number, taking all ages and the country at large. Out of 40,000,000 natives born, white and black, there are less than 400,000 more males than females. Considering the artificial conditions of life which would seem to interfere with any scheme of nature to maintain an equal number of the two sexes, it is almost astounding that this equal relation is practically held when the entire number and entire country are considered.

What Men Like in Women.
There is a certain something, which, for want of a better name, is called womanliness, and it is that which makes woman attractive to men. A great many virtues go to make up this great possession, and they are what men like in women.

Men like, in the first place, amiability in a woman.
They like a pleasant appearance.
They like the doing of little things that are pleasant to them.
They like the courtesy of the friends.
They like women whose lives and faces are always full of the sunshine of a contented and cheerful disposition.
They like an ability to talk well, and a knowledge of the virtues of silence.
They like a motherliness big enough to understand the wants of the older, as well as the younger, boys.
They like the ability to speak good, rather than evil, of every human being.
They like sympathy, which means a willing ear for the tale of sorrow or gladness.

They like knowledge of how to dress well, and by the way, do not wear conceited clothes. Men are most attracted by good material, plain draperies and quiet colors; not by showy colors or designs.
They like intelligence, but they prefer that the heart should be stronger than the brain.

They like a companion—a woman who has sufficient knowledge of the world and its ways to talk well with them, who is interested in their lives and their plans and in their hopes; who knows how to give a cheering word, or to listen quietly, and by a tender love express the grief which the heart is feeling.

They sometimes say that children are a bore and a nuisance, but a man shrinks from a woman who openly declares her dislike of them. A man expects the maternal instinct in a woman and is disappointed if he does not find it.

They like a woman to be affectionate. There never was a man yet, no matter how stern, no matter how cold, no matter how repulsive as far as his own feelings were concerned, who did not like a loving sweetness of the hand or a tender kiss from the woman nearest to him.

These are some of the things that, according to a writer in the Ladies' Home Journal, men like in women.

At Midnight's Holy Hour—Maiden Lady.
“You! Gracious me! What in the world are you doing there! Man under the bed!” “Oh you please ma'am I am the man you got the governor to pardon out of the pen 'tween day, and I just thought I would come around and thank you, ma'am.”—Terre Haute News.

New Father-in-Law: “Well, sir, the more money I over, and now that you are the husband of my daughter, I want to give you a little advice. What would you do if you should wake up some night and find burglars in the house?” “I would tell them that my father-in-law forgot to give my wife a wedding dowry, and they'd go away.”—New York World.

“You ask my daughter's hand in marriage, mused the old man as he looked the candidate over. “Are you sure you love her?” “I know I do.” “And you can support her on your salary?” “I can.” “You know Ellen has expensive tastes.” “You bet I do!” She's costing me as high as $6 for ice-cream, soda, and caramels, but that leaves $4 for rent and provisions, and I am sure she can pull through.”—Detroit Free Press.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

BY ANNA KATHLEEN GIBNEY.

"Yet there have been instances," she ventured.

"Yes," he concurred, "there have been instances."

"A short while ago," she went on,

"I do not know who to play the most,"

she murmured at last; "the man who has lost so much by a woman or the woman who has caused so much loss to her."

"I think her pain must be the heavier,"

he shook his head.

"A woman who could commit a diabolical act would not be apt to be hysterical."

"I do not know," she said, "there are some who are not hysterical at the time, yet which may lead to shame. There is woman to commit such, and were it that woman's fate to be married."

"One must play her husband," he interposed.

"No," she said, "I have seen a man looked up, and his gaze and drew her self back to her old home once more."

"The softly whispered."

"Let us put it as it is, then. May that it had done as yet that if I knew would brand me for infamy, would you have to night that it would give way under the revelation, or would it hold firm, and though changed, remain in control?"

"I have never seen a man who would active a woman."

"I am not sure that I do not," she said, "but I think that I do not."

"What are the new facts?" she inquired.

"You told me at my last interview that when you went downstairs to be married,

you had found a woman in the room."

"Was she well at that time and in good physical condition? It is an important fact for me to know."

"Whatever Gervase had expected she had not expected this. It required a readjustment of her ideas, and it took a

"You do not wish to answer?" she asked.

"I was wondering what your question

I am not sure that I do not."

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1890.

BY ANNA KATHERINE GREEN.

"You know this girl?"

Genevieve at once assumed her most distasteful air.

"What is she doing here?" she inquired.

"I don't know," came in a confused manner from the woman's own lips. "This gentleman came to me, and he said you would be glad to see me. I know, ma'am, you did not like me. I didn't want to tell anything to anybody. But what I see, I see,

and the gentleman said he would tell you and then I tell him everything."

"What is she talking about?" cried

Genevieve, dropping her air of wonder and assuming that of cold enquiry. "Let her speak plain as she has anything to say."

The detective looked at the woman.

"Tell your story," he commanded, with a quick gesture.

Whereupon the woman glanced round her a little sheepishly.

"I am sure I didn't think what it would come all to," she began, lifting her eyes for a moment to Genevieve's face and instantly dropping them. "It's wrong I know, but I was always looking in through keyholes and listening. Most of all I wanted to find out about the girl you let so often come to your room when you let nobody else come.

I used to stay longer in the room than you wanted me to, just to see if she would take off her veil. And when you caught me that time looking over your shoulder, I was only trying to find out if you were writing to that girl. She was a dressmaker, and ladies like me don't put up with dressmakers' girls, keeping them in their room

all alone for hours. I only want to say how

I came back after you sent me away, ma'am,

just to see if you were married all right, and if that girl was let come into your room at the hall, as she was all along."

"All of which means," the detective here interposed, "that she was in the house on the evening and at the time you were married."

"Ah," Genevieve's cold, curling lip seemed to say.

"She did come, ma'am, that you know, and when I saw her go, I got so mad I sat down on the back stairs and cried. Then

I got awful mad—" (She was not looking at her old mistress or she might have found it difficult to proceed—" "and when I heard you all go down I just ran up to see if she was left to look over the hall, at the people

below, because I didn't see why you wouldn't let her do that when you have done so much for her before."

"You mean," said Genevieve in Mr. Gryce's cool voice, "that you thought it a good opportunity to steal a sight of her face?"

A red flush answered him. "I thought so, but I didn't see it for she wasn't in the

But when she saw the feelings these around her did not interfere with the doctor's sympathy with his visitor's request; and she was conducted across the room and shut up in the doctor's office with as much care and deliberation as if there was no danger in his soul and not a nerve of his proud nature had been disturbed.

The moment Dr. Cameron returned, a sudden change took place in Mrs. Cameron, and rising, she confronted Mr. Gryce with a frank and grateful air that lent quite a new aspect to her ever-changing countenance.

"You are very kind," she declared, in a grateful tone that was in itself a shock to both her hearers. "Knowing this truthful tale; seeing as you must have done that, if true, Mildred Farley did not die after I went downstairs, but before, you have come here in confidence and without scandal to tell me what I have to say about the matter, and give me an opportunity to explain myself. I shall never forget this consideration. And now for the truth. This girl died, and you consider such a mystery, committed suicide. She committed it in my presence just before I went down stairs to be married. It was a terrible shock to me, a great surprise to me. I had been dressing, and was thinking of saying things like that to her, and she had been so disappointed in me. She did not want to see me again, and the contrast between the hopes expressed by my bridal attire and the treatment of her own out-looked at me, I supposed; for in a moment

as it were, she seized upon that bottle of poison and turned it up to her lips, and died. She was dead, and she was dead. I had got over the terror which held me breathless and immovable at her side. I was in my bridal dress and veil, and I should have been in my room, and I should

A TERRIBLE SUICIDE.

A Woman in Campbell's Cafe her Throat Cut with a Razor.

A shocking case of suicide occurred at Campbell's cafe yesterday, when Mrs. Beaty, wife of Mr. James Beaty, took her own life by cutting her throat. When Mrs. Beaty, who is employed at Mr. J. J. Key's cabinet shop, went home at noon she did not see her wife, and on searching for her he found her lying on the floor in her room dead, with an awful gash in her throat. The terrible wound had been inflicted with an old razor. The unfortunate woman had from a little below the left ear right across and down nearly to the right collar bone, severing the windpipe and nearly all the arteries. She must have been seized or overcome by the mania of self-destruction as she was preparing dinner, as the dinner was on the stove cooking and the cloth was laid on the table. The preparations she made to kill herself showed a strong determination and a coolness that could only be accounted for by a diseased state of the mind. After going to her room she had taken off her dress and laid it on the stand, and had undone her dress and under-waist a few buttons. She also took the week bowl off the stand and set it on a small trunk to catch the blood, and the blood had been from the fearful self-inflicted wound must have fallen into it until the bleeding woman was overcome with weakness, for the bowl was nearly full of blood. The floor and everything around where she fell was saturated with blood. She had not been long dead when the body was still warm. The razor with which she killed herself was found between the trunk and the wall, where it had evidently fallen.

The unfortunate woman, who was about 35 years of age, had been subject to fits of depression

for the last two or three years, but was able to attend to her household duties and was perfectly harmless. Of late there were indications that her mind was more affected and she had a hallucination that people were against her and were talking against her. Yet during the morning before she had committed the dreadful deed she had been in her room with her four children, the eldest being a little girl about eleven years of age and the youngest a babe about fourteen months old. She was a most respectable woman and was a member of the Presbyterian church, in which her husband, who is a steady and industrious man, is an active worker. An inquest was considered unnecessary, as it was apparent that she had committed suicide while temporarily insane.

FORESTERS AS ENTERTAINERS.

The "At Home" of Court Peterborough

Great Success—An Enjoyable Evening and Pleasant Program.

Music, song, social intercourse and the pleasure of many games held away in the hall of Forestry last evening, when the officers and members of Court Peterborough, No. 25, C.O.F., gave an "at home" to their friends. Notwithstanding the driving rain which was falling there was a very large turnout of ladies and gentlemen, and when the end was reached and the pleasant and happy gathering dispersed, but one opinion prevailed, and that was that the evening had been a most enjoyable one.

The handsome hall, with its adjacent rooms, furnished an excellent place for such a gathering, and the arrangements of those present were large, yet everyone had an opportunity to enjoy himself or herself as inclination might lead. There was a lack of formality, and a sense of freedom and sociability which tended to add greatly to the pleasure of the evening and can only be expressed by the name given the gathering, "At home." Games of all descriptions were furnished, so that the varied tastes of all were provided for. In the court room were tables, around which groups were merry at their games, while others were enjoying their quiet game of cards or some other indoor amusement in the ante-room. Bro. A. Carpenter, Chief Ranger, was chairman. If such a term may be used at an informal entertainment.

Shortly after eight o'clock the Chief Ranger gave them a start by welcoming them to the evening's entertainment. In doing so he referred briefly to the Order of Forestry, stating that since its organization the Order had paid out $200,000 in death claims, $10,000 of which had come to Peterborough, and $80,000 in sick benefits. In closing he said: "I will not go into the details of the Order but will ask you all to make yourselves at home and take part in the games provided, so that you may all be pleased with the evening's enjoyment."

Then the games were started and as the different groups were enjoying themselves a short programme was rendered. Miss Hagman gave an excellent instrumental solo, Miss L. Jewison, of Smith, sang a pleasing solo, Miss Clara Kingston recited the Muses Hamilton and Bro. A. D. Russell gave an amusing dialogue entitled "The Census Taker." Mr. Geo. Baker, contributed an instrumental solo, Mrs. Jones recited a gathering with a vocal solo, Mr. J. Nugent recited, Miss Tully and Miss Lizzie Dawson each sang a solo and the Muses Comstock rendered an instrumental duet.

Mr. J. B. Stratton, M.P.P., was called on and in a short speech expressed his pleasure at being present and spoke in eulogistic terms of the Order and its work. A ball in the games and programme took place for refreshments, which were served to the guests at the tables where they were playing.

Altogether the evening was a most enjoyable success and will undoubtedly result in good to Court Peterborough, not only in bringing the members closer together in friendship but in making friends among those outside the ranks of the Order. The happy gathering dispersed shortly after eleven o'clock with the National Anthem.

CITIZENSHIP AND TEMPERANCE.

Rev. J. W. Bell Lectures to a Small Audience in the George-St. Church.

A lecture was delivered in the Sunday school room of the George-St. church last evening by Rev. J. W. Bell, B.D., Chairman of the Mission Board of the Royal Templars, under the auspices of Peterborough Council of that order. The lecturer's subject was "Citizenship, Privileges and Duties," but owing to the small attendance, caused no doubt by the very unfavorable weather, he did not dwell with his subject as he otherwise might have done, and gave some time to dealing with temperance as a religious work. Mr. Bell is a man of good presence and is a fluent and forcible speaker, with the faculty of telling a story well, of leading up to a point clearly and of clinching it with apt illustrations. He was assisted by Rev. J. H. Locke, pastor of the church, and Rev. D. S. Mowck, of Bridgewater, occupied places on the platform. The meeting opened with singing, and prayer by Rev. Mr. Mowck.

The CHAIRMAN, in opening, explained the reasons under which the lecturer was here. Peterborough Council of Royal Templars, he said, was organized on Oct. 1st, 1888. The Society's members were pledged to total abstinence and they were banded together for work of reformation. They had asked branches for children and for adults, and had been successful. They also took part in the White Cross movement, upon which he dwelt. This was at least, part of the work they tried to do, but they also had sick and funeral benefits and insurance, in which the members could participate if they desired. He belonged to three or four fraternal societies, and thought the Royal Templars was the best and had the best system. Their object in having lectures delivered was to awaken and educate public opinion in favor of total abstinence and prohibition.

THE LECTURER.

Rev. Mr. Bell was then introduced and delivered his lecture on the subject of Citizenship and Temperance. He said that it was a Christian temperance society and had rescued many drunkards who were now active church workers. Temperance was as much a League of other organizations the church and adopted. There was work to be done that the church as an organization could not take hold of and which the temperance societies could carry out, such as enforcing the law and political action. The church should reach principles that would lead its members to take up temperance work.

There was need of temperance in the home and in the street. The defeat of the Moot Act in Halifax to show that it was necessary to keep up the societies even when legal means were resorted to to suppress the liquor traffic.

PATRIOTISM AND CITIZENSHIP.

When he was a boy, as you read at times, the lecture said nothing made him angry quicker than to meet one of those who existed at that time, who believed that everything in the United States was good and everything in Canada was inferior. He was born with the idea that Canada was the best country under the sun. He had travelled almost all over the world, and he still held to that opinion. He admired a strong patriotic sentiment and he had no sympathy with that idea that one's loyalty to one's country should be measured by the dollars one could make. People with that sentiment would make dollars and money and then they would say they were patriotic. He said that he was a Canadian and everyone who had been in our great Northwest could say nothing else. He dwelt in an interesting manner on the immense size and capabilities of the great

West. But it required more than vastness to make a great country. It was "the mind that made the country great, and it was the mind that made the country great.

The necessity of inculcating these and developing these was the duty of every citizen of a country. When on trial for his life a man once put in the plea that he was "a citizen of Texas, no man city, and again the plea that he was a Roman citizen prevailed, and it saved his life. Great Britain spent $2,000,000 and had an army marching for eight months to rescue six citizens of that country held captive in Abyssinia. To be a citizen of a country entitled a man to protection of his rights, and while it was his privilege to protect his rights, it was his duty to give protection to his neighbor when needed.

The doctrine of prohibition grew naturally

STABBED AT WESTWOOD.

A Nervous Man Cut with a Knife—Wounds

Landed for the Perpetrator of the Deed.

Special to the Review.

NORWOOD, Oct. 24.—Last night Samuel

McDonald, son of James McDonald, drove to Westwood to get some repairs made to his implements. While he was waiting for the work to be finished, Robert Wilson came to the shop and called to him to come out, and asked McDonald if he was as good a man as he was on the day of the Norwood fair. McDonald came out and heated and angry words culminated in blows. Wilson, who seemed to be getting the best of the scuffle, drew a knife and succeeded in stabbing young McDonald in the side.

Fortunately the wound is not immediately dangerous. Information was at once laid before Squire Brockbridge, charging Wilson with the offence and a warrant was issued for his arrest, but he had cleared out and up to hour of sending dispatch had not been apprehended. Instructions have been forwarded to the police in the district to watch all trains and if possible secure his capture. Examination shows that Mc-Donald has been seriously cut and that his ultimate recovery will be uncertain.

THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE.

On Monday last a paragraph was published in the Review regarding trouble which had arisen between Robert Wilson and James McDonald over the attentions of the former to the latter's daughter. At the time the nervous man McDonald's father had forbidden her going with Wilson and threatened punishment, but she disregarded his commands and threats and either from fear or some other cause, she did not go home. Where she did go is not yet known. Wilson on his return home from the fair, as it is said, was met by Mr. McDonald and his son and several beaten. On Saturday last he was in town with a bad pair of black eyes, consulting with County Magistrate Edmondson about law proceedings, but did not take any legal steps.

The feeling has apparently been working towards a climax until the time of the affray described in the despatch.

in which Mr. E. Duff, whose departure from the church had been announced, was

Purify Your Blood

The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted from generation to generation, coming out in various forms, such as pimples, eruptions, and sores. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine that cures the blood, drives out the poisons, and restores the system to its normal state. It is a blood purifier, and its effects are seen in the complexion, the hair, and the general health. OUR RECENT VISIT.

Upon our visit, when Mr. Richard Cartwright was talking inquisitively about the financial position of Canada, he was reminded that while in England he had spoken in an entirely different strain. The reply of the English knight was that he had shown the English people "the other side of the shield." In his address at Norwich on unrestricted reciprocity Mr. Richard only exposed to view one side of the shield, and a highly colored side at that. He failed to give a full or frank explanation of the policy to which he asks the Canadian people to commit themselves. The people are told that the Liberal party desire free trade with the United States, but the Republic is not the only country with which Canada does business. Trade in Europe, Africa, India, South America, China and Japan, Switzerland and other countries, with all of which our trade has been greater. What would our trade relations with that country be under the system Mr. Richard proposes? There are France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Holland, Belgium, the West Indies, South America, China and Japan, Switzerland and other countries, with all of which our trade has been greater. What would our trade relations with that country be under the system Mr. Richard proposes? There are France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Holland, Belgium, the West Indies, South America, China and Japan, Switzerland and other countries, with all of which our trade has been greater. What would our trade relations with that country be under the system Mr. Richard proposes?

Mr. Richard's truthful statement that Mr. John Macdonald was in favor of reciprocity with the United States gave Mr. Richard considerable trouble, because it reminded the people of a fact they well knew. In 1878 Sir John told the people that he favored a fair reciprocal arrangement with that country and in 1879 he placed on the statute books an offer for free trade relations. Mr. Macdonald refused to do even that much when he was in office, and Sir Richard supported this action. In 1878 Mr. Richard asked Mr. Macdonald, in the House, if a reciprocity treaty was in question between the governments of the two countries. "There is no such treaty at present in question between the governments of the two countries," was the answer. The Government of the United States has made no proposition to us; but when the Government of the United States makes any such proposition, we will of course give it due consideration. The present Government, however, not only placed the offer referred to on the statute books, but it also made an official offer to the United States to settle the fisheries difficulty on the basis of "a mutual arrangement providing for greater freedom of commercial intercourse." These overtures were rejected by the Republic, and the Government is waiting, as Mr. Macdonald and Sir Richard Cartwright had to do, for the United States to make a proposition, when it will receive due consideration.

Mr. Richard was decidedly wrong when he stated that the United States was the best market for the produce of Canadian farms. The average value of the principal exports of Ontario for a number of years has been about $111,000,000, and of this large amount the United States took only $810,000 worth. The home market is the best market, and if the manufacturing industries of Canada, which Mr. Richard despises and sneers at, were injured the farmer's best market would suffer. With the home market injured, and Canada bound up in a commercial alliance with the United States such as Sir Richard advocates, this country, its farming and all other interests, would be at the mercy of the whims of United States politicians. The political consequences that would follow such an unnatural alliance is an important consideration for Canadians who are too British to look with favor upon severance from the British Empire or annexation to the Republic.

Canadians certainly desire to live on amicable terms with their neighbors. They are willing to make a fair arrangement for closer trade relations that would not impair its material interests or its national life, but further than that they have no desire to go.

It was no doubt kind of Sir Richard Cartwright to come from Toronto to address the school children of Norwich, but he was not the subject of an unsuitable one for such an occasion.

How it did hurt Sir Richard's feelings when Mr. John Macdonald spoke disparagingly of the United States! The headquarters of Sir Richard's party is on Broadway, New York, in that country.

If Sir Richard would add a series of magic lantern views to his lecture about the great and glorious United States and its magnificent wealth he would draw larger audiences. And it would not then be so dry for the children, either.

"I am sorry," said Sir Richard at Norwich, "that I have not a map of North America, but I think you are familiar with it." Mr. Richard knew his audience. The greater part of his hearers had just come from a building where such maps adorn the walls.

After all perhaps it is not surprising that Mr. Richard Cartwright should refer to the Conservative newspapers as an unbiased press, for a man who has changed his political coat because another man was given an office he coveted naturally suspects others of being influenced by similar pecuniary reasons.

About this case there is a good deal of mystery, and attempts have been made to hush it up; but it is not an improbable one, for body-snatching in the interests of surgeons is not rare in America. Dr. Kenneth Cornish, late surgeon to the British Royal Humane Society, knows a clergyman in London who narrowly escaped internment in Milan four years ago while in a state of osteopley. The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The habit of eating, and drinking, and other food is in itself a source of impurity, and the blood is constantly being renewed. The water we drink, the food we eat, the air we breathe, all contain impurities which enter the blood, and thus the blood is constantly being renewed. DOES TRADE MAKE TRADE?

An authority on Liberal views tells us that it is impossible to sell to a country without buying from it, that it is impossible to export to a country without importing from it, as in that way it pays for what it receives. Understanding this doctrine as part of their political economy, the result they desire to bring about is to become a nation. Canada now buys largely from England. In fact, about half of the goods imported into Canada come from Great Britain. At the same time the Dominion exports to Great Britain about half of its surplus produce. With commercial union, or unrestricted reciprocity, a heavy import duty would be charged on all goods coming from Great Britain and goods from the United States would come in free. The natural effect of this would be that the import trade from the Mother Country would fall off, and according to the terms held by the Liberals the market there for Canadian produce would be lost, for England would not buy from us unless we took English goods in exchange. It is therefore clear that they are ready and anxious to sacrifice the market, and the only market, for Canadian cheese and wheat and the best market for our corn, cattle, butter, and other produce, in order to get admission to a market where there is no demand for these things. Since they desire to do this or they are trying to induce Canadians to accept unrestricted reciprocity by false arguments, I could, however, scarcely be to the advantage of Canadian farmers to lose a market that takes immense quantities of the produce they have to sell in order to obtain free access to one that has a surplus of these very products.

When free trade with the United States was first advocated one of the strong points urged was the saving that would be effected by the abolition of the customs house. Why are the Westerners silent about this now?

The Washington correspondent of the Globe says that an effect of the McKinley bill has been a marked increase in the price of eggs. If the effect of the tariff is to raise the price in the United States, how will it injure the Canadian hen?

A MADMAN RUN AMUCK.

Fatally Wounded Two Men With an Axe and in Great Danger by Villagers.

LACOMBE, Que., Oct. 29.—Last week a man by the name of Leblanche, who was working for Joseph Giguere in the village, threatened to shoot and kill Giguere and his family. Monday he was arrested, when it was discovered that Leblanche had lately made his escape from a Michigan insane asylum. The officials have been keeping him confined in a Joseph Larue's house, but without handcuffs, and after breakfast this morning he ran out of Larue's house and seized a man named Larue, cutting him on the head in a most frightful manner. Leblanche started in pursuit, and when he had overtaken him Leblanche attacked him furiously with the axe, also hacking him up so badly that he is not expected to live. After this he ran amuck through the streets, the axe in one hand and a revolver, which he took from Larue, in the other. The villagers, armed with shotguns and clubs, gave chase and opened fire on him. Some of the shots lodged in his legs and body, but he is not seriously wounded.

David Rignanser, who miraculously escaped death at the accident, was the principal witness. He detailed the trip from Laurel Hill Station to the culvert and the final plunge of the engine, his jumps and the hoisting of Roche up the track, west of the culvert, after the accident.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS.

A Liquor Case.

A grocer and liquor dealer was charged this morning with a breach of the Liquor Act by selling less than three half pints.

He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. A clerk, unknown to the proprietor, sold bottles contrary to law.

A Local Author.

"Canadians in the Imperial Service" is the title of a work by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.A., which will be published shortly by Williamson & Co., of Toronto. It contains a series of short historical sketches of native Canadians who have distinguished themselves in the naval and military services of the Imperial Government.

Buying Before Eleven o'clock.

Two foretelling cases were heard by the Magistrate at the Police Court. Messrs. J. Lapointe, butcher, and J. Craig were the defendants. Mr. Lapointe pleaded guilty but said it was ten minutes to eleven when he purchased and then a farmer had collected him to buy. Mr. Craig pleaded not guilty, stating that he had bought poultry for his own private use and had sold it for dinner that day. None of it was offered for sale again by him. The Magistrate said both the men had broken the law by buying before eleven o'clock and he fined them two dollars each and costs to be divided. Mr. Craig will appeal his case.

A Woman's Reception in Future.

Mrs. Peter Gifford, who lives at 120 Albert-st., charged Lord Sullivan and Percy Fuller at the Police Court this morning with having done malicious injury to her property. Mrs. Gifford accused the two young men and a third unknown with pulling off her hair and throwing it against the house on Halloween. This had been done, she said, for four years past but this year she waited and was positive that she identified the two accused as two of the trio who were having the sport with her hair. The evidence went to show that she had been mistaken in her identification and the boys were discharged. Mrs. Gifford caused some amusement by her earnestness, and when the case was dismissed she asked the Magistrate if she might be allowed to use a little shot next time. The Magistrate was not willing to consent to a tragedy and the lady was non-plussed as to what she should do. "What can I do," she asked, "when they come here and swear they do not do it when I see them? I will get a man next time and they will get something that they will remember."

Free Reception.

The members of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union tried an experiment on Saturday evening last, which was in every way a gratifying success. In response to invitations some 40 or 50 fair maidens met at 405, George-st., to enjoy "Y" hospitality. The bright parlors, with their varied attractions of music, games, merry chat and laughter, not to mention refreshing cake and coffee, formed a pleasant terminus to long walks through slush covered streets. Each one entering the room was a smiling face, as one should say. "You have asked us here to have a good time and we mean to have it." And have it they did, so many testified upon leaving. The members of the Association are desirous of making their rooms a real home place for the young women of Peterborough, and those who are in the habit of being out Saturday evening owe it to themselves to use the privilege provided them in open "Y" hall from 7.30 until 9 o'clock. Girls, be advised! Don't walk about the street on Saturday evenings! You won't know if you know the remarks which are made about it. Go up to "Y" hall and spend your leisure hours. Com.

MERCHANTS IN COURT.

Will the Distribution of Hand Bills be Stopped—Judge's Remark.

A number of cases came before the Magistrate at the Police Court this morning.

The decision in which will be looked for with interest by all the merchants and advertisers generally, as it will decide whether or not the present state of affairs is to be continued, or whether by means of doggers or hand-bills. There is an addition to the by-law which reads as follows:—

"No person shall scatter or cause to be thrown of any street of the said town any doggers, hand-bill advertisements or other paper and no person shall deposit on any sidewalk or street in the said town any doggers or other refuse or rubbish from any building."

Under this by-law information was laid against Messrs J. R. Stratton, of the Peterborough Bookstore, F. R. Koorwin, Peterborough's newest dry goods merchant, and George Brown, the wonderful cheap man.

Charges of a similar nature were also laid against the three boys, Wellington Langford, Bruce Anderson and Thomas Henry, who were engaged distributing the bill.

Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the defendants and Mr. E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, conducted the prosecution.

The charge against Wellington Langford, who was distributing Mr. Koorwin's bill, was taken as a test case. Constable Adams was the only witness for the prosecution. He had seen the three boys named distributing bills of the Grand Trunk station to passengers coming off the morning train. The boys were putting the doggers in the pockets, under the arms and in the baskets of the passengers. Some of these bills fell to the ground and were not picked up while he was there. He had seen quite a number of bills lying around the streets on his way down, but could not say how many were dropped at the station.

For the defence the boys were called. Each of them testified in a decidedly clear and intelligent manner that they had picked up all bills dropped by persons to whom they had given them. The boys also said that their employers had told them to be careful in distributing the bills and not to throw any on the ground and to pick up all that were dropped by other persons.

The Magistrate said the question arose as to whether the by-law covered the case; was this "scattering or causing to be scattered?"

Mr. Brown said the object was to prevent the sort of thing, scattering of the public streets with handbills and doggers. If the bills were distributed and persons threw them on the ground or street then the parties causing those bills to be so distributed were liable.

Mr. Stratton said as he looked at it the by-law directed more against showmen who came along with ten or twelve boys actually littered the streets with bills and not against the merchants of the town. If he was handed a thing and accepted it and then threw it on the street he thought he would be liable if the by-law was taken in that way.

Mr. Brown—Here are three boys and they have three colored papers. If there are three boys there may be thirty putting the paper on the street and in that way the street might become littered. It is a nuisance which the by-law aims at preventing, but whether this by-law is sufficient to cover these cases is a question.

Mr. Stratton asked, after further discussion, to have the matter stand over until it could be brought before the Town Council.

Mr. Brown—I don't care for the Town Council. Each individual councillor might tell you that Mr. Adams was too officious and that these merchants were much abused men, and yet go to the Council and make the by-law stronger at the next meeting. I don't care for the Town Council but will hold the case over to consider whether the by-law covers these cases.

It finally was accordingly reserved, with the understanding that the judgment in one would apply to the whole lot done.

V. C. C. A. Notes.

Mr. E. Mannel led the congregation meeting Sabbath morning in an acceptable manner. Much blessing was the result.

Mr. J. A. Sutherland gave a very earnest and pointed address at the personal purity meeting in the afternoon. The attendance was good.

Rev. J. O. Davidson addressed the Gospel and song service last evening. The hall was well filled and much interest was taken in the excellent address given. We feel good will result.

A special meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 4 p.m. Bible Class Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. Monthly meeting of Directors Tuesday evening.

Next week will be the week of prayer for young men in all lands. Special meetings will be held afternoon and evening. Rev. Wm. Patterson, of Toronto, will preach next Sabbath morning and evening and address a mass meeting in Opera House at 4 p.m. for men only.

An Extraordinary Journey.

An opportunity will occur within a few months to make a trip around the world under novel conditions and in a manner not likely to be repeated. Advantage will be taken of the early sailing of the new and magnificent twin-screw steamship now being built for the Trans-Pacific Service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, to afford to the public a "Round the World" excursion of a most extraordinary character. The steamship "Empress of India" will sail from Liverpool for Hong Kong, about the 15th January, 1891. At Hong Kong she will take her place in the Trans-Pacific line for which she has been built, sailing via Yokohama to Vancouver, the Pacific terminus of the Canadian Pacific railway. On her voyage to Vancouver she will call at Gibraltar, Naples, Port Said, Suez, Colombo, Penang, Singapore, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Nagasaki, Kobe, and Yokohama, stopping a day at each of the ports named, and at Port Said sufficient time will be allowed to enable passengers to visit Cairo and the Pyramids. In connection with this voyage tickets will be issued "Around the World," including choice of steamship lines across the Atlantic and a rail trip over the Canadian Pacific Railway from the Pacific to the Atlantic. The rate for this wonderful trip will be $800, including meals and berths. Programme with maps showing the route, and giving full particulars as to stop-overs, etc., can be had at any of the Canadian Pacific Railway offices. The second and third steamships of the line will leave Liverpool about the 15th February and 15th March, 1891, respectively, taking the same route.

EIGHT YEARS HAVE GONE

SINCE ST. JOHN'S CHURCH WAS RE-OPENED.

Anniversary Services Held Yesterday—Sermons by Rev. Allen A. Pitman—Special Sermon to the Young Men.

Eight years ago last Saturday St. John's church was re-opened and the anniversary of the event was commemorated by special services held yesterday both morning and evening.

During the past eight years which mark an important epoch in the church's history, a measure of success and prosperity, spiritually and materially, has been enjoyed which gives the congregation just cause for pride and gratification.

There have been many changes in the church and congregation since the re-opening. In the church improvements have been made, while in the congregation the hand of death has removed many familiar faces, and removal from town has also made vacancies in the pews. New faces, however, have come in to take the places of those departing and to-day the congregation stands before the altar, ever, perhaps the most important and at the same time most lamentable event during the octets of years was the death of the late rector, Rev. Mr. Bock. His name will ever be cherished by the congregation and loving remembrance keep his memory green. Time has shown that his ministrations were not without their blessing in the person of the present rector, Rev. J. Davidson, who revived the anniversary services yesterday. At both these services the rector took occasion to express the gratitude and satisfaction which was felt by himself and the congregation on the anniversary of the church's re-opening. Casually and spiritually, which they had experienced. The increase morally was especially marked, he said, among the men and he hoped the good work would be carried forward in the year which was to come.

The musical part of the service yesterday was of a simple character, especially in the evening, when familiar but appropriate hymns were sung. The sermons, which were of a special character, were preached by Rev. Allen A. Pitman, of St. George's Church, Toronto, and were both able and eloquent efforts. The rev. gentleman is a competent young man, has a decidedly pleasing voice, and an earnest and clear diction. His religious a year ago in England at the call of his Bishop for work in Canada, and during his labors in Toronto has achieved considerable success, rendering great service to the church and attracting by his particularly earnest and frank style of oratory a great number of the best men of Toronto.

THE YOUNG MEN'S SERVICE.

At the evening service yesterday his sermon was particularly addressed to young men. The members of St. Andrew's Brotherhood and a large number of young men from outside churches occupied the centre pews of the church. The disagreeable night and the slushy state of the sidewalks undoubtedly prevented many from attending the service, but, as it was, there was a good congregation. The rev. gentleman took for his text the words:—

"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord."

In opening the rev. gentleman said these words were very possibly were spoken by a man who was far away from his own country. In the exile he was longing to see his own city and some of his friends, longing to see the old city and the temple, came to him and asked him to go up into Jerusalem. Wanting to see the temple, the house of his God, he said in the words of the text, "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord." The preacher said he would ask them to consider these words, because people generally did not want to go into the house of the Lord. He then proceeded in a clear, forcible and impressive manner to give reasons why they should be glad to attend the church—first, because it was an acknowledgment of a power greater than theirs; second, because they came to worship, not to get something but to give thanks unto God; third, because they came for fellowship to cement themselves together, forgetting their jealousies and feelings of trade, and discriminating not between the rich and poor, the young and old; and not, because they came to worship of man and man but the fellowship with the saints, the fruits of whose drudgery, labors and sacrifices they were now enjoying, and with whom all Christians were one in the family in Heaven; fourth, they should also be glad because they came to pray and because prayer was work, and when they came to rest and because the church was the only home of God. When speaking of the prayer as work the speaker took occasion to remark that amusements were part of a man's work and they should be purified by prayer. He hoped no member of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood could see anything amusing in course just indicated. These were not amusements but duties, and they should all see that their amusements were of a good character and purified with prayer. In conclusion, the speaker made an earnest appeal to the young men to be diligent and to live so that man might say after them could call them blessed. He closed by exhorting them as members of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood to attend church and assist in its success.

A Fitting Memorial.

With the increase of wealth amongst us larger sums of money are being spent year by year on memorials erected to deceased relatives and friends, and thoughtful people are beginning to ask, "Why should this money be lost forever in huge pyramids of stone and marble, which really benefit no one and reasonably or unreasonably suggest the perpetuation of pomp and pride?" Of a very different type is a memorial which was yesterday dedicated in Trinity Church, Cobourg. It is a handsome brass Lectern, suitably inscribed, erected to the memory of W. L. Ridout, Esq., a late Warden of the town, who in the midst of young robust manhood was suddenly called to rest last winter. Mr. Ridout zealously co-operated with Rev. J. Davidson (then in charge of the parish) in restoring and beautifying Trinity church, which in its present condition is a monument to the devotion and artistic taste of the late Warden. How Mr. Ridout's connection with the church is further stamped and commemorated by the handsome gift which will be constantly used throughout future years in the church which was the object of the late Warden's thoughtful care in life. The surviving members of the family, T. Percival Ridout, Esq., and Mrs. Ridout, of Toronto, with other relatives assembled at Cobourg yesterday, when in the presence of a large and interested congregation the lectern was dedicated forever to the service of God by the Rev. Canon Davidson. This service, the presence of members of the large family from a distance, and the esteem in which Mr. Ridout was held combined to make the occasion a most impressive one.

AN OVERHEARD REMARK.

On walking down George-st. I passed two farmers standing conversing. One of them made the remark, "That is Telford, the poet."

"That," said the other, "a plain dressed and plain looking man. I would not suppose there was much poetry in his head."

I am the man, though very poorly dressed, likewise plain looking, I admit my fate; From my appearance do not judge my taste. With clothes and the interior parlour, I am not a man by his great outward show, though miserably hindered to live very plain; A shilling hat may look a shilling hat, but you may be more miserably hindered. A shilling hat may look a shilling hat, but you may be more miserably hindered. A shilling hat may look a shilling hat, but you may be more miserably hindered.

Think not all great men are great in their dress. In plain heads, and plain looking men, the riches of the heart are often seen. Bright talents smoulder in obscure exile. The man who is not seen is the man who is seen. The man who is not seen is the man who is seen. The man who is not seen is the man who is seen.

True Heaven sent genius may be found within the lowly words of kings and queens adorned. You find them not laid glittering to the eyes; Material diamonds are not best seen; To know man's worth you must break through the shell of his mind.

WILLIAM TELFORD, Smith.

About Refractors.

"A refractor," in the speaking, is a fee given to counsel conducting a case in court. The probable effect of the refractor is to stir the advocate up to renewed exertion in the interest of his client. Then there are refractors of another brand, as when a householder is asked to give a refractor that he has neglected to order flour, meat, or other necessities. A positive refractor is a man who never fails to refrain from a thing which he has promised to do, and becomes refrained both bodily and mentally. d171

A Programme of Rare Excellence.

A moment's attention to the programme below will show that the selections of which it is composed are such as could only be successfully performed by masters of the art of instrumental music. Such indeed are those who form the Boston Symphony Club, an aggregation that holds in its membership the greatest artists of the continent. The intricacies of the most difficult instrumentation of the most difficult scores are mastered as easily as if the bow of the violinist was wielded by hand and entered with magical deftness and accuracy. Our citizens should not miss the opportunity of hearing the Boston Symphony Club on Friday evening next, Nov. 7th, and it is a comfort to know that one's seat is secure. Seats may be secured at Greater's drug store.

WATSON NOTES.—Everything is beautiful in its season. No snow and hail on the last evening of October. As the old wise men say, there never was an October without snow, but in 1888, with old age and failing memory, our white visitor had to take a running hop-skip-and-jump from the Rocky Mountains to reach here before the four-faced opoponax chimed the last parting salute and ushering in of November.

The month has been all that could be desired, without extraneousities of either heat or cold. The hottest was on the 2nd and 3rd, the coldest the 29th and 31st, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 48.25. Although there was considerable ice, still it was never disagreeable. We had no thunder storms during the month and although rain fell on 15 days it only fell to the depth of 2 inches and 20.108 of an inch. There were no hurricanes, with four or two nights. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, namely:—South-west 10 days, south-east 6 days, north 1 day, east 6 days, north-east 3 days, and north-west 6 days.

HELD UP IN ROBBERS' CUT

TRAIN ROBBERS WRECK A TRAIN

NEAR SEABOARD, MISSOURI.

The Engineer Probably Fatally Injured

Four Fatal Clerks Also Receive

Severe Wounds. The Smoking Car

Turned Upside Down and Burned.

SEABOARD, Mo., Nov. 7.—Train No. 3 westbound on the Missouri Pacific Railway was wrecked by train robbers three miles east of the town, near the notorious Robbers' Cut, at 2:15 p.m. today. The train consisted of seven coaches, including mail, express and baggage cars. The robbers had removed the spikes, bolts and fish plates for a distance of three rail lengths and placed crowsbars under the rails so that they would spread. When the engine touched the loosened rails, it jumped the track, broke loose from the train and ran 30 feet on the ties and turned over. Fireman Lyons jumped and escaped injury. Engineer Boyd stuck to his post and received severe injuries. The tender, turned over the track, threw part of the mail car

20 feet on the side of the track.

There were four postal clerks in the car and all were slightly hurt. The baggage and express cars were wrecked. The mail coach which was filled with passengers, was turned upside down and the car was badly smashed,

but none of the occupants were seriously hurt. The two chair cars were flipped the track but did not turn over. The Pullman was the only coach to remain on the track.

The engineer had stopped the train a short distance from the wreck to make repairs on his engine and the train was moving at the rate of only about 15 miles an hour when the engine struck the loosened rails, to what fact is no doubt due to the fact that the engine was under the care of the passengers and train.

BRONTE, Ont., Nov. 7.—An express from Hamilton for Toronto when passing Bronte freight train, which was standing partly foul of the main line, throwing the express engine into the ditch, damaging the baggage car on passenger train and doing considerable damage to several cars on the freight train. No passengers were injured. The driver and freeman, both Hamilton men, were slightly injured.

A wrecking train was sent out from Toronto and also relief trains at 9:10, and the car is a complete wreck. Twenty persons were brought to the city at 12:30.

None of them were injured beyond a shaking

PETERBOROUGH AT JAMAICA.

The East India Exhibition Company, London, has been selected to exhibit at the Jamaica Exhibition in the West India.

Peterborough is to be represented at the coming Jamaica Exhibition by an extensive and handsome display which is to be made by one of her leading manufacturers, the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company.

The exhibit was ready this morning to be packed, and will be shipped from here for Halifax this evening. At Halifax it will leave per steamer on the 15th inst. for Jamaica. The exhibit has been neatly and systematically arranged in thirty-four trays and will cover a space about thirty feet long, the trays being ranged in three rows.

In complete samples of many of the different lines of goods manufactured by the company, and the bronze and nickel plated ware, which will be shown alongside of it. Time would not permit the manufacture of special articles for the exhibit, so that these which are being forwarded have been selected from the ordinary stock. However, their finish and style are such that the reputation of the works for doing work of a high order will be fully sustained among the visitors to the West India Exhibition.

In the exhibit are plain bronze and nickel plated stove door handles of very fine finish, oval and plain bronze and nickel plated door knobs, door bells, bell pulls, push buttons, brass and old copper hinges, brass bolts, sliding door locks and latches of the newest designs, chains and foot bolts, rim locks, drawer pulls, etc. As already stated this large, well-arranged and varied display cannot fail to attract the eye by its shining metal, while the visitor, once attracted, will find much to interest him.

The enterprise of the company in sending such a complete and extensive exhibit such a long distance is most commendable and will be a great credit to the lock works, as Peterborough's name as a manufacturing centre, while already good, cannot help but be enhanced by this piece of enterprise.

Heavy Work in the West India.

The lumbering operations for the winter promise to be light, the Independent says, with the exception of those by the Marquette Co. on the old Scott limits. It is said that twenty million feet will be taken out by this company.

Purchasing Hogs.

The Market correspondent of the Independent says: "Last Saturday Mr. W. J. Mason, of Peterborough, purchased two car loads of hogs, paying five cents live weight. That is about the price our farmers would get for them dressed, if sold in the United States market. Our Wilmans will please make a note of this."

An Ashburnham Sale.

At the auction sale of the Ashburnham estate yesterday, conducted by Mr. Charles Stapleton, the property on the south-east corner of Brown and Dorset-sts., in Ashburnham, was knocked down to Mr. John Armstrong for $1,400 cash. Mr. Armstrong will dispose of his farm in Ashburnham and come to reside in the village. The price realized is considered a capital one.

Mr. White's Good Shot.

The bulk of the conversation just now is about deer, and hunting, and dogs, and partridges, and clever shots, and fine venison, says the Independent.

The fact is that the hunting parties have all done well and have had a most successful season. Last Wednesday Mr. W. J. Mason took a large party to his lumber depot on Crooked Lake, in Ashburnham, among them being Mr. A. White, of the O. T. R. On Thursday they put the dogs out early, and Mr. White was posted in a bay to watch. He had not been there more than an hour when a magnificent buck took the water about a quarter of a mile distant.

Mr. White paddled with all his energy, and succeeded in getting within range. The deer was close to the shore when Mr. White came up, and just as the deer's feet touched bottom, and he made his first leap towards land, Mr. White levelled his rifle and fired. The shot was a splendid one, and the bullet pierced the deer's brain, who fell dead on the shore not a yard from the water's edge. The deer weighed 200 lbs., and was the possessor of a magnificent pair of horns. So beautiful was the animal that it was decided to preserve it, and it was forwarded, packed in ice, to Toronto, and will probably be sent direct to the Old Country. Mr. White was complimented on his successful shot. One day no less than twelve fine deer were forwarded from here to Toronto by different hunting parties.

V. M. C. A. Notes.

Mr. J. A. Fife, B.A., gave our junior branch a talk on chemistry with numerous experiments. The ladies were delighted and were unanimous in asking Mr. Fife to come again and give them another helpful talk.

Tonight from 8 to 9 o'clock praise, promise and consecration service. All young men welcome. On Sabbath morning consecration meeting 9 to 10, led by the General Secretary. Special sermons and offerings will be taken in all the churches for our work among young men. Rev. Mr. Patterson, of Oshawa's church, Toronto, will preach special sermons at 11 a.m. in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, 4 p.m. will address a mass meeting for men only in the Opera House, and at 7 p.m. in George-st. Methodist church. At the close of the evening services the churches a gospel song service will be held in the George-st. Methodist church. Short addresses by the pastors and Rev. Mr. Patterson. A cordial invitation is extended to all young men to attend these helpful services. Rev. Mr. Patterson is one of the most popular and original preachers and is a great favorite among young men in Toronto. All should hear him. On and after Monday each afternoon at 3 p.m., addresses will be given by several of our pastors and others. Each evening at 8 p.m., except Wednesday, evangelistic meetings for men only, Christian, to be held in prayer.

GIANTS OF THE BOW.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra Club gave an Arctic Concert and a Winter Feast.

Hardly is made of so high a quality as a local hall as was that of the concert of the Boston Symphony Club on Friday evening. The reputation of the Club as a whole and the individual excellence of the performers is a continental one. The selections were admirably chosen and faultlessly rendered.

The magnificent playing of the Club was as distinctly marked in the marvellous delicacy of their flutes as in the strong passages where the volume of instrumentation was taxed to its fullest capacity. The music reached a point almost unobtainable except at the hands of musicians who are at the head of the profession and who make it a life work to render the most favorable impression. Each member is a student of great reputation, and playing in concert the result is beyond criticism. If one feature could be said to excel more than another it would be the wonderful vocal execution and tone of the violin.

"Magic Flute," played by Messrs. Fr. Reussner. The marvellous execution and delicacy of the performance drew the question if greater possibilities are possible. The violin solos of Messrs. Alfred de Novo were the result of unqualified genius supplemented by wonderful technical skill and rare taste. The violin in the hands of Messrs. Fr. AND MANY MEN WERE SLAIN.

A Desperate Encounter in Kentucky on Election Day.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 8.—The election day in Kentucky turned out to have been one of the most desperate encounters ever witnessed in Kentucky. A man from Irvine, the county seat, yesterday told the following story of the day: The principals were Dr. Lilly on the one side and John Wilson, a school commissioner on the other. Lilly was a Republican and Wilson a Democrat.

Lilly brought a negro to the polls to vote for him, but Wilson challenged the vote which was sustained by the judges. This angered Lilly and hot words ensued, which resulted in both men being wounded.

Lilly was the quicker, and had shot Wilson twice near the heart before the latter could draw his weapon. When then got his pistol out and fired two shots, one of which struck Lilly in the region of the heart. About this time Wilson's brother intervened and endeavored to restrain the combat, and at last the two men were separated.

Wilson then crawled over to where his brother lay and tried to revive him, but in vain. With the last of his fast-fading strength he pointed at Great Lilly, a brother of Dr. Lilly, who had engaged on the same line, a wound which finally caused his death.

had had a secret from Mr. Bowser for fully six weeks, and the fact so weighed on my conscience that, when he came home the other evening, I handed him a manuscript and remarked:

"Mr. Bowser, will you do me the honor to read this little poem?"

"Who is it by?" he asked.

"Read it."

"Well, I read it and pronounced it a little gem, enough to tell him I was the author."

"Oh, yes, oh! That accounts for it."

"For what?"

"For the rambling style, the wildness of the rhyme, and the highest pigmy way in which it reads."

"Then you don't like it?"

"Humph! You'd better stick to housework."

"Everybody else says it's good. I have also written several little stories which have been pronounced first class."

"Then they like you."

"Oh, yes, but I don't think of them. I know I could! The only reason I haven't made a name in the literary world is because I've been too busy with real estate matters. I was just thinking as I came home this evening that I'd dash off something as a starter."

"Well, I hope you'll succeed."

"Good! What are you talking about? Do you imagine I can't write a poem?"

"I hope you can."

He turned away in disgust, and after some time he went into the library, closed the folding doors, and sat down to work. I carefully pulled one of the doors open until I could see him. He got out pen, ink and paper, and began to write. He wrote for some time, and then he came out and said to me:

"I've finished it. I don't propose to write more."

"I'm glad to hear it. I'll be glad to see it."

PANIC AND DEATH.

Brother Murders with Head Among the Assassins on the New York Exchange.

New York, Nov. 12.—From a scene of the wildest activity, rendered feverish by a panic tendency in prices, the arena of the New York Stock Exchange was at noon yesterday at a moment's notice hushed to an almost deathly stillness. The morning had been one of intense excitement, consequent on a drop all around in home railways. Prices were going down on all sides at rates which rattled the nerves of even the most hardened operator. Toward noon the excitement became more intense. Just at 11:30, strangers in the gallery for the first time, and almost unnoticed by the usual throng of the brokers and the noise of the telegraph instruments, noticed a tall, gray-haired old gentleman enter by the main door, and make his way with a slightly unsteady gait towards the stands of the New York Central and Chicago and Illinois.

Mr. Murders, wild in his manner, made his toilet as he walked past and looked intently at their work and shouting took no notice as he rubbed heavily against the crowd in his way along. Continuing his way the old man fell squarely against Broker C. D. Gauthier. (Gauthier moved to make way and the old man fell on his knees, and from that position fell on his face. It was only then that he attracted attention, and a few brokers in the nearby circle, including Mr. Gauthier, Francis and Reed, turned him on his back and relieved his throat as he gasped for breath. Once for water and another for a doctor. By the time Mr. Hewitt arrived the old man had been recognized as Brother Murders, a well-known figure in the New York Stock Exchange for half an hour. The only president was four years ago, when Vice-President A. B. Hill fell dead while announcing the death of a friend. Presently at 12:15, with a rush and a tumult, business was resumed, and brokers talked of Mr. Murders's death only when the active business of the day was over.

WEDDED TO HIS SISTER.

A Strange Romance Concerning Two Waifs From Over the Sea.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 12.—A romance of unusually pathetic details was discovered to-day when two defences from foreign shores were discovered in Mr. and Mrs. Ann Barr of Kansas City, Kan., the relationship of brother and sister and the history of their fortunes.

Mr. Barr's deceased mother, twenty-five years ago two waifs from foreign shores, were abandoned by German immigrants at Castle Garden. They were legally adopted, one by a man named Ann Barr, the other by a Mrs. Evans. Mrs. Evans moved soon afterward to Philadelphia, where she brought up her adopted daughter, giving her all the comforts of a home and a good education. Twenty years later the boy, grown to manhood and named John Barr, came to Philadelphia, where he followed the trade of a painter. He was captured by the girl and married her. Mrs. Evans died, and Mrs. Barr continued in his trade as a painter. Not long ago Mrs. Evans died, and Mrs. Barr continued in his trade as a painter. HANGED!

Birchall Pays the Penalty

FOR HIS GREAT CRIME

His Neck Broken by the Weight's Fall.

DEATH CAME IN SIX MINUTES

No Violent Convulsions Followed the Drop.

THE MURDERER DID NOT CONFESS

And Dies with Bitter Regret as to the Swamp

By Telegraph to the Review.

WOODBURY, Nov. 14.—The time during the hour after Mrs. Birchall left the jail was passed by Birchall and the divine praying and talking. The Turkey took a nap while Mr. Wade was with Birchall in his cell.

During the night Mr. Wade came out of the cell and Mr. Wade, who is one of Birchall's associates, went in and spent some time with him, talking about his temporal affairs. Birchall had made to leave a legacy which he expected to fall to him next spring. The extent of his property was the $1500 he received from the antiquary and $1500 he received by his agent from the proprietor of a Toronto museum for the clothes he wore on the 17th February and also authority solely to exhibit a coat of his head, and a set of arms.

When Birchall had done with the Turkey about 4 o'clock, guard Midgley went in to see him, the door passing the time while he waited in the corridor with a newspaper. Birchall gave Midgley a gold pencil for his son and said he had left instructions to have a sword sent out to England for the old soldier himself.

Midgley said "Good-bye" to the prisoner, for although he was going to remain to see the execution, at Birchall's request, he would not again have an opportunity to speak with him. Birchall had early in the evening said the cook to take him up a supper at 12 o'clock, but it was not afterwards asked for and he ate nothing during the night.

He possessed his usual demeanor all through the night. After the hangman got into the goal he went into the office and was served with something to eat. He talked in a loud voice that rang against the stone walls of the corridors with unrestrained freedom. All night there was the sound of his voice. The guard spoke under his breath and as they walked across the brief floors tried to make no disturbing noise.

Doors were closed with care and amid all this death-like quiet the broad tones of the executioner's voice rang through the corridors

as much out of place as they would in the chamber of death. The guard was glad when he detected himself on the sofa at 5 o'clock and fell asleep with his head on his hand. The guard

Guider Camero went the goal at about 5 o'clock and then returned to his house. The guards were

by the near approach of one of the prisoners who had been always cheerful and courteous to them and had succeeded in exciting their dormant interest and pity. When Midgley came down from Birchall's cell at a quarter to five o'clock

he said that the prisoner was bearing up well and that there was no question he would make a big fight to die. Birchall has begun to fight but by some means a failed confession may be worked off on the public after his death and to guard against this made out his statement.

Purify Your Blood

The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taste of scurvy, salt rheum, or other foul humors is bitter and disgusting, and we also accumulate poisons and germs of disease from breath, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does away every trace of scurvy or salt rheum, removes the taste which causes nausea, restores the appetite and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of scurvy, blood poisoning, etc. It also cures skin diseases and restores the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and bringing up the vitality of the system. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS.

The Boston Works.

The last run on the O.P. ending running into the Boston Works was held last evening and to-day the whole train is at work unloading the road. The siding will be ready for all trains on Tuesday. The work on both the town and the Boston company's line is being pushed rapidly to completion. A call for men appears in our advertising column.

In Aid of Helpless Men.

The benefit entertainment which was given for W. H. Brier, the unfortunate cripple who has been in Peterborough some time past and is becoming a familiar figure as he navigates the street in his invalid's perambulator, was not as great a financial success as perhaps some charitable people would like to have seen it. The men in his beleaguering was undoubtedly worthy of charity, but other attractions were against his raising a rich harvest. The entertainment was, however, of a very pleasing character. Mrs. Bowman rendered "Marguerite" in good voice. Mrs. G. A. Smith gave an instrumental solo of merit. Miss Johnson gave a clever and original sketch of a young man and his friends. The entertainment was a success. Then Mr. R. M. Roy gave a series of stereoscopic views which were of a very high standard and were, perhaps, the best ever given in Peterborough. The views were from Canada, England, Paris, Rome and the Holy Land and comprised several of a very interesting character. Variety was furnished by dancing scenes, comic views and an exhibition of the cyclotron, which was the first ever given by Mr. Roy and was very successful. Mr. Roy's entertainment was an especially fine one and the audience was delighted.

The Boston Bank May Come Here.

Mr. Thomas, of Montreal, General Manager of the Boston Bank, and Mr. R. M. Roy, of Montreal, one of the leading capitalists of that city, were in town yesterday and their visit may possibly result in an important acquisition to Peterborough's business institutions. The two gentlemen had just returned from a trip through the Northwest where the bank is about to open branches. This banking institution is also contemplating opening a branch in some place in Central Ontario and the gentlemen were so favorably impressed with Peterborough's business activity and promising prospects that it is quite possible that our town may be selected as the place for the location of the proposed new branch. This would be a valuable addition to our business institutions. The gentlemen also expressed regret that such a valuable industry as the Boston Company was leaving the eastern Province.

WORKS LIKE A CHARM.
It is very easy to restore painted walls and woodwork to their original freshness if you will take a patful of warm water, two sponges or soft cloths, and a tablet of "Sunlight" Soap; Apply the soap with one sponge or cloth and remove the soap and dirt with the other; rinse the latter frequently and change the water often.
Ordinary soap contains too strong chemicals to use on paint; but while "Sunlight" Soap is mild, it is very EFFECTIVE.
Try it.

ALLEGED CHILD DECEPTION.

A Man Makes Repeated Attempts to the South Ward to Get Rid of His Child—Supposed to Have Been Successful in London.

Chief Constable was engaged yesterday afternoon working up a child deception case and was successful in getting the child out of the hands of the man who had been attempting to get rid of it.

The case came into Chief Constable's hands from London. Yesterday morning that officer received a letter from Chief Constable of London, stating that a man giving his name as Morrison had left a child at a boarding house and had disappeared.

The London chief constable for the man could give no description of the child and gave the following description of the supposed father:—A man of about 35 years of age, dark complexion, thin nose, dark eyes, about 5 feet 8 inches, was about 40 or 45 years of age and had a goodly beard.

By a mere accident the Chief Constable of London, hearing that a man had been attempting to get rid of a child in the south end of the town and threatened to throw the infant to a watery grave in the Lake. Taking this report for what it was, the Chief Constable of London, and the child's mother, the individual of the south end might be one and the same person.

He accordingly instituted a search and his theory proved to be correct. The first two houses where it was found the man had called, the women who had seen him could give no description, but simply remembered that he was a man.

A MAN WITH AN INFANT in his arms had come to their house and wanted them to take the child. He promised to pay them liberally for the young one's keep, but they did not wish to do so. The third house where the child was taken was Mrs. Duncan's on Waverley-st. Here the fellow had been twice on Wednesday, and Mrs. Duncan could give a very accurate description of the man, and this description tallied exactly with the one sent from London. It was then that the woman came into the house and the child's mother, the individual of the south end might be one and the same person.

LOST ON THE LAKE.

Particulars of the Wreck of a Cobourg Vessel and Her Crew.

On Tuesday morning the terrible incident which was reported in our columns as the wreck of the Thames, a small schooner, had been found lying on her side and waterlogged, by a passing vessel twelve miles north of Cobourg harbor, says the Montreal Star. The ill-fated schooner had cleared from Trenton, on Thursday night last, bound for Cobourg laden with lumber, and was on her way to the harbor when she was wrecked on Sunday, and with her weighty deck load became an easy victim to the heavy sea of Lake Ontario which ran high on that day. The tug Charles Fortie put out from Cobourg and found the capsized vessel drifting slowly with the wind, and about the vessel still fast to the davits, which would indicate that the vessel which was wrecked was not a small boat, but a large one.

Everything pointed directly to the fact that the crew had without a moment's warning found themselves struggling for their lives in the heavy sea, and had in a few minutes been crushed by the waves. It would be impossible for the most expert swimmer to exist for more than a few minutes in such a boiling cauldron. Besides Captain Brotenchire there were on board the ill-starred craft, Wm. Martin, of Port Hope, mate, and T. Hanks, of Port Hope, and another boy whose name was unknown.

Captain Brotenchire has always been considered a most careful vessel man, and has had an experience of many years as a lake captain, and was a much respected citizen of Cobourg, where he lived for the past forty years, and the news of the disaster which had befallen his vessel was a great shock to the community. All day Tuesday tidings of the wreck were anxiously awaited by his family here, but no details arrived save the news as to the finding of the vessel. All hope has been abandoned, and it is now a certainty that all aboard of the vessel have been lost.

There was only a fair market this morning. There was no business for the Police Magistrate this morning. Two more cases of child labor were placed on the docket at the Police Magistrate's court, one yesterday and one to-day.

Tenders are asked for the construction at Newmarket of a new wharf 1200 feet long and 25 wide. The Bell Telephone Company have now a line into Waverley. The connection was completed this week.

The annual ball of the G.T.R. employees of the Lindsay district will be held in the opera house in that town on Nov. 21st. Miss Mitchell, of Lindsay's school staff, has received an appointment in the Niagara Falls South high school.

Mr. E. J. Johnston's store at B-thany was burglarized recently and a dozen overcoats and other goods taken. Thirty freight cars were recently shipped from the Cobourg car works for the B.R. railway, Newmarket.

A Belleville man named Charles Daly was locked up in Woodstock for being drunk and was found dead in the morning. A young son of Mr. George Price, of B-thany, fell off a loaded wagon and was killed. He is in a comatose condition.

The county of Victoria is considering the question of establishing a poor house and a committee of that body has visited institutions of that kind in Western Ontario. A petition is being circulated in Lindsay asking the Council of the town to submit a by-law for the establishment of a system of parks.

Capt. Carver, of Kirkfield, met with an accident through the explosion of some lime by which it is feared he may lose his eyesight. Mr. A. Miron, of Hallowell, has returned from a four-months' survey of the boundary between the Hallowell river and Thunder Bay districts.

Mr. Samuel Irvine, of Lindsay, has the honor of being the first white child born in Opeitoshaw. Many and great are the congratulations which he has received. The people of Opeitoshaw are, the independent says, discussing the question of making fire insurance a portion of the municipal responsibility.

Considerable progress has been made towards rebuilding Kilmour. There is a movement on foot to build a roller road from Lindsay to Lindsay.

While moving a marble table at Cobourg a young man named Fred Bentley had his hand crushed and Mr. Carruthers was slightly injured. Mr. M. Aylward, of Cobourg, has accepted a call to the First Congregational church of London, Ont., and offers upon his new charge next month.

Mr. John Gher's house at Oakton was burned on Sunday. The family barely got out in safety. There was a small insurance on the house and contents. A young man named Alfred Cumming, who was caught in Mr. Gher's house in Cobourg, was charged with house breaking and sent to goal for sixty days.

Rev. Mr. Oswald, who has been in charge of the Harvey Presbyterian Mission, has removed to Janville. Mr. Oswald was highly esteemed by the Harvey people.

A born belonging to Mr. Samuel Marshall, near Chatham, was killed by a dog together with nine cattle, his entire crop of grain and roots, and implements. Loss $1,700; insurance $900.

The last issue of the Militia Gazette contains the announcement that Lieut. W. J. Hamilton, of Cobourg, now attached to A Company of the 6th Dragoon, has obtained a first-class certificate at the Royal School of Infantry.

The dogs of a Lindsay hunting party were set upon by four wolves north of Lindsay, and Mr. Ellis, of Lindsay, one of the party, went to the rescue of the dogs. After shooting three wolves, one of which got away, Mr. Ellis went in with a club and rescued the hunters' four-footed friends after a sharp battle, in which his clothes were torn.

Major Sam Hughes, of the Lindsay Ward, has been awarded a bronze medal by the L'Association des Inventeurs de Paris, France, for his system of ventilating railway coaches, which is patented in the United States and Canada. Mr. Hughes has already received several very substantial offers for his patent though it is only issued a few weeks.

Says the Lindsay Post:—"Peterborough ought to have a system of street electric lighting extensively. Thirty additional lamps are to be placed at once. It was objected to in council that this change would entail the laying of an extra quarter of a mill in the dollar, when a level-headed representative of the people delivered himself to the effect that given good streets and sidewalks and plenty of light he did not think citizens would object so much about paying taxes. He hit the nail fair on the head, did that councillor."

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Rev. F. H. DeVerant's Mission—A Letter to the Congregation.

Hardest efforts are being put forth to make Nov. 21st DeVerant's mission a success. The opening service will be on Saturday evening, the 22nd inst., and the mission will continue until Sunday, Nov. 23rd. The services will be as follows, daily:—7:30 a.m., Holy Communion; 4:15 p.m., afternoon meeting; 8 p.m., the mission service. On Sunday, 23rd inst., Mr. DeVerant will address the children at the children's service. Also the afternoon service of Sunday, the 23rd, there will be a service for men only in the church. The following is the program for the following week:

To the Congregation of St. John's Church, Peterborough:

DEAR FRIENDS.—At the request of your Pastor I hope to come among you shortly to conduct a series of special services, Nov. 22nd to Dec. 1st. The three-fold object of these services is:—

1. The restoring of those who, through the temptations of the world or the devil, have become estranged from God, and are in danger of losing their souls.

2. The quickening of believers, that they may be led to a more earnest and fervent life, and with souls at rest in Him who is the Father of sinners, and in whom alone is our hope.

3. The quickening of believers, that they may be led to a more earnest and fervent life, and with souls at rest in Him who is the Father of sinners, and in whom alone is our hope.

Only God the Holy Spirit can bring about such results as these. He works in us by His word, and by His power. He is the Father of sinners, and in whom alone is our hope.

Pray daily—for yourselves, that you may receive definite blessing—for relatives and friends in whom you are especially interested, and for the whole world.

As we do not rely upon our own strength, but upon the power of God, one of the main features of the work is a progressive series of exercises, which will lead us to a knowledge of God and His power to save and keep.

Again, entreaching you to pray and work for the success of the service.

I remain, yours faithfully,
 F. H. DeVerant.

 About Refrainers. A "refrainer" legally speaking, is a fee given to counsel conducting a case in court. The probable effect of the refrainer is to stir the advocate up to renewed exertion in the interest of his client. Then there are refrainers of another brand, as when a housekeeper reminds her delinquent lord that he has neglected to order flour, or when a mother reminds her son that he has neglected to order a new suit. Refrainer is a cup of tea, brewed from the branches of Hawthorne, and the most efficacious of George's. Try Hawthorne's tea and become retrained both bodily and mentally. d1117

NO MOVES! NO GLOVES!!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st Oct. in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now, but they have come at last and open out beautiful. We have two ranges at $1.00 and $1.25 in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta, some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable Goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that Turnbull's is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit. Although early in the season, our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of Remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on the counters. They are desirable goods and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job lot of Dress Goods, 12c. a yd. Also a fresh lot of Flannelettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

KOCH'S REMEDY IS UNDOUBTEDLY A DRAWING CARD.

An Englishman Came to be Cured of Tuberculosis. For some time he had been suffering from this disease. He had been in the hospital for some time, but he had not improved. He had been in the hospital for some time, but he had not improved.

Dr. Robert Koch was born in Glessen, Prussia, in 1844, and is the third son of a family of thirteen children, of whom the first nine were boys. His parents were Hermann and Mathilda Koch. His father was a distinguished mining engineer and superintendent of mines in the Harz Mountains, in the employ of the Hanoverian Government. From his earliest years Robert gave promise of that distinction to which he has attained. While his brothers spent their leisure time in fishing and hunting, he devoted the hours to study and observation, one of his favorite pastimes being the study of lichens and mosses under a microscope, which he had long bought his father to buy him. At the age of 17 he had completed the course of the high school at Glessen, Hanover, having done double work in his classes. On reaching the age of 18 he entered the University of Göttingen, and began the study of medicine, a course covering four years' study. When he had been in the university two years a price of 80 thalers in gold was offered to the student of all the departments of the university for the best essay. Although only in the second year of his course, Robert carried the prize away from students who were in the fourth year.

After finishing his medical course at Göttingen, in 1863, he went to Hanover and stood his examination before the authorities for admission to practice in that place. He studied at Posen and began the study of medicine, as a regular physician. Dr. Koch's medical career began in 1864, when he was appointed to the post of assistant physician to the hospital at Posen. He was once voted 100,000 marks by the Reichstag in recognition of his services to science. He spends all his time in study, and his progress in his researches and discoveries is really about the whole of his history.

THE KNIFE.

A Sunday Night Stabbing Affray at Cumber.

CUMBER, Nov. 11.—A stabbing affray took place here last night between two young men who were attending the Salvation Army meeting. Bob Kenyon, the young man who did the stabbing, claims that Leighton, the victim of the knife, had torn the lining out of his hat. The Leighton denied, but Kenyon was bound to have satisfaction. He left the barracks and waited outside until Leighton came out. A fight ensued in which Kenyon was knocked down. Kenyon jumped at Leighton with knife in hand and cut an ugly gash in the middle of his right arm, narrowly escaping cutting one of the main arteries. Kenyon was arrested by Constable Leighton and taken to Standish to-day. He is a young man of about 20, both sane and sane, and comes from a good family. His widowed mother and sister are highly respected here.

FRIENDS OF CAPT. WEBB.

Plant an Evergreen Tree in Memory of the Deceased Officer.

MARLBOROUGH, Nov. 11.—In the afternoon of Oct. 20, 1889, the body of Capt. Matthew Webb, who lost his life in an attempt to swim the Whitehead Rapids on July 24, 1885, and beside it on last Thursday stood two old friends from his native land who had long contemplated paying a tribute to the bold swimmer. They were Mr. and Mrs. J. Harris Edge. They had left their far-away home to visit America and the great endeavor. Throughout the long journey they had anticipated visiting the grave of Capt. Webb and planting there an evergreen tree in memory of their friendship. It was for this purpose they met there. The tree was duly set, and as the earth fell around its roots the party stood with unshed tears.

Come, Wharfedale, and see the beautiful scenery of the Wharfedale. Sold by Geo. A. Schindler, 181-187 Simcoe-st.

PARNELL, DILLON, O'BRIEN

UNITED IRELAND SAYS PARNELL WILL CONTINUE AS LEADER.

Dillon and O'Brien Receive the News That They Have Been Nominated to the Irish House of Commons—A Telegram of Encouragement to Parnell.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—United Ireland says: "We do not desire to condemn Mr. Parnell's decision, but from Ireland, which he has served so long and faithfully with such devotion and such magnificent success, he may at least look for generous forbearance in the hour of his trial. To his praise be it spoken that he has not attempted to shield himself by perjury. He yielded to a temptation which many great and wise men have succumbed to, and before the day of King David. He has stood by what, to a man of his proud and high spirit, must have been indeed humiliating and bitter. But to the courageous leader for his dismission from the Irish leadership Ireland's answer is sharp and decisive: 'No.' Irishmen have no mission to judge his private life. Leave that to his conscience and to his God, who weighs the temptation with the offense."

LOYAL TO THEIR LEADER.
The Irish members of Parliament (M.P.s) Parnell.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—At a private meeting of Irish members of parliament in Dublin today it was unanimously resolved to remain loyal to Parnell. Great preparations are being made for a meeting to be held in Leicester Hall to-morrow.

The Lord Mayor will preside at the meeting in Leicester Hall to-morrow. Justin McCarthy will propose and Tim Healy will second a resolution of confidence in Parnell's leadership. John Redmond will propose a resolution of thanks to the English democracy for their support of Home Rule, while Mr. Leamy will propose a resolution of thanks for America's magnificent reception of the Irish Nationalists.

New York, Nov. 19.—The Irish members of parliament in this country called this evening the following message to their colleagues in Ireland: "We stand firmly by the leadership of the man who has brought the Irish people through uncalculated difficulties and dangers, from servitude and despair to the very threshold of emancipation, with a genius, courage and success unequalled in our history. We do not only out of gratitude for his leadership services in the past, but also in the profound conviction that Parnell's leadership and matches qualities as a leader are essential to the safety of our cause."

This message was dispatched by T. P. Gill, M.P., the only member of the Irish Nationalist League who has not been elected to the House of Commons. The message was adopted by a vote of confidence in Mr. Parnell.

NATIONALISTS FOUND GUILTY.
Dillon and O'Brien Convicted and Sentenced to 6 Months' Imprisonment.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—In the court at Clerkenwell today, a verdict of guilty was rendered against Dillon and O'Brien, all of whom are members of Parliament, John O'Sullivan, Thomas Walsh, Patrick Mackler and Mr. Bolton, who were indicted on charges of conspiring to induce the tenants on the Ballynash estate not to pay rent. William O'Brien and Dillon were each sentenced to two terms of imprisonment of six months each, the sentences to run concurrently. Patrick O'Brien and O'Sullivan were each sentenced to six months' imprisonment, while Walsh and Bolton to four months each. All the sentences were without labor. Father Humphrey, Thomas J. Cadden, M.P., Daniel Kelly and David Sheehy, M.P., who were indicted on the same charges, were found not guilty and discharged.

O'Brien to Resign His Seat.
LONDON, Nov. 19.—Mr. O'Brien and the other members of Parliament who were convicted to-day sent telegrams to Parnell expressing their fullest devotion to him. O'Brien also sent the following to Parnell: "In view of my six months' sentence my duty to my electors and colleagues and to you is to resign, so that Monaghan may be re-elected during the coming session of Parliament."

O'Brien Takes His Oath.
DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—Mr. O'Brien and T. D. Sullivan and others spoke in Dublin to-night. They were presented with a check for $5000 from the citizens of Buffalo. O'Brien in the course of his remarks said: "So long as we know that the people of this country are thousands of true-hearted friends like those assembled here to-night, no long, believe me, the task of laboring for Ireland and if necessary of suffering will be a proud and joyful task and my friend John Dillon and myself will go home to Clonsilla jail, or whatever jail Mr. Balfour may assign us. We shall go to that jail, I assure you, with a happier and more tranquil mind than that which the Chief Secretary will enjoy in his place in Dublin Castle."

TUBERCULOSIS.

KOCH DISCLOSES TESTS MADE OF HIS DISCOVERY.

"The White Plague" Likely Soon to be a Thing of the Past—Full Text of Dr. Koch's Paper on the New Consumption Cure.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—In view of the widespread interest taken in the discovery of Dr. Koch of a cure for tuberculosis, the following paper prepared by the doctor will be read in German at the meeting of the German Medical Congress in the Deutsche Medicinische Gesellschaft.

A Further Communication on a Cure For Tuberculosis.

BY PROF. ROBERT KOCH, M.D., OF BERLIN. In an address delivered before the International Medical Congress I mentioned a remedy which conferred on the animal experiment upon an immunity against inoculation with the tubercle bacillus, and which seemed to be a valuable discovery. Investigations have now been carried out on human patients, and these form the subject of the following observations. It was originally my intention to continue the research and especially to gain sufficient experience regarding the application of the remedy in practice and its production on a large scale before publishing anything on the subject; but in spite of all precautions so many accidents have happened to patients that it seems imperative, in order to prevent false impressions, to give at once a review of the position of the subject at the present stage of the enquiry. It is now three months since the first patients, in whom the remedy was applied, were discharged from the hospital, and must have been open many important questions.

The investigations have been carried out under my direction by Dr. A. Libberts and Dr. E. Fink, and are still in progress. Patients were placed at my disposal by Professor Bräuer, from his private surgical clinic; Gohsinnath Dr. Frank and Oberstaatsrath Köster, from the Charité Hospital; and Gustav Law, a surgeon, from the surgical clinic of the University. I wish to express my thanks to these gentlemen.

Regarding the origin and the preparation of the remedy, I am unable to make any statement, as my research is not yet concluded. I reserve this for a future communication.

A Brevet has been granted to me for the remedy. It is a brownish, transparent liquid, which does not require special care to prevent decomposition. For use this fluid must be more or less diluted, and the dilutions are liable to undergo decomposition if prepared with distilled water. As bacterial growth does not develop in them they become turbid, and are then unfit for use. To prevent this, the diluted liquid must be sterilized by heat and preserved under a cotton-wood stopper, or, more conveniently, prepared with a one-half per cent. solution of phenol.

It would seem, however, that the effect is weakened both by frequent heating and by mixture with phenol solution, and I have therefore always made use of a freshly-prepared solution. Introduced into the stomach the remedy has no effect. In order to obtain a reliable effect it must be injected subcutaneously, and for this purpose we have used the small syringe suggested by me for bacteriological work.

It is furnished with a small India-rubber ball and has no piston. This syringe can easily be kept aseptic by the use of absolute alcohol, and to this we attribute the fact that not a single abscess has been observed in the course of more than a thousand subcutaneous injections.

The place chosen for the injection, after several trials of other places, was the skin of the back between the shoulder blades and the lumbar region, because here the injection led to the least local reaction—generally none at all, and was almost painless. As regards the effect of the remedy on the human patient, it is the result of the beginning of the research that in one very important particular the human being reacts to the remedy differently from the animal generally used in experiments, namely, the guinea-pig. A new proof of the importance of the all-important law that experiments on animals is not conclusive, for the human patient proved extraordinarily more sensitive than the guinea-pig. As regards the effect of the remedy, a healthy guinea-pig will bear subcutaneous injection of two cubic centimeters, and even more, of the liquid without being sensibly affected; but in the case of a full-grown, healthy man 0.25 cubic centimeters suffices to produce an intense effect. Calculated by body weight one-fifteenth-thousandth part of the quantity which has no appreciable effect on the guinea-pig acts powerfully on the human being.

Dr. Koch as a Subject.
The symptoms arising from an injection of 0.25 cubic centimeters I have observed after an injection made in my own upper arm. They were briefly as follows: Three to four hours after the injection there came on pain in the limbs, fatigue, inclination to cough, difficulty of breathing, which steadily increased in the fifth hour and was unusually violent. A chill followed, which lasted almost an hour. At the same time there were nausea, vomiting and a rise of body temperature to 38.0° C.

After twelve hours all these symptoms abated, the temperature fell and on the next day it was normal. A feeling of fatigue and pain in the limbs continued for a few days, and for exactly the same period of time the rate of injection remained slightly painful and red. The smallest quantity of the remedy which will affect the healthy human being is about 0.01 cubic centimeter, equal to 1 cubic centimeter of the one hundredth dilution.

As has been proved by numerous experiments, when this dose is used reaction in most people shows itself only by slight pain in the limbs and transient fatigue. A few showed a rise of temperature to about 38° C. Having as an aim.

In many cases the decided impression was created that the careful nursing bestowed on the result of the treatment, and I am in favor of applying the remedy in proper material, as opposed to treatment at home and in the out-patient room. How far the methods of treatment already recognized as curative, such as mountain climate, fresh-air treatment, special diet, etc., may be profitably combined with the new treatment cannot yet be definitely stated, but I believe that these therapeutic methods will also be highly advantageous when combined with the new treatment. In many cases, especially in the "convalescent stage," as regards tuberculosis of the brain and lungs, and military tuberculosis, we had to utilize material at our disposal to gain proper experience.

Patients under treatment for the first stage of phthisis were freed from every symptom of disease and might be pronounced cured; patients with cavities and very two highly developed improved considerably and were at most cured, and only in those whose lungs

TWAS A ROYAL AFFAIR.

THE MARRIAGE OF A GERMAN PRINCE AND PRINCESS.

The Russian ex-Chief of Police Murdered in Paris by Assassins—The London Stock Exchange Recovered from the Panic of Wednesday.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Gen. Schœnherk, a Prussian agent in France, died to-day from effects of a bullet wound in the hand. A stranger called upon him yesterday at his residence at 10, rue de Valenciennes, and after a brief conversation had departed. Schœnherk was found by his valet lying prone on the floor in his study in the hand. A Russian Pole named Pashley is suspected. He has disappeared.

The police believe the murder was committed with the aim of securing the release of the Duke of Orléans, who was held in the custody of the Russian government. The body of Pashley was found in the street in the morning, and afterwards Pashley told the police that he was the author of the deed. The police have visited the headquarters of all the Russian spies in the city and have found Pashley was one of them. In Pashley's belongings they found cartridges of the same calibre as the revolver used by the assassin. The act was undoubtedly one of political vengeance.

Another Russian was arrested to-night. All the prisoners decline to answer questions. Nothing is known from the General's room and it is evident that there was not the motive of the Russian agent.

A man named Pashley, the suspected murderer of Gen. Schœnherk, has been arrested on the Spanish frontier.

The Marriage of Prince Adolphus and Princess Victoria of Prussia.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—Princess Victoria of Prussia, daughter of the Emperor, was married to-day to Prince Adolphus of Schleswig-Holstein. The ceremony took place in the chapel of the Altes Schloss. The Court Chaplain, Dr. Dreyer, officiated. The Duke of Cambridge represented the Queen of England and the Duke of Devonshire represented the Prince of Wales. A royal ovation was given to the bride and groom as they entered the chapel. Her wedding dress was of cream satin brocade and trimmed with costly lace, the train embroidered with wild roses and silver. The veil was of tulle, woven with silver and surrounded by a wreath of orange blossoms and myrtle. The chapel was filled with guests, and the Imperial family and of the royal and princely houses of Germany in their state robes, making a magnificent scene.

After the ceremony there was a grand banquet, at which Emperor William offered a toast in honor of the bride and bridegroom.

Questions connected with the stock exchange today was a prey to unfounded rumors. There was nothing in the monetary situation to create uneasiness. The Bank of England returns will probably be issued to-morrow, and it is expected to reach £10,000,000, a week later. Every facility will be given by the Bank of England and other banks to borrowers on stocks and other securities. The country banks have ceased to withdraw money from London, and there is every appearance that the sub-crisis is over. There was a sharp rally this afternoon but the market was unsteady and business, which had been practically impossible, was resumed even in the most speculative stocks. The money for the payment of the January coupons of the Argentine loan and the next coupon of the Uruguay debt is already in hand. The statement issued by the Bank of England after yesterday would not be accepted as final. They will be accepted as usual. Rupee paper fell 10 days, Argentine 1 to 2 and Uruguay 2.

On the Paris bourse prices were irregular. There was a general recovery to-day, and the close was on a money feeling prevailed. Prices were unsettled on the Berlin bourse. At the close there was a moderate recovery, but the last quotations showed a general decline.

Yesterday was almost the gloomiest day that the stock exchange has ever experienced. The feeling on the Berlin bourse was the worst in many years. The depression was not confined to Vienna's securities, unlimited orders to Berlin. The Vienna bourse was agitated. American stock shares closed 5 points lower than the noon quotations.

Almost Another Panic.
LONDON, Nov. 19.—Recent statements regarding the position of the Argentine Republic alarmed the guarantors to-day. The report that a manager of a joint stock bank had told a member of the stock exchange that loans might be restricted at the next meeting was magnified and sufficient to cause almost a panic. Once more the governor of the Bank of England had the authorities stepped into the breach and communications passed between the Bank of England and other banks, with the result that there is every reason to expect that the lenders will to-morrow announce that accommodation will be liberally provided. One of the best authorities in the financial world now emphatically repudiates the restriction that the meet of the depression has proved.

France and Germany are sending delegates to the Argentine committee. The Bank of England declares only that in the interest of the guarantors and not with the idea of taking part in any means of relief.

The false impression has got about that the customs and other revenues of the Argentine Republic are to be placed in the hands of an European trust.

Honoured the Police.
MADRID, Nov. 19.—Today was the anniversary of the riot of 1894. The students at the university refused to enter the building. They formed in procession and marched to the offices of the Minister of Justice, where they made a hostile demonstration. They then marched through the streets singing and shouting. The police drew their swords and attempted to check the progress of the mob but were quickly disarmed. The students afterwards gradually dispersed.

The disorder was renewed in the afternoon. The students marched to the Conservative Club, where they indulged in shooting and looting. Afterward they went to the Liberal Club, where a portrait of Bismarck was displayed, and they gave vent to loud cheers.

Another Spy Arrested.
PARIS, Nov. 19.—A former employee in the French register service has been arrested at Berlin on the German frontier on the charge of being a spy. He has confessed that he had been a spy for the German government.

Purify

The importance of purifying the blood is a fact which is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The blood is the life of the body, and if it is impure, the body will suffer. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a blood purifier, and it will purify the blood, and thus cure all diseases of the blood. It will cure skin diseases, such as eczema, and it will cure all diseases of the blood.

WOMEN WORKERS.

Public Meeting of the Women's Missionary Society.

The annual public meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church attracted a large audience to the commodious Sunday school room of the church last evening. The meeting proved to be an exceedingly interesting character, and the ladies who are so active in the self-sacrificing labor of spreading the light among those who are in the darkness of heathendom are to be congratulated on the success of the gathering, which was managed entirely by the ladies. Mrs. Jas. Hendry, President of the auxiliary, presided over the meeting, and she did so in a decidedly capable manner. On the platform with her were the other officers of the Society—Mrs. A. Rutherford, First Vice-President, Mrs. G. Munroe, Second Vice-President, Mrs. W. F. Hendry, Secretary, Miss L. Rutherford, Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. T. Rutherford, Treasurer. The meeting was opened with a hymn, a scriptural reading and a short prayer. The old familiar missionary hymn "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" was then sung, after which the Secretary presented her report.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

After another hymn the President, Mrs. Hendry, who as a delegate to the Annual General meeting held in London in October last, read a detailed and well-arranged report of the proceedings of the session. The report gave a brief synopsis of the proceedings and reports presented, and to show what work is being done the treasurer's statement as given in the report is published as follows:

Receipts for year.....$25,540.75
 Central Branch.....$2,100.00
 Western.....$2,100.00
 Eastern.....$2,100.00
 Nova Scotia.....$2,100.00
 New Brunswick and Prince Edward.....$2,100.00
 Newfoundland.....$2,100.00
 Total.....$34,040.75

Expenditure for year, $25,540.75; increase of revenue over 1889, $2,100.00; on hand at present, $2,100.00.

The programme of musical and literary numbers was then proceeded with. Miss Hophy Cameron, of St. Paul's church, sang a pleasing vocal solo entitled, "If I Love He Do My Will." This was followed by a reading by Mrs. T. Rutherford and an excellent address on "The Missionary Work by Mrs. Fitch, of St. Paul's Auxiliary. Then Mrs. Howard gave a vocal solo, Mrs. Mann contributed a reading, Mrs. Daly a vocal solo, Miss L. Henderson a recitation, Miss Sutherland a song, and Miss Gundry a reading. These numbers were all well selected and as well rendered.

After a collection had been taken up the meeting closed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Locke.

THE POPULATION OF PETERBOROUGH.

is about 10,000, and we would say at least as much as the population of the city of the Thames and the city of the St. Lawrence, and according to statistics, more numerous than others. The new edition of the census is now being published, and it is a fact that the population of Peterborough is increasing at a rapid rate. There is no doubt that the city of Peterborough is destined to take its place as one of the leading cities of the Province. Her natural advantages are such that progress and growth are her inevitable destiny. Our great weakness is modesty, or perhaps more correctly put, a failure to realize our own position. Let us wake up to the realization of our future, and then show our faith by our works. Meanwhile let every citizen do his part for his alma mater, the city of Peterborough. This is a critical time in our history, and while we may not be enthusiastic over all the details of our Council, yet with such effective assistance as we have last year given and will again be rendered by our Board of Trade, we will look for the most successful action on the part of our Council next year. And in this connection the question will arise as to the propriety of making the many changes in the personnel of the Council. We will object to a little new blood, but not too much of the old blood. If you please, Mr. Lincoln said: "Never swap horses when crossing a stream." The saying is worth considering.

OUR TOWN.

To the Editor of the Review.
 Mrs.—There is in the air a buoyant feeling—property is changing hands at fair prices. Many houses are filling up with tenants and quite a number of outsiders are moving in. There is no doubt that the city of Peterborough is destined to take its place as one of the leading cities of the Province. WE ARE IN THE SOUP!

Over $51,000 Worth of Stock!

The Open Winter Entirely Upsets Our Calculations!

The cold weather has been a boon to our Best and Best Department. Such a trade we never had before. Sales double those of last year. But our heavy OVERCOAT stock with nearly $50,000 worth of stock—there is where the weather affected us. We are loaded down with goods in every department beyond all reason. In BOOTS and SHOES we have probably the Best Stock ever shown in Peterborough and over $50,000 worth of stock to pick from.

HERE IS OUR BARGAIN.—We want $22,000 for the 12th December. We must have it, and here it is, if big inducements for buyers go for anything. We beat up the rally and call the forces forward. Read them! Read them! Read them!

At TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st Oct. in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date to avoid the advance in duty.

This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and American manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now, but they have come at last and open out beautiful.

We have two ranges at $1.00 and $1.25 in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta, some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted, and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods: the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better and are much heavier.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

THE FRIGHTFUL EXPERIENCE OF A BAILOR'S WIFE.

Madness and Child Killed and the Victim in a Typewriter for Three Days and Three Weeks.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 19.—Happily it does not fall to the lot of many wives of men to undergo the part and hardship described by Mrs. Fowles, whose husband was commander of the ship Leda C. Tracy. It is a thrilling story of the sufferings of those who go down to the sea in ships, related by the wife of Capt. Fowles, in a letter to the St. John Evening News, but a short time before, had been published from the pen of the author, the narrative of a woman who had been subjected to a similar experience.

It was not long before Mrs. Fowles found herself in a similar position, and a widow.

She tells the story as follows:—

On Monday morning, Sept. 15, with a nice breeze which lasted till about midnight, when it changed and became a gale, the ship Leda C. Tracy was at sea. The ship was a three-masted schooner, and was carrying a cargo of lumber.

The wind rose and the sea became very rough. The ship was tossed about like a cork on the water. The crew were all on deck, and were trying to keep the ship from pitching.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

BY ANNA KATHERINE GREEN.

"We will not argue the question," the detective now declared. "I am your friend, and I will do anything for you as a friend, but I will not argue the question."

This was a new tone for the detective to take and it struck Mr. Cameron forcibly. Looking at Mr. Gryse and seeing how sober he had become, he took his resolve.

"I have an experiment to try," said he. "You have made your trip, and satisfied as all that Mrs. Cameron's name was Mildred Farley. I would like the same opportunity of proving to you that though she took her sister's place and identity, she did not take her life. Will you come up stairs, Mr. Gryse?"

But the detective hesitated.

"I know what you contemplate," he affirmed, "and would advise you to pause. It is a risky thing you are going to do. Besides, as the lady is not necessarily your wife."

"What?"

"No court in the country would bind you to a marriage forced upon you by such fraud."

"Who is the wife? I accept her as such, however my experiment ends."

"Then you are resolved, knowing that in doing this you make a witness of me?"

"Yes, for I believe in her innocence, and must have it established. I will not keep you waiting long. The effects of the drug administered to her must have nearly passed away."

The poor and morbid furniture had been removed, and the rich and stately belongings of the room restored to their places, and the table near by ticked the watch which her husband had given her in those happy days at Washington.

"I will sit here," he drew his wife's right hand in his, and pressing it slightly, watched the effect, with a steady look from which he had suppressed every expression save that of gentleness and love.

The touch seemed to awaken the slumbering life within her. Opening her eyes, she fixed them with a wild stare on his face that preserved its loving look.

"Oh, come from her lips," it was not, a dream, I am your wife; you are my husband, and I love you."

The doctor, watching, held her gaze fascinated by his.

"Are you better, Mildred?" he asked.

At that name, uttered by him, a cry, sharp as despair, rang startlingly from her lips, and she half rose, but in her weak state fell back. Dr. Cameron stole a look at the detective.

"You know, then?" she murmured, feebly.

"Yes, I know that you were never (never) Gretchen; that you are instead, (never) Mildred Farley; and though I blame you for the deception, I love you still, and am ready to forgive you."

A smile, a flash, a look of joy brought the old splendor to a moment to her face.

"Then have I nothing more to ask in this world," she cried, "my troubles are all over." And two great tears rolled slowly down her cheeks. "Let us thank God," she breathed, and tried to put her two hands together but was too weak, so only smiled.

The doctor, looking at her tenderly, said:

"And is this the only trouble you have had? Was there no other anxiety or fear on your mind?"

"Yes, no. What other could I have? I was not that much ill. To tell you the truth, I did not know what love is to me. But I will show you, I will."

The doctor rose, triumphant, and glanced across at the place where Mr. Gryse had stood.

But that gentleman had shifted his position and now stood at the door, hat in hand.

"I beg leave to bid you good evening. If you have any further business with me let me know. Let me offer you my congratulations."

And with the most benevolent of nods, he turned his back upon the happy husband and wife, and silently slipped from the house.

CHAPTER XLIII.

THE DOCTOR'S VISIT.

Some six weeks later Mr. Gryse received the following communication:

"I have been told by my husband of the fearful suspicion which my conduct had given rise to in the minds of the police. I did no wrong to my sister, nor could I have done any, though consequences worse than any I anticipated had followed the disappointment of my return. To convince you of this I write these explanations. I expect from you that just estimate of my character, which is due to the wife of no noble a man as Walter Cameron."

"I was never happy as a girl. Born with an ambitious spirit and a strong taste for all that is elegant and inspiring in life, I not only was persecuted by poverty indulging in any of my numerous aspirations, but was kept back from that culture of my own powers, which is torture to one who feels her capabilities, but is denied all opportunity of exercising them. Then, I had to work, and work hard, and though it was a labor of love, I could not find myself of the feeling that I ought not to be subjected to so many sacrifices; that I was fitted for better things and was in a measure tired upon."

"For I knew that a sister, as like myself that our mother could see no physical difference between us, was in the direct possession of those very things for which my whole soul longed. She had wealth, she had leisure, she had accomplishments, she had love. She rode in a carriage, while I walked clumsily on foot. She entered, as a welcome guest, houses which were palaces of romance to me, as remote and inaccessible as though they were the halcyon days of the gods. And yet her life was my life, her figure my figure; or so my mother had informed me in a moment of confusion that seemed to change my whole nature. How, in that hour which rolled over me of one of her darlings, it had been my little form she had laid nearest to the grasp of the rich lady, and how that lady indeed of taking me had meant over and picked up my sister, though that sister was no prettier, no larger, and no more promising than myself. And thinking of this, and brooding over it as my work, I grew to feel that my sister was unworthy; that she had no right to the place she held; that it was mine, and that if my mother's intentions had been carried out, it would be me, and not she who would be in possession of the inheritance, enjoying all those pleasures that to my girlish understanding were magnified into certainties by the contrast they afforded to my daily occupations and tasks.

"But, though I suffered from these longings and experienced this envy, you must not think that I neglected my mother or dreamed of any change as regarded my sister or myself. I did not even try to see that sister, though I wasted many hours that should have been spent in sleep, in dreaming over her joys and mentally comparing her situation with my own. The truth is, I could not have found her except by means from which I naturally shrink; for, though my mother had told me she lived in town and was one of the elegant ladies I sometimes saw crowding into the theatre or opera house, she had never told me her name or given me any hint as to what part of the city held her home.

"I was therefore greatly surprised and very much dazzled when one day she said to me that she could not do without a traveling coach for her children; that though she had taken an oath never to intrude upon the child she had given away, that her longing was so great that she was determined not only to see her child, but to reveal to her the relationship in which they stood.

TORONTO TOPICS.

And Fatality—Osgoode Hall Cases.

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—A young lad was accidentally killed Saturday at the residence of Mr. James Allison, the Yonge street tailor, at 62 Murray street. A partridge, which had recently been repaired, was being examined by his two sons, Thomas and James, and while in the hands of the former, the trigger slipped discharging it. The ball entered the head of James and the eye killing him almost instantaneously.

Thomas Bailey, 3 Wilton avenue; Henry Harvey, 9 Parliament street; John Welch, 19 Trafalgar street; Chris Lawson, 15 Trafalgar street, were locked up in Wilton avenue Police Station yesterday, charged with burglarizing the branch store of P. Jamieson, 34 Queen street east, on Saturday night, and carrying off a quantity of underclothing, pieces of cloth, etc.

The precarious character of the city water supply and fire protection was illustrated on Saturday afternoon, when the north plunger in Worthington engine No. 2 gave out. The break occurred at 5 o'clock.

The whole northern part of the city was left without water from that hour till 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The two remaining engines working at full capacity were not equal to the occasion.

This cabman was received from General Booth on being wired of "Happy Bill's" death. "Sympathizing in the loss of our comrade, but rejoicing in the glorious and triumphant death."

Before the Common Pleas Divisional Court on Saturday Mr. J. G. Holmes obtained a rule nisi in the case of the Queen against Charles, the Toronto butcher who sold beef at the Brampton fair without a license.

In the slender action of Dobbin v. Cranston Mr. Bigelow, Q.C., for the plaintiff, moved for a new trial. The action arises out of statements made by the defendant respecting the parentage of a child of Mrs. Dobbin, wife of Mr. Dobbin.

In the case of the late Toronto Assizes before Chief Justice Armour and dismissed with costs. Mr. Lount, Q.C., appeared for the defendant and showed cause. The motion for a new trial was dismissed with costs.

Justice MacMahon made an order for the substitution of John Mackintosh of Mealt St. Marie for Thomas John Hawkins, as petitioner against the election of Alexander P. Campbell in East Algoma. J. B. Clarke moved that the date of the trial in the two Algomas be postponed from January until the opening of navigation. His Lordship intimated that the date would be decided upon when such a case came and that in order to that effect would probably issue in a few days. It is therefore almost certain that the trials will not be held until June or July.

Equal to Anything.

"The little scheme I was thinking of proposing," whispered the man in the slouch hat, "is one that has big money in it, but I am afraid I'll think it isn't exactly square. It will shock you a little at first, may be."

"I guess it won't shock me to hear," returned the other, "I've been in politics for ten years, or thereabouts."

And the two were soon deep in the details of the little scheme.

The referee was an Irishman.

Two men disputing about the pronunciation of the word "either"—one saying it was "ether," the other "ither," agreed to refer it to the first person they met, who confounded them both by declaring "it's neither, for its either. A good old Irish lad in the city of Ottawa, recently went to the grocery for some dyes. He told her he kept the right dyes always in stock, and introduced a package of each. The old lady sat down saying, "I want neither of them for either of the boys are bad; give me what they call the Diamond Dye." If all who purchase dye for home-dyeing, were as particular as this old lady, there would certainly be less discomfort in dyeing, and less loss of time and materials. Diamond Dye never fails in its work, and are always reliable and completely satisfactory.

"But, though I suffered from these longings and experienced this envy, you must not think that I neglected my mother or dreamed of any change as regarded my sister or myself. I did not even try to see that sister, though I wasted many hours that should have been spent in sleep, in dreaming over her joys and mentally comparing her situation with my own. The truth is, I could not have found her except by means from which I naturally shrink; for, though my mother had told me she lived in town and was one of the elegant ladies I sometimes saw crowding into the theatre or opera house, she had never told me her name or given me any hint as to what part of the city held her home.

"I was therefore greatly surprised and very much dazzled when one day she said to me that she could not do without a traveling coach for her children; that though she had taken an oath never to intrude upon the child she had given away, that her longing was so great that she was determined not only to see her child, but to reveal to her the relationship in which they stood.

CHAPTER XLIII.

THE DOCTOR'S VISIT.

Some six weeks later Mr. Gryse received the following communication:

"I have been told by my husband of the fearful suspicion which my conduct had given rise to in the minds of the police. I did no wrong to my sister, nor could I have done any, though consequences worse than any I anticipated had followed the disappointment of my return. To convince you of this I write these explanations. I expect from you that just estimate of my character, which is due to the wife of no noble a man as Walter Cameron."

"I was never happy as a girl. Born with an ambitious spirit and a strong taste for all that is elegant and inspiring in life, I not only was persecuted by poverty indulging in any of my numerous aspirations, but was kept back from that culture of my own powers, which is torture to one who feels her capabilities, but is denied all opportunity of exercising them. Then, I had to work, and work hard, and though it was a labor of love, I could not find myself of the feeling that I ought not to be subjected to so many sacrifices; that I was fitted for better things and was in a measure tired upon."

"For I knew that a sister, as like myself that our mother could see no physical difference between us, was in the direct possession of those very things for which my whole soul longed. She had wealth, she had leisure, she had accomplishments, she had love. She rode in a carriage, while I walked clumsily on foot. She entered, as a welcome guest, houses which were palaces of romance to me, as remote and inaccessible as though they were the halcyon days of the gods. And yet her life was my life, her figure my figure; or so my mother had informed me in a moment of confusion that seemed to change my whole nature. How, in that hour which rolled over me of one of her darlings, it had been my little form she had laid nearest to the grasp of the rich lady, and how that lady indeed of taking me had

VIENNA TRAIN MURDER.

TRAGIC SEQUEL TO AN AUSTRIAN ROMANCE.

A Tale of Guilt and Assassination—One of the Most Romantic Stories of Modern Times.

VIENNA, Nov. 24.—The mysterious murder of the two bank messengers while in the first-class carriage on the Vienna mail train is the subject of a conversation to-day. In its details, and in the general atmosphere of romance that surrounds it, it recalls many English readers of the starting incident narrated in the well-known novel, "The Man from Scotland Yard." The victims upon this occasion were two trusted employees of a Viennese bank, and they had been dispatched with 25,000 rubles about 10 o'clock on a special and secret errand to distant city. The reason for this was that such a sum of money is most romantic. Some months since a sensation was caused in local society by the imprisonment of a well-known young man, whose parents were wealthy and through whose veins there flowed a princely blood that emanated from a king and came to him only slightly diluted. One night, from the window of the house, a prominent official in the police, and when the latter reached the house they found the owner holding a young man whom, he said, he had caught in the room, which was his wife's boudoir, with a diamond bracelet in his pocket and a key to the door. The young man was hurried off to prison, and was tried without making any defence, convicted and sentenced to transportation to the most dreaded prison in the kingdom.

Then rumors began to circulate in the newspapers that the real name of the young man was a duplicate of that of one of the highest officials in the Emperor's household, that he was of noble birth and possessed of great wealth. Finally it was declared that the wife of the financier had gone to the Emperor and appealed to him to release the young man, confessing that he was her lover, and on the night when he was arrested was in her boudoir at her invitation, and when her husband was heard entering the house she had gone into an adjoining room, while the young man had hastily opened a bureau drawer and, taking out her jewelry, had awaited the coming of her husband to catch him with it in his possession so that he might be thought a common housebreaker and the night be shielded.

The Emperor heard this tale he at once gave an order for the young man's release. Everything possible was done to suppress the story, and it would probably have succeeded had it not been for the double murder. The money which the messengers were carrying was partly for the purpose of paying the husband, who in such instances is entitled under the local laws to an indemnity, and partly to satisfy obligations incurred by the young man to the prison authorities for luxurious treatment amounting to about 80,000 rubles. The father of the young man is a director of the bank from which the money was taken, and it was he who sent it.

It is known now that two fashionably dressed young men entered the same compartment as that occupied by the messengers, and further that they requested the guard to save them undisturbed until the end of their journey. They were, according to the description of the station officials, very dashing in appearance, dressed in the latest style and had the appearance of possible juvenile conspirators. These two travelers left at Alexanderplatz and no trace of them has since been found. The bodies of the messengers were found beside the track cut, gashed and mutilated. They had been stabbed to death.

Descriptive Fire at London—Loss $200,000. LONDON, Ont., Nov. 24.—The stock of P. Levy, clothier, 155 Dundas-street, was badly damaged by fire and water last night. Mr. Levy's stock is very valuable. He carried a stock of clothing, gentlemen's furnishings, etc., the value of which is estimated at $200,000, and the greater part of it is ruined. An insurance amounts to about $15,000. A bad accident connected with the fire was the fact that the marks invaded the premises of another and no trace of them has since been found of James Smith of the Alden Restaurant, who is lying at the point of death.

Collision on Grand Trunk Railway. BELLVILLE, Nov. 24.—A collision occurred on the Grand Trunk at 4 o'clock this morning in the yards here between an engine and freight train. One engine was damaged, a box car of the freight train, which was loaded with slate, was smashed to shreds and another car was badly wrecked. It was some three hours before the track was clear.

Firework, Creel World. ABBOTSFORD, Nov. 24.—Frank Fabian drowned himself yesterday in a pit pond while insane. Her last words were: "Firework, Creel World."

Full Head from His Chair. CORNWALL, Nov. 24.—Francis White, an old resident, fell down from the chair in which he was seated near the kitchen stove.

SHOT DEAD IN COURT.

A COURT OF JUSTICE TURNED INTO A SLAUGHTER HOUSE.

A Man Charged with Attempted Murder Killed Two Men and Fatally Wounded a Third When Asked to Plead to the Charge With Which He Is Charged.

PANAMA, Nov. 24.—The town of Rivera, Nicaragua, was recently the scene of a terrible tragedy. Thomas Kelly was arraigned in court for trial charged with attempting to murder Dr. Flores. When the charges were read and the accused called upon to plead he stepped four paces to the front, and putting his hand into his inner pocket produced a pistol. "Gentlemen, I know the jury will condemn me, but before being condemned I must get rid of this one."

He then drew a revolver and shot Dr. Flores dead. Gustavo Chalmers, who stood next Dr. Flores, picked up a chair, but almost immediately fell to the ground, being shot through the brain. At this juncture Dr. Flores, an old gentleman, father-in-law of the first victim, who was seated in the gallery, rose to draw the trigger, and the ball passed through Dr. Kelly's mouth, coming out of the back of the neck. He is in a precarious condition, but will probably recover. After shooting Dr. Kelly the prisoner made no further attempt to detain him. Three brothers of the accused were waiting outside the court house. Two of them scoured the streets, while the third remained in the gallery. The animal did not prove of much service. Martine attempted to escape by a street that was in course of repair, but found the road so rough that he was compelled to descend and was on foot. He disappeared for the time being, but remained in the neighborhood for two or three days. He then advised his father's belief that he would be in the vicinity of his father's house at a certain hour and would expect to find an animal ready for him. The officials were advised and captured the man.

LOVED MONEY BETTER THAN LIFE
Singular Story Told in a Chicago Court of Justice.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—A singular story was told in Justice Kelly's court yesterday. It was brought out by the arrest of Adolph Seligman and his wife on the charge of larceny. A quarter of a century ago Frank Clements left his wife and six children in Montreal and went to British Columbia. For a few years his wife heard from him, and small remittances were made to her, but then he disappeared, and all trace of him was lost. The mother moved with the children to New York, and they thought of the father and husband as one who was dead. Last September Clements returned to Montreal. He had been working in the mines of British Columbia and had acquired a competency. His family had gone to New York, as he learned, and he followed and found them. Two months or so he lived with them, and then he was a babe when he had lost some her name to Chicago. Friday night Clements went to bed with $700 in a belt around his body. Two hours later he awoke and the belt was still in place, but the money was gone. His wife, his daughter and Adolph Seligman were all in the house, and Clements believed that one of them had stolen his money. He could not get his wife or daughter to tell him by her father. She said that her father had money, but that he was a miser and will not spend it. "I do not like to talk of one of my parents," she said, "but I have no love for a father who does not love his own child. He has all the characteristics of a miser. Last week he hid $500 in an alley, and of course he lost it. Another time he lost $10. He has not done enough toward the support of his family to be a father. He wanted us to go to Mexico to live on a ranch, but we would not go to that heathenish country."

Struck a Mountain of $500. VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 24.—Louis Victor and a party of Indians have returned from a week's prospecting trip up the North Thompson River. The country around the head waters of the river and the Tete Jaune Cache was covered with a foot of snow. Notwithstanding this impediment to the work of prospecting, they located the mica mines for which they were searching, among the mines three weeks staking out claims. The ledge they located shows 40 feet wide and 50 feet high on the side of the mountain, and indications are that they have struck a mountain of mica. Five samples were secured and brought to town, the largest of which was about 10 x 8 inches surface, and almost as clear as crystal. Some cubes of almost two feet were exposed in places. The mica splits readily to any thickness desired.

There was four feet of snow on the level when the party left the camp for home, and they experienced terrible hardships on the return trip.

Hugger Vassall Assassinated. BARRIE, Nov. 24.—From Bellows, in the Canton of Ticino, comes the news that Signor Luigi Vassall, a member of the Union Liberate, was murdered by a party of men near the town of Riva. The injuries he has received are regarded by the surgeon in attendance as very serious, and grave fears are felt for his life. The crime is believed to have been inspired by a desire for political revenge.

Monte Carlo's Ninety-Sixth Incident. LONDON, Nov. 24.—A clerk named Dubois committed suicide at Monte Carlo to-day after losing all his funds at the gambling tables. This is the 96th suicide at Monte Carlo this season.

The Goethe Statue Washed Away. CARLSBAD, Nov. 24.—The floods have swept away the Goethe statue. The river Riva and Moldau show an alarming rise since yesterday.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The recent heavy rains and the overflow of the rivers have flooded long stretches of the country ship canal and in many places the works have been destroyed. Forty-five hundred acres are idle in consequence of the overflow and at least four months must elapse before they will be able to resume work on the canal.

Reminding the Press. ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 24.—The Government has forbidden the newspapers to publish a petition drawn up by the Jews asking that they be placed on a civil equality with other classes in Russia. An edict to the Ministry of Lands directs that no work in connection with the Government shall be given to Jews outside of the territorial limit assigned to them.

Killed While Working in a Prison. BERLIN, Nov. 24.—The town prison at Wronke, in Prussia, Poland, was the scene of a fatal accident on Saturday. A scaffolding upon which a number of men were at work making repairs suddenly gave way. Two of the men were killed on the spot and 30 were injured, 10 dangerously.

DIGGING THEIR WAY TO LIBERTY.

These Blackville Prisoners Attempt to Regain Their Liberty.

BLACKVILLE, Nov. 24.—Three well-known burglars named Malone, Kane and Kelly, awaiting trial in the county jail here, made a daring attempt to secure their liberty yesterday. They first attempted to pick out the mortar from between the bricks with a brace taken from a closet, and being discovered by Turnkey Downey subsequently endeavored to resume operations with a spoon, but were again detected. About 2 a.m. Jailer White was awakened by a noise in the cell and discovered the men working away with an iron handle from off the ash pall. Kane had torn off part of his white shirt and laid it on the floor on which to lay the mortar drop without making any noise against the wall, and covering the spot where he was working was placed a large table in a slanting direction to the floor. This was intended to deaden the noise also.

A MYSTERY FROM QUEBEC.
A Recently Married Widower Arrested as a Coercer's Witness.

QUEBEC, Nov. 24.—A woman named Baker was found dead in her bed the other day. She was formerly the wife of one Baldwin, who some years ago was nearly roasted to death on a red hot stove by his wife's friends. Shortly afterwards Baldwin died and one of those present at the funeral, one Dick Baker, the accused, was found his wife living with one Douchette, a watchmaker. He left the pair quietly together and is now living in Montreal with his daughter Mollie, who is married to one A. Gagnon, a tavern-keeper. When the woman was notified of the sudden death of the woman, who was 35 years of age, he caused Douchette to be arrested as a witness.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—Prof. Mammy Wright will visit Berlin to investigate Prof. Koch's cure. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Toronto offered to defray all expenses.

An unfortunate woman gave birth to a child near College-street and Spadina-avenue yesterday morning about 6 o'clock. P. C. Hendry, whom the mother had accused, wrapped the mother and infant in his great coat and carried them into Sheppard's livery stable and then summoned Dr. Carveth. They were subsequently conveyed to the hospital.

Mr. Leonard Tilly is in town staying with his brother-in-law, Mr. W. H. Howland, Queen's Park. He is accompanied by Lady Tilly and, though not looking quite so rugged as his friends could wish, is in excellent health, cheerful and deeply interested in passing events. Mr. Howland, when asked how long his guest would remain, said: "As long as we can keep him. If the politicians will only leave him alone he will stay or come home."

Before the Common Pleas Divisional Court yesterday Mr. W. Head in the St. George accident case moved for leave to set the case down for hearing at the present court. Mr. J. B. Laid, Q.C., appeared for the Grand Trunk Railway Company and opposed the motion. The appeal is from the order of Mr. Justice Ross. Leave was given to set the case down as asked.

A motion was yesterday made in the action of McIntyre v. Kelly, in which a Queen-street druggist asks for an injunction to restrain his neighbor, a furrier, from exposing in his doorway a stuffed bear because of its hiding part of the drug store's sign. The defendant has served a third party notice on his landlord and brought him in as a defendant, and the master was asked for directions as to the trial. Judgment was reserved.

In the action of the Barrie Turf Club against W. Chamberlain, an old and experienced merchant of Petrolia, a motion was made to change the venue from Barrie to Petrolia or some other place than Barrie. In the beginning of 1890 the turf club advertised a grand day for the racing of that year, and among the prizes offered was $500 and a gold medal for a 3-year-old filly, the winner to get $150 and a gold medal worth $50. There were in all 17 entries for the race, but when the day came only one filly, "Baby," owned by Chamberlain, appeared for the race. The course was gone over and the money and medal awarded to "Baby" the owner. Shortly after the races it was brought to the knowledge of the club that the filly was in reality a yearling and an action was brought to recover the money and medal. The action was tried at the last Barrie session, when the jury disagreed, and now it is sought to have the case changed to Petrolia. The master reserved judgment.

The master-in-chambers yesterday made an order in the action of Heering v. Heering for interim alimony at the rate of $10 per month. The defendant is a former living partner in the firm of Heering & Co., and in 1872. They have a family of eight children, the oldest being 15 years and the youngest 2 years old. The trouble began in 1888, when the husband began to ill-treat his wife, and his wife began to leave him. He left her and brought the present action for alimony.

Mr. A. MacMurray, acting for the C.P.R. Company, yesterday issued a writ against Albert H. Wheeler of Montreal, to recover two car loads of wheat at the defendant's mill near St. John's. The master in chambers granted an order to repay this grain, which is alleged Wheeler got from the railway company's yard in connection with the bill of lading. There are 450 bushels of good wheat, valued at $600.

Before the Common Pleas Divisional Court an appeal was heard in the case of Standard Bank v. Fried, from the judgment of Chief Justice Armour in favor of the plaintiffs. The action was one to recover the amount of a draft drawn by Dobson & Co. of Chatham on the defendants and accepted by one Irving or them. The defendants contended that Fried had no authority to accept drafts for them, but Judge Armour went against them. The appeal was dismissed with costs.

The case of McLaren v. Inspector and J. v. v. The Globe will be argued before the Common Pleas Divisional Court to-morrow. The appeal in the latter case is from the order of Chief Justice Galt refusing to allow Hurdell to be examined or to allow the plaintiff to put in as evidence an affidavit of his prisoner.

A writ was also issued by Judge, the clerk, against P. R. Smith of Hamilton, for damages and to restrain him from advertising that he is selling "Gough's bankruptcy clock." A short time ago Gough sold a bankrupt stock to a Milton firm, who in turn sold it to Smith, and now he advertises that he is selling "Gough's bankruptcy clock."

A Wise Maid.
"I might remark," said a young man who had met with persistent and repeated refusals, "that you are one of the wisest young women I ever met."

"Why?"
"Because you seem to 'no' everything."

QUEEN WILHELMINA

THE KING IS DEAD; LONG LIVE THE QUEEN!

Parliament will design the Leadership of the Irish Home Rule Party To-day—Nearly One Hundred Members at Monte Carlo this Season.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Queen's speech, which will be read at the opening of Parliament to-morrow, was commended as to its right material discernment. The speech is of unusual brevity. After the customary reference to England's friendly foreign relations, the speech alludes to the negotiations with Portugal relative to Africa, and with Italy concerning East Africa, and yet brought to a successful conclusion. A temporary arrangement with Portugal respecting the Shire River and water ways in the interior paves the way for an eventual treaty.

The hope is expressed that the negotiations now progressing with France concerning the Newfoundland fisheries will soon lead to a satisfactory settlement, and the promise is made that the papers relating to the matter will be laid before Parliament at an early date.

The Queen next alludes to the threatened potato famine in the west of Ireland. Her Majesty expresses regret at the existing condition of affairs, and says she trusts that measures will be taken to mitigate the people's distress.

The speech further says that bills will be introduced relative to land purchase in Ireland which will tend to the redemption of private land legislation for Scotland and extension of local government in Ireland.

If the work of the session permits a bill relative to local government in Ireland will also be introduced.

Among minor measures to be submitted are bills relating to the liability of employers and to friendly societies and saving banks.

Parliament to be Dissolved. LONDON, Nov. 24.—It is learned that after the verdict had been rendered in the O'Brien case the Conservative held a private conference at the Carlton Club and unanimously decided that Parliament should immediately be dissolved.

Parliament will Retire. LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Star, the Home Rule paper in England, says it has received information that Parliament will retire from the leadership of the Irish Nationalists.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—It is stated this evening upon excellent authority that at the meeting of Nationalist members of the Commons to be held to-morrow before the opening of Parliament Mr. Parrell will announce his retirement from the leadership of the Irish party.

Mr. Davis in a speech to-night said he believed Mr. Parrell would to-morrow prove himself a greater patriot than his cousin by marriage, but by taking a course that would minimize the danger to autonomy for Ireland.

The King is Dead, Long Live the Queen! THE HAGUE, Nov. 24.—Queen Regent Beatrix has issued a proclamation designating Princess Wilhelmina Queen of the Netherlands. The Queen Regent says: May her throne find the solid support, fidelity and devotion of her people. I accept the regency during her minority, confiding in God, and praying that my task shall be so fulfilled as to secure the welfare of the country and the consolidation of the kingdom.

Another child thus becomes the wearer of a crown. The name of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland must now be added to that of King Alfonso XIII. of Spain and the King of Serbia, forming the trio of Europe's baby royalty. The little Queen, the eldest son, completed her tenth year, having been born Aug. 31, 1880. Young as she is, the question of her marriage has already been discussed.

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st Oct. in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date to avoid the advance in duty. We have two ranges at $1.00 and $1.25 in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta, some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us and we also do so to our customers.

avoided reference to some important matters. Was the House to understand that there existed nothing in the difference with the United States regarding Barington that was likely to interfere with the continued existence of the friendly relations with their Irish and his across the Atlantic?

Ought certain events in the Turkish Empire—events that had made a deep impression upon the mind and heart of the country—to be treated with silence? Although he did not expect to find in the House from the Throne any reference to political statements that had been made regarding the Bala relief expedition, he desired to know whether the members of the Government towards the expedition had been made such as to make it the duty of the Ministry to take steps to ascertain what truth there was in statements that complained the reputation of the British people for humanity. Referring to Ireland Mr. Gladstone said it was unfortunate that the Government were not content with leaving the question of the improvement of the condition of the country, but likewise thought it necessary to congratulate themselves about the extent of the improvement.

When the members of the Opposition were bound to appear during the last of the session which had been as a postscript to the speech placed the Government in a position of no responsibility regarding them. They were told the Ministry had prepared a bill proposing local government for Ireland. Would that country's welfare satisfy the country? Mr. Gladstone said he would wait patiently upon the convenience of the Government in order to learn how they intended to deal with the greatest question of the day, "What is the hour?"

Mr. Gladstone's speech was warmly received. Mr. Smith, replying to Mr. Gladstone, declared that the Government had the strong hope that the Barington negotiations would prove successful. He knew no reason for apprehending difficulty in connection with the matter. The Government sympathized with the persecuted people of the Turkish empire and took their course were practicable to assist their suffering. In regard to the Bala relief expedition the Government had no right to institute an enquiry, as the expedition was a purely voluntary undertaking. Regarding the distress in Ireland ample measures would be taken to meet the trouble and care for the people in every district. They were told Mr. Morley indicated that he would introduce a motion concerning recent events in Tipperary and Mr. Smith promised that an opportunity would be given for a full discussion of the subject.

After a few minor matters had been spoken the address was agreed to. This is the first time in 15 years that the address has been agreed to on the day of the opening of Parliament.

House of Lords.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—In the House of Lords this evening Baron Windsor, Conservative, moved for an address in reply to the speech from the Throne.

Baron Ardilaun (Conservative) seconded the motion. The latter as an Irish landlord announced the amendment frequently made that the landlords desired to sell the land and supported the land bill because they wished to pocket the plunder. Many landlords, he said, would doubtless be compelled to leave the country unless they were enabled to sell their land, but as a class they desired to live in Ireland.

Earl Granville, Liberal, congratulated the Government on its being able to report prospects of permanent peace. He said Lord Salisbury then spoke. He declared the foreign affairs of the country with prudence. Though all reference to the new American tariff law had been avoided in the speech from the Throne, he said the House of Commons would be the standard taken by the Americans in favor of prohibition, which he asserted would give rise to an enormous amount of smuggling and other evils to the American people. England would be compensated in the increase in trade with Africa and the colonies. The reaction in America would operate upon European opinion as a warning against prohibitive tariffs. He asked the Government to state what action the Government had taken in regard to the recent financial crisis and what attitude it would assume with reference to the Stanley expedition and the blunders of the Tipperary proclamation.

Lord Salisbury then spoke. He would not say England's trade with Africa and the colonies would immediately compensate her for the loss caused by the new American tariff, but he would be a motive for preventing territory in Africa from falling into the hands of nations enervating prohibition. It was lamentably true, he said, that the colonies did not follow the motherland in Free Trade, yet was a fact that the trade of Australia increased faster than elsewhere. The Premier said he could not now discuss the financial crisis, as negotiations in progress were of a confidential character. As to the troubles at Tipperary, he said the Government had a combination there aimed at defrauding, oppressing and robbing honest traders and the task of restoring prosperity to Ireland would be the hope, unless the law was enforced and each consequence was destroyed. He approved Mr. Balfour's denunciation of Mr. Morley. The Government, he said, had firmly pursued its object of increasing the number of persons interested in land in Ireland, and this creating a moral and political force which would frustrate the efforts of political agitators. (Cheers.)

LETTER FROM GLADSTONE

HE CALLS UPON PARNELL TO RESIGN.

Another Meeting of Nationalist Members to Be Held To-day—Intense Excitement Over the Present Phase of the Case.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A meeting of the Irish Home Rulers was held to-day before the opening of the session of the House of Commons. Mr. Parnell was present. He was loudly cheered as he entered the room. A motion was made that Mr. Parnell be re-elected chairman of the Irish Parliamentary party. It was carried unanimously. It is announced that Mr. Parnell will retain the leadership of the extreme desire of his followers.

Mr. Parnell made an address, in which he thanked his followers for his re-election. He said it was for the first time since 1873 that he had been elected to the position of leader of the party. He said he would cheerfully have withdrawn from public life, but that the conviction that his colleagues desired to still support his services in the common cause induced him to resume a position which, under his altered circumstances, exposed him, and then through him, to attacks of their opponents.

LAW OF THE GREAT JUDGE

THIRD DAY OF THE MISSION AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

An Address by Rev. Prof. DeVernon on the Holy Law by which we are to be judged.

The Ten Commandments and Their Observance—Knowledge is Power.

The services in connection with the mission in St. John's church were characterized yesterday by the same impressive and earnestness which has marked them from the opening meeting on Monday.

Yesterday afternoon the service at four o'clock was well attended and Rev. Prof. DeVernon's able address was listened to with great attention. In the evening the church was again filled. The Missioner conducted the service and its address.

OFFERING HIS ADDRESS.

As is his custom, referred to the subject of the night before. He said: "Last evening we considered together the character of the Lord our Judge. We saw that He was a Judge ever holy and just, impartial and uncorruptible. Let us go further this evening and consider together His holy law by which we are to be judged. In the third chapter of the Epistle to the Romans and the twelfth verse we read:—

"By the law is the knowledge of sin"; or as it is in the Revised Version: "Through the law cometh the knowledge of sin."

The rev. gentleman said there was an old saying that knowledge was power, and how true it was. Every language mastered, every science studied, every art learned gave them fresh power, and power which they could not have but for the knowledge.

The lawyer, the merchant, or the mechanic needed to have a practical knowledge of his work, and just in proportion to his knowledge and his use would be his power and success in life. They must have a knowledge of sin and guilt. The knowledge that would come to them would be that which would not wish them to have a knowledge of sin, for that must be a knowledge of the sin of others. Their hearts were beat enough and if they had poured into them a knowledge of the sin of others it would be a fruitful source of evil and much undesirable. But they could not know God, they could not know Him as a personal Saviour, unless they knew their personal sin. They could not know the power of the atoning blood of Jesus unless they had seen their own corruption. Very truly Christ to many of them was an empty name, an historical person dead and buried in the great oblivion of the past and not a living personal Saviour, and the service became a meaningless phrase and not a blessed, life-giving reality. Many asked: "Why do I not know God? Why is He not revealed to me as to others?" The reason was because they did not know themselves.

They had not been aroused to a knowledge of God derived from a knowledge of self-sin. How would this knowledge of sinfulness come to them? The text answered the question. "Through the law cometh the knowledge of sin." The law served a twofold purpose. After they came to the knowledge of God and His love, the law was a revelation of the Holy Father, with the ten commandments as sign posts pointing out the path to God. But before they were reconciled to God through Jesus Christ, the great purpose of the law was to stop every mouth. He would speak kindly to those who needed a knowledge of self-sin as a first step to a knowledge of Christ and salvation. Look into the character of God as into a great mirror and they would not look as beautiful as they had. They would see themselves stained all over with sin, the transgression of His holy law. The missioners then took up the ten commandments and asked his congregation what was their position as to the observance of each. The Lord had said, "Thou shalt have no other God before Me." Had they no other? What power most of their attention, or what was the greatest object of their devotion? Was it some favorite business, scheme or sport, or, if a parent, was it some dear child? They should search and see. The thing might be perfectly correct in itself, but if it stood between them and God, it was wrong. Next he asked: "What about God's name? Was it hallowed? Was the name of Jesus enshrined in their hearts as the most precious heritage, or was it spoken lightly and were they ashamed to confess it openly? If so God would not hold them guiltless." Six days shall labor." What about this? Were they living trifling away earnest moments? If so they were violating one of the commandments of God. An aimless, listless, idle life was forbidden in every case, either young or old, rich or poor. Six days shall thou labor." Was the written law of God stamped upon the very constitution of man. Next he asked if they kept holy the Sabbath day. There was no doubt that one object of the Sabbath was to give rest, but they should never forget, as was often done in this age, that the great purpose of the Sabbath was to keep the law before them and to awaken in the hearts of men a consciousness of God, and just in proportion as this consciousness died out in the hearts of men did they become less conscientious in their dealings with their fellows. On the Word and the Day of the Lord rested the property of the individual and the nation, and anything that struck at either the Word or the Day of the Lord struck at the heart of the nation. Next he asked if they honored their father and mother, and then he enquired about the various and various thoughts they had concerning others, the untruthful things said of others, and the property or money held in trust. He told them to search and see where they were. In closing, he said it might be that some could not think of any one sin in particular, yet who felt their own unworthiness. It mattered not as long as the law fulfilled its purpose and brought them to a sense of their sin. He impressed upon them the necessity of a knowledge of their sin, and then the law as a schoolmaster or faithful attendant would lead them to Christ.

Before the meeting closed an invitation was extended to any in difficulty or doubt to remain and consult with the missioner or if they desired to engage in prayer for others.

This evening another address in the church on "The Way of Salvation" will be delivered.

Out of Darkness into Light.

This is the suggestive title of Joe Hess' autobiography, a neatly printed and ably bound work of over two hundred pages. In it Mr. Hess tells in his own story, of his early years, his fall into wicked ways and his life as a brackman, prize fighter, cowboy on the plains, saloon keeper, etc. The facts of this part of his life are related as a warning to young men to avoid evil ways. The greater part of the book is devoted to the last five years of his life—his reformation, disengagement and triumphs. Mr. Hess, at whose meetings Joe Hess signed the pledge, contributes an introduction and a portrait of Mr. Hess.

The illustrations are very good. The book is interesting reading throughout, and as it is brought down to a late date Joe Hess of his first visit to Peterborough. Mr. G. H. Brown is agent for the sale of the work in this district.

Dry Goods Store At TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st Oct. in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders were placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now, but they have come at last and open out beautiful. We have two ranges at $7.00 and $1.25 in Black, Green, Blue, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta, some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better and are much heavier. We have quantities of desirable Goods in Men's Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that Turnbull's is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit. Although early in the season, our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of Remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on the counters. They are desirable goods and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12 1/2c a yd. Also a fresh lot of Flannellettes at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

Dry Goods News At TURNBULL'S

KID GLOVES! KID GLOVES!!

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st Oct. in the United States, all the Kid Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders were placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now, but they have come at last and open out beautiful. We have two ranges at $1.00 and $1.25 in Blacks, Greens, Blues, Mahogany, Tan, Brown and Terra Cotta, some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable Goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that Turnbull's is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit. Although early in the season, our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of Remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on the counters. They are desirable goods and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12 1/2 yds. a yd. Also a fresh lot of Flannelette at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

New Dress Goods

THOMAS KELLY'S.

You should not miss Dress Goods in every color and quality. French, German and English. Black, Blue, Green, Red, Tan, Brown, Terra Cotta, some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed Dress Goods the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable Goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that Turnbull's is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit. Although early in the season, our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of Remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on the counters. They are desirable goods and worth remembering.

Opened out this week a job line of Dress Goods, 12 1/2 yds. a yd. Also a fresh lot of Flannelette at 8c.

We claim to have the best line 5c. Grey Cotton in the country. All other Cottons proportionate value.

TAKE CARE OF BEAUTY.

IT IS A TREASURE TOO RICH TO BE

Forty of Mind, 40 of Beauty, and 40 of Wealth. The first two are the only ones that can be lost, and the last one is the only one that can be gained.

Take care of your beauty. Preserve it. Improve it. It is the only thing that you can take with you when you leave this world. It is the only thing that will make you a success in life.

Whether man or woman, no one has a right to grow ugly. Nature was kind enough to give every one a face, and it is our duty to keep it as good as possible. It is the only thing that will make you a success in life.

The beautiful are never despised. For even an old woman loves them—God does.

BOCAVEON BUDGET.

A Serious Accident—Unpleasant Results of the Consequences of the Budget.

The Budget—The risk opened here on Friday evening last, and as it was the current night, the "stake" pushed might be seen making their way to the top of the house in hand, to take part in the much loved game, for the first time since the Budget was passed.

Accident—Mr. Henry Dunn was starting home from work on last Monday evening, driving a very spirited cab to a house on a main road just east of the city, when he was struck by a car, and the driver, who was a man of the name of Dunn, was killed.

Medical aid was summoned and he was restored, when it was found that no bones were broken. We hope to see Mr. Dunn again soon.

Recovery—The Empire revived the story of the accident to write an essay on "The Patriotic Influence of the Budget on the Soldier." It was a very good essay, and the soldier in the last essay in each country would win a prize.

The first meeting of the Budget Committee of the House of Commons was held on Friday evening last, and the Budget was passed.

PERFIDY BROKE HIS HEART.

Missing Millionaire Campbell Had Lost
Half a Million in Chicago Casino.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—The day after Thanggiving Benjamin H. Campbell, a millionaire, disappeared and has not been heard of since. Yesterday the Chicago Safe and Lock Company advised that it was discovered that Mr. Campbell had sunk nearly $500,000 in the enterprise. He paid its losses out of his pocket and it is fanned this drove him to suicide.

H. B. Gibson, the late manager of the company, made some serious charges to-day against the former manager, U. M. Briscoe, saying that the latter had so manipulated the affairs of the company as to result in a profit of not less than $30,000 to himself and the consequent loss of that amount to the company.

Mr. Gibson said:
"When Briscoe's mismanagement was first discovered it was like a shaft of lightning from a clear sky to Mr. Campbell, but it was all kept quiet. Briscoe had had full swing. If he wasted $30,000 he would simply tell Mr. Campbell, and the latter would make out a check. He trusted him absolutely and when he discovered the real facts it broke his heart. This went on until Mr. Campbell had put over $500,000 into the concern. The company was capitalized at $200,000, so it owed Mr. Campbell about $300,000 when the crash came."

Mr. Gibson says Mr. Campbell suffered untold humiliation because of the situation of affairs, but, being proud and high spirited, he packed the losses and did not have Briscoe arrested.

At the offices of the company it was said
Briscoe would probably be arrested.

It is to be expected.

Mr. Campbell is a queer thing, Briscoe. I've been all day searching the stores for an eccentric, and I don't think there's one in town. I heard Mr. Campbell say that the Millionaire had about their unvarnished eccentricities, and I don't think I'll have an eccentric if I have to send to Yarrup for it, and what's more, I'll have a varnished one, too.—American.

Telegraphic Taps.
Over 200 splinters, crevices and pieces in the Clark thread mill at Kearney, N.J., struck yesterday. The strike will cause a total stoppage of work in the mill, involving 300 hands out of work. The alleged cause of the strike is the superintendent's disposition.

James A. Henderson, Q.C., LL.D., of Kingston, died in that city last evening of Bright's disease and about the same time his 30-year-old grandson, Walter C. A. Wilson, eldest son of R. T. Wilson, Q.C., passed away. Dr. Henderson had been suffering for two years with the disease. He was an excellent lawyer, and for many years occupied the position of master in over all the property belonging to the estate of W. J. Davidson, amounting to about 70-000 acres, and paying therefor $100,000 in cash.

Owing to the McKinley Bill, which took effect on the 1st Oct.

in the United States, all the Kid

Gloves that European manufacturers could make were shipped there before that date to avoid the advance in duty. This being the case, the large orders we placed with French and Austrian manufacturers' agents several months ago were not filled until now, but they have come at last and open out beautiful. We have two ranges at $1.00 and

$1.25 in Blacks, Greens, Blues,

Mahogany, Tan, Brown and

Terra Cotta, some very scarce shades. Every pair is warranted to us and we also do so to our customers.

Remember the Scotch Tweed

Dress Goods the same price as Meltons. They wear and wash better and are much heavier.

We have quantities of desirable Goods in Mantle Cloths now on display. It has become a household word that Turnbull's is the right house for Ladies' and Children's Mantles. Every Mantle turned out guaranteed a perfect fit. Although early in the season, our Tweeds and Suitings have gone out so rapidly that it has left us with a lot of Remnants suitable for Pants and Boys' Clothing which we have marked down to remnant prices and put out on the counters.

They are desirable goods and worth remembering.

looked as if he had been through a great deal of trouble. He was very nervous and looked as if he was very much distressed.

A DOOR KEY MARRIAGE.

Mr. H. L. Bays' Story in the Detroit Free Press.

"Come over to the church in half an hour,"

Myra. A single eye to be married. It may mean you are one of our provincial eccentrics.

My grandfather was a rural dean near

Pett Oolier, or as they called it in the vernacular, petticoat-and-jacket, and it was hard to imagine a simpler life, or one more remote from the fashion which punts away. The little stone church was old and picturesque, and the people who worshipped there were as quaint and original as if they had stepped out of another century.

When I reached the church the wedding-party had already arrived. It consisted of the party themselves, as much as was worn

Adam and Eve at their bridal in Eden. They had arrived on horseback, and the celebration at midnight was held over a flaming white sheet, which made them look like ghosts in the twilight—were hovering about among the gravestones, disturbing nothing but the long tangled grass and the ever-brown trees that grew wild there. I hurried past them into the vestry, where the dean was struggling into his white gown.

"You can be my circle for this occasion,"

he said, as I peeped in at the door. "You will be needed for a witness and bridesmaid,

to assist with the ring."

I walked up the aisle of the little chapel and out into one of the high-backed pews and tried to keep my mind from wandering to the other side of the aisle. Not young,

and both were hard, of the humblest rustic type. The woman, brown

as a berry, wore a severe muslin dress that was coarse and badly made. A string of beads and a white collar with very wide sleeves. Both were white as the driven and as their hands were innocent the effect was almost grotesque. Their faces expressed honesty and a certain rule of mind, of what other people might think. They clutched hands as if they were determined that no power on earth should separate them at this crisis.

After they had been introduced where to stand, they took their places, the bride standing on the left and the bridegroom on

There was a horse back at the door, on which the bride mounted with her arms hooked up about her. Only one horse with its flapping bridal accoutrements was in sight.

"Richard!" exclaimed the new wife,

where's my best?"

Richard had taken off his white gloves and was sitting on the ground, his hands clasped in prayer. "The best," he said, "is the best of the best."

It was now found,

and after we had shaken hands with the two and wished them joy, the queer pair rode off in due style.

When my grandfather opened the parlor

he found the soft, silky skin of a dove nest—a precisely fair from such a source

"TRAILS OF ANIMALS."

Some Really Strange Cases Talked About

In Harper's.

Do dogs hate butchers? This question was asked in an extended manner a number of years ago in Harper's, and the general consensus of opinion was, to put it mildly, that there was want of confidence exhibited on the part of dogs in their testimony with butchers as general. The sight of beef displayed on the counter-tops could, however, not have been more of a hindrance to the dog's sense of the smell of the ribs and broths, for the dog is not a dog of the dog.

Remembering this, as would Professor

Remond, who has been primarily the particular small of the butcher which was detached to the animal, as a consequence of the dog's sense of smell, and as a consequence of the

dog's sense of smell, and as a consequence of the

dog's sense of smell, and as a consequence of the

dog's sense of smell, and as a consequence of the

dog's sense of smell, and as a consequence of the

THE NATIONALIST TRAIN.

It is a pity that Mr. O'Brien should have been so unfortunate in his attempt to win the Nationalist train.

It is a pity that Mr. O'Brien should have been so unfortunate in his attempt to win the Nationalist train. He has no more authority to propose the resignation of Mr. O'Brien than he has to propose the abdication of the Queen. Mr. O'Brien has been lawfully elected. The question is not whether he is a good man or not, but whether he is a good man for the position.

The Standard says the present intention of the two Irish parties is to get on as well as they can. It is a pity that Mr. O'Brien should have been so unfortunate in his attempt to win the Nationalist train.

Shocking Tragedy in Essex.

London, Eng., Jan. 8.—A terrible tragedy has been discovered in Essex, a village between the counties of the Blackwater and the Colne. The victim is a farmer named Joseph Leathbridge, who for many years has been a member of the Nationalist train.

Among the nameless heroes, none are more worthy of martyrdom than he who rode down the valley of the Conemaugh, warning the people ahead of the Johnstown flood. Mounted on a powerful horse, faster and faster went the rider, but the flood was swiftly gaining, until it caught the un-lucky horseman and swept on, grinding, crushing, annihilating both weak and strong.

The death of Joseph Leathbridge is a tragedy. It is a pity that Mr. O'Brien should have been so unfortunate in his attempt to win the Nationalist train.

London, Jan. 8.—Prof. Virchow delivered a lecture before the Royal Medical Society, giving the results of 21 post mortem examinations made on bodies of patients who died after being treated with lymph according to the Koch method.

London, Jan. 8.—A thoughtful despatch says that the Chinese Imperial authorities, at the instance of the foreign ministers, are bringing to justice the murderers of Christians in Szechuan. The despatcher has both his arm cut off and was exposed in a cage for three days without food, when he died.

Massacre in New Guinea Villages Limited and rescue of People Killed—Trouble in East African English Residents in a Critical Condition—Mayor went to Jail.

BARBARA, Australia, Jan. 9.—Advice from New Guinea says the Tugara, the head hunting tribe of the island, attacked a village and during the raid, massacred 40 inhabitants and looted a large number of residences. The tribe threaten to attack some villages near the government post, held under command of Magistrate Cameron, who has charge of the western district. A force of armed constables has been sent to the assistance of Cameron, who has received orders to act on the defensive.

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—The Berliner Tageblatt has received information from East Africa that the natives of Lamu have risen against the settlers, having been incited by Bakari, the deposed Sultan of Vitu. The British Consul has asked the Sultan of Zanzibar to send troops to the scene, as the position of the English inhabitants is very critical.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—At Dragunoff's today at the trial of Ex-Mayor Fouroux of Tonkin for conspiracy to procure a criminal operation, the jury, after a long deliberation, acquitted him of all responsibility for the crime. He said his client had yielded herself to the power of a better man, and that he was not responsible for it. M. Fouroux was now a wife without a home and had been in prison for nearly a year.

During the day a serious tumult was created by the rough efforts of a crowd of men to break through the already crowded entrance to the theatre. Several persons were killed and many more seriously injured.

The jury, after deliberating nearly three hours, found all the accused guilty. The court then sentenced the accused to various terms of imprisonment. The accused, M. Fouroux, was sentenced to two years and six months imprisonment. Mayor Fouroux was sentenced to solitary confinement for five years. The sentence created a profound impression on the lageons crowd in court. The prisoners were removed.

THEY CALLED IN DEATH.

TRAGIC DOUBLE SUICIDE OF A NEW YORK COUPLE.

Three Awaiting the End and Two Old to Work Their Way Out—A Pathetic Letter Left by the Aged Husband.

New York, Jan. 13.—The true story of the simultaneous death of Charles Thielke and his wife Augusta will never be written. He was 70 years old and she not much younger. All that is definitely known is that yesterday about noon the neighbors, becoming alarmed at the continuance of the silence that had reigned for three days around the house of the old people, at No. 30 Thirtieth-st., Jersey City, called a policeman to break open the door.

The policeman and the neighbors looked through a chink in the door, and found the old man lying upon the dresser, close to a basket of potatoes and a few leaves of bread. The cooking stove was choked with ashes several days old. The sleeping room had been used as a kitchen, and the old man had been lying upon the floor, close to a basket of potatoes and a few leaves of bread. The policeman and the neighbors looked through a chink in the door, and found the old man lying upon the dresser, close to a basket of potatoes and a few leaves of bread.

The old man was wearing a dressing-gown over a clean white shirt and black trousers. The rooming chair in which he was seated was tipped back, as if for comfort. Upon a bed on the opposite side of the room, the body of Augusta Thielke lay, her head resting on a pillow, and her arms crossed over her chest. The old man was wearing a dressing-gown over a clean white shirt and black trousers.

MR. BLAINE INTERVIEWED.

HE KNEW ALL ABOUT THE BEHRING SEA MOVE.

At Least That is What He Told in Report of the Interviewed Him by John Thompson says the Action was Taken With Her Majesty's Advice.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—In an interview held with Secretary Blaine after the proceedings today in the Supreme Court, the Secretary said he had known for some time that judicial proceedings were in contemplation, though not aware of the precise form or direction they would take. He said:

"This is something that has been threatened for some time and of which I have been quite aware. I have therefore no surprise to me, as I had anticipated it. I have nothing whatever to say on the subject now, except that I shall probably have something to say officially later, and so I do not think it best to talk for publication at this time. You may say, however, that the department is not taken unawares."

"Do you care to say whether or not this case in the Supreme Court will have the effect of transferring the scene of the controversy from your department to the court?"

The Secretary smiled a deep, meaning smile, and picked up a newspaper that lay on his desk.

"I would prefer to remain quiet on that subject just now," he said. "There will be something official to say later on. I can say that this is no coup on the part of the British Government in the least. (Good morning.)"

With Her Majesty's Approval.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—John Thompson, Minister of Justice, in an interview to-day said the application by the owners of the Canadian fishing vessel W. P. Hayward to the United States Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition was undertaken with the cooperation of the Canadian Government and the full approval of Her Majesty's Government.

If the application is granted the United States will be asked to exclude the vessels of other countries from fishing in the Bering Sea.

SCHOOLS OF THE TOWN.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION IN REGULAR SESSION.

The Inspector's Semi-Annual Report—Appointments—Other Business.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last night.

Present: Messrs. McCreesh (Chairman), Dunbar, Buchanan, English, Boucher, McKee, Hanna, Ferguson, Hamilton, Kennedy and Wrightson.

THE INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The following report from the Inspector was read:

Overman:—I herewith submit for your consideration the 18th semi-annual report, on the condition of your public schools for the half year ending the 31st day of December, 1890.

Order:—The order in the various rooms, so far as it came under my notice at the time of my visit, was very good, and the outside order, both at the Central and at the ward schools, was satisfactory.

Classification:—In future there will be one entrance examination to the Central and one to the ward schools. This will facilitate some slight modification of the classification of the schools. The entrance examination must in future be made mainly but once a year, at the time of the entrance examinations in July.

Mr. Smith:—At present there are twenty in attendance in Mr. Smith's class, a number much too large for one teacher. There are three Junior Fourth classes from which promotions are made into this room. The difficulty is to get the results of the examination in time to do so.

Mr. Smith:—The order in the various rooms, so far as it came under my notice at the time of my visit, was very good, and the outside order, both at the Central and at the ward schools, was satisfactory.

Personal Liberty.

Physical Slavery.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from scurvy, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which cleanses the blood of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.

ANOTHER OLD SETTLER GONE.

Death of Mr. Wm. Smith, an Early Settler of North Monaghan.

During the past few months the deaths of several of the old residents of this vicinity have been announced, and now another of the first settlers in North Monaghan has been gathered to his fathers in the person of Mr. Wm. Smith, who for over half a century lived on lot 22, in the 16th concession of North Monaghan. He came to this place in 1820, and settled on the place when it was a wild forest. By perseverance and industry he cleared his land and became a prosperous farmer. He lived on this farm until a few months ago, when he went to reside with Mr. Bobt. Alexander, of Cavan, his son-in-law, at whose residence he died on Monday morning. He was a remarkably robust man, never having known what sickness was, and his death was a personal one resulting from old age.

Mr. Smith was born in County Fermanagh, Ireland, in 1795, being 95 years of age when he died. In 1838 he came to this country and settled on lot 22, 16th concession of North Monaghan, and as stated, resided on this farm until a few months ago. He had a family of six, two sons and four daughters, all of whom, together with his wife, preceded him to the unknown land with the exception of two daughters, Mrs. Bobt. Alexander, of Cavan, and Miss Margaret Smith, who resides with her sister in Cavan. The deceased was a staunch Conservative in politics and a faithful and consistent member of the Presbyterian Church. A man of ever-ready industry and untiring character, he was widely known and universally respected throughout the township where he resided and among his many acquaintances in the town and county.

The funeral took place at twelve o'clock today from his son-in-law's residence in Cavan to the Little Lake Cemetery.

"Hickmott," a lasting and integral part of the town, died on Friday, Jan. 10, at his residence, 25 and 26 Centre St., of Cholera, Druggist, Peterborough.

Personal.

Mr. John Armstrong, one of Lindsay's newly elected Councilors, was in town today.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S TROUBLE.

Mr. Charles Dike thinks the colony will take the law in their own hands.

PARA, Jan. 13.—Mr. Charles Dike, who is at present residing in this city, in an interview to-day, published by L'Esclair, in regard to Newfoundland matters, says that he thought that, apart from the lobster question, the great difficulty lay in the impossibility to reconcile French treaty rights with the development of Newfoundland. The entire territory belonged to the colony, yet they could not exercise the rights of sovereignty. The colonies, he said, unable to obtain a settlement of the matters in dispute, would some day certainly take the law in their own hands.

During the coming spring, according to Mr. Charles Dike, there would probably be an exchange between the crews of the French ships and the colonies. It was essential, therefore, to immediately discover ground for an agreement.

Baron Laurin of the Senate, during the course of an interview, stated that he had learned from M. Ribot, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, that the French Government had decided to accept territorial compensation only for the cession to Great Britain of the French shore of Newfoundland.

M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has informed Lord Lytton, the British Ambassador, that France will not accept any compensation for her fishery rights in Newfoundland that she does not consider to be their full equivalent. Nothing of that nature had yet been offered her. It was for England to say what she could give. Money would not be accepted.

AN AWFUL AVALANCHE.

Seventeen Dead Bodies Removed From the Ruins—Many Injured Persons.

VIENNA, Jan. 13.—A terrible disaster of a serious character which has occurred at Livno in Bosnia. An avalanche crashed down from the mountains near that place, destroying a number of houses, some of which were buried out of sight beneath the snow. As soon as rescuing parties could get to work the removal of the immense weight of snow was begun. The calamity is believed to have been so serious that some 17 dead bodies have been removed from the ruins. In addition to the dead a number of persons severely injured have been extricated from the ruins.

THE ANTI-SEMITIC LAWS.

The Car Orders Their Suspension For Three Years.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Times' Paris correspondent says: A friend from Russia informs me that on M. Nishnegradskii, Russian Minister of Finance, representing that it was impossible to quarrel with the Jews because such a course would offend Jewish bankers, the Car ordered the application of the anti-Semitic laws to be suspended for three years.

PADEWSKI'S CAPTURE.

He Tells How He Escaped the Swarm of Secretive Men on His Train.

MADRID, Jan. 13.—It is stated that the man arrested, and said to be Padewski, admits that he committed the murder, adding that it was for a "political object." He says that he failed in his plan to embark for the United States at Barcelona owing to the passport regulations being so strictly enforced at that port. Consequently, the prisoner says, he returned to Madrid, where he would be safe, owing to the absence of railway communication with that town. He claims that he was betrayed to the police by a customs officer who represented himself as being a member of the society. The prisoner is perfectly calm and collected.

During the course of an interview at Olot he described the journey from Dijon to Madrid, and how he was betrayed to the police by a customs officer who represented himself as being a member of the society. The prisoner is perfectly calm and collected.

COMMISSIONER ADAM BROWN.

He Will Leave This Evening For the Province.

HAMILTON, Jan. 13.—Adam Brown, M.P., honorary commissioner to the Jamaica exhibition, will leave for New York to-morrow evening, and will be in Kingston, Jamaica, next Friday on the steamer "Hondo," arriving at Kingston four or five days before the opening of the exhibition on Jan. 27. The commissioner, who is leaving for the last moment, as he is returning to his home in Tampa, Fla., Mr. Brown has just received word from the superintendent of the Canadian exhibition that all the space allotted to the Canadian exhibits had been taken up, but that he was pressing for more space, which would probably be granted. The exhibits which should have been sent from Halifax on Jan. 1, but which was cancelled, will be carried on the steamer that will leave Halifax on Thursday, and will reach Kingston in time to be placed in position. The superintendent will be waiting for these exhibits, and will have day and night gangs at work to take them from the steamer to the exhibition grounds. Mr. Brown seems yet in daily receipt of letters and telegrams from persons in various parts of the country who wish to send goods for exhibition, but it is too late now to attempt to enter any more.

FRIENDS OF THE FALLEN

THE SOCIAL REFORM MOVEMENT OF THE SALVATION ARMY.

Picture of Wm. and Mary-Fallen Women and Men to be Cared For Prisoners met on the Gate of the Prison with a friendly greeting and given a chance in life.

There are dark pictures in every day life to be found all over the world, pictures which, if they could be properly shown before the gaze of the public, would turn many a miserly heart into one of philanthropy and pity and open the purses of these people resting contentedly in the lap of luxury. Such pictures are to be heard depicted in words, not always grammatically correct, at the Salvation Army barracks not only in Peterborough but throughout the world where the blood and fire banner of the Army is the order of the day.

—A "great social reform demonstration" was held in the Army temple on Hunter-st. and at this meeting some of these dark, gloomy and pitiful pictures were shown to the public, who were engaged in the social reform branch of the Army work and who are constantly coming in contact with those who have been experiencing the oblation of the seamy side of life.

Commissioner Adams, accompanied by Col. Knox, a Baptist Bishop, Capt. Healy and others, were present and addressed the meeting on the social reform movement.

The soldiers gallery was filled with helmeted men, while a peaceful woman was seen to speak of darkest England with singing, and it was singing in earnest.
The soldiers sang and clapped their hands as they exercised their lungs to their fullest capacity, while Commissioner Adams and Col. Knox played accompaniments on harmonium and piano. A young male alto girl, picked the guitar, with good effect. It was an enthusiastic opening and the choruses sounded well. Lieut.
Lee sang several songs in a rather pleasing voice, accompanying himself on the guitar.
"Sharp and red-hot" testimonials were given, after which the addresses were given on the social reform movement.

Commissioner Adams, who is a stalwart officer with a powerful voice and pleasing manner of speaking, spoke in earnest and interesting address, outlining the work the Army was doing towards social reform.
He referred to General Booth's scheme the principle moving throughout which was that of relieving the poor and the sick, and a young male alto girl, picked the guitar, with good effect. It was an enthusiastic opening and the choruses sounded well. Lieut.
Lee sang several songs in a rather pleasing voice, accompanying himself on the guitar.

THE BUSINESS TAX.

As the business tax is a new thing, the Act regarding it having only come into force on January 1st, it is not surprising that it is not generally understood. Yet it seems, in its main features, very plain, although when the details come to be worked out some difficulties may arise. Briefly stated, the business tax is the addition of the personal property tax, in respect to all personal property belonging to a merchant, to the tax on the value of the stock he carries. If it should be adopted here, for instance, the stock carried by the merchants would no longer be taxed, and, instead, they would pay a tax according to the annual value of the premises they occupy. The annual value, as fixed by the statute, is seven per cent. of the assessed value, and the tax cannot be higher than seven and a half per cent. of the annual value as ascertained in that way. The real estate tax on the premises of the merchant would not be affected in any way.

To give an illustration. Suppose Paul Jones is a merchant, and that he is assessed for $4,000 on real estate, for the above he would pay $280. If he carried stock worth $10,000, he would pay $1,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $20,000, he would pay $2,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $30,000, he would pay $3,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $40,000, he would pay $4,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $50,000, he would pay $5,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $60,000, he would pay $6,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $70,000, he would pay $7,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $80,000, he would pay $8,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $90,000, he would pay $9,000 on the stock. If he carried stock worth $100,000, he would pay $10,000 on the stock.

Now, the question will naturally arise, how would this affect the other ratepayers? Would the merchants as a class, pay more, to the benefit of all other ratepayers, or would they pay less, to their own benefit? This can scarcely be demonstrated to a certainty, as a new assessment would be made; but for practical purposes, as a test, last year's roll will show that the rate was 7% per annum on the assessed value of the stock. The merchants in the Two Ward, which is the most densely populated portion of the town, were assessed $14,300 on personal property, and paid on last year $1,001. If the business tax had been in force they would have paid—computing the rate was 7% per annum—their share of the tax at $1,001. This is not a large sum, and it is not likely to be increased or diminished by another assessment, but it shows that to the other ratepayers, apart from the merchants themselves, there would be little, if any, difference.

The chief argument, as we understand it, in favor of the business tax, is that there is no great difficulty in assessing personal property; and that, owing to this difficulty, property and the portions of the law regarding personal property which exempt from taxation all stocks or portions of stocks that have not been paid for by the merchant, some merchants pay more than others; and that the business tax would remedy this injustice, because the real estate assessment would be the basis of all their taxes and there would be no exemption. Our single tax friends may say that this is not the chief reason for the change; but, practically, without troubling ourselves just now about theories, that would be the result.

It is not that the question will be thoroughly discussed, if it is pressed upon the attention of the Council; and it is for the present these facts will, we hope, aid in arriving at a better understanding of the matter.

Graham, of Lakeside, who was unavoidably absent, the subject allotted to that gentleman being "Impressions of the Provincial Convention held at Bradford in October last."

Mr. McKee said that owing to the short space of time allotted to the different subjects he could only touch upon one or two points. He spoke of the importance of the Sabbath school work, and of the need of a more systematic and practical approach to the work. MR. AND MRS. BOWSER.

Mrs. Bowser Tells of Bowser's Experiences With Cereals.

MAD has been suffering with a soft corn for some time. It was so bad that it was almost unbearable. Mr. Bowser suddenly inquired: "What on earth makes you limp as you walk?" "I didn't know as I did limp. I have a corn, however."

"Corn—yes! Evidence that the foot is not all right. You are limping for you or any other woman who'll jam her No. 3 foot into No. 3 shoes! Those you'll have a corn!"

"Corn—don't always come from wearing tight shoes."

"Don't they? But you a million dollars to me! They do! Can't come any other way; and a man or woman who will wear shoes too small for their feet ought to be published to the public at large as non compos mentis."

"On the third day after the above conversation I noticed that Mr. Bowser limped as he came home to supper."

"Had a fall?" I queried.

"No, ma'am."

"I notice that you are lame."

"Not much! I'm not one of the lame."

"I'm sure that you are lame, if not suffering, but nothing more was said until after supper. Then he doctored up his foot, and when I went up stairs after him a few minutes later I found him with his shoe and sock off."

"What was the matter, and I thought I would rub it a little, you know," he explained.

"Mr. Bowser, you've got a corn!"

"Never!"

"I'm certain of it! Hold your foot up here!"

"Hush! My foot is cold—that's all. Corn! I'd like to see a corn come on my foot! Hold it up here! There! There, Mr. Bowser, if that isn't a corn between your toes, then I never saw one! It's a soft corn. It comes from tight shoes. Your toes have been pinched until they rubbed together."

"It can't be."

"A man or woman who will wear shoes too small for their feet ought to be published to the public at large as non compos mentis."

"He drove me out of the room and looked at the door, but I had the satisfaction of knowing that he suffered for a whole week. The nearest he owned up to it was when he came home and said:—

"No wonder I suffered. Carbons are under things. It would have put you in bed."

"I never heard of a carbuncle between the toes."

"Probably not. There are several things in this world you never heard of, smart as you are."

"I expected a new dress to come up next evening in time for a party to which we had been invited. At 6 o'clock he began to grow uneasy and queried:—

"Why on earth didn't you have it here this morning?"

"It wasn't done."

"Then you should have given your order earlier, about 10 o'clock. You are a very soft mark."

"But the dress will be here by 7."

"But you two hours to go! Never knew anything of yours to come up within twenty-four hours of the time promised. This is a nice state of affairs. I must say."

"The dress will come."

"Not until to-morrow, and we might as well make up our minds to stay at home. It was there at half-past 6, and he got out in his morning dress. It was a mistake, for which the dressmaker would probably come suitably."

A week later he ordered a new suit, stipulating that it was to be ready at 10 o'clock on a certain day. We were to go to a party that night, and at breakfast he queried:—

"Do you feel certain of your new suit?"

"No, I feel certain that I'll be ready, with a great wave of his hand."

"But it may not come up."

"And the suit may be in his biller and the place tumble to earth. The clock will not have struck 10 before that suit is here."

"But when he came up to dinner I had to inform him that no suit had arrived."

"Oh, well, the parcel boy is taking it slow," he answered. "It will be here before long."

"But it wasn't. He waited ten minutes over time and then went to the telephone and called the tailor up and said:—

"I suppose that suit has started on its way up."

"I could not, of course, hear the reply."

"Why, that suit I ordered a week ago."

"You haven't! That's a pretty idea! Do you mean to tell me that suit isn't finished?"

"That's the reply I got. I said, 'What do you mean to tell me that suit isn't finished?' 'It's not finished yet, but it'll be ready by 10 o'clock on a certain day. We were to go to a party that night, and at breakfast he queried:—

"Do you feel certain of your new suit?"

"No, I feel certain that I'll be ready, with a great wave of his hand."

"But it may not come up."

COUGHS SUITS ARE RELIABLE

FROM BAILLEBORE.

The New English Church—The Spectator Service.

Correspondence of the Review.

For some time past, the English Church in Peterborough has been talking of a new church, the old one not only being small and out of repair, but not a building suitable for the worship of Almighty God. At the Easter vestry meeting a building committee was formed and plans submitted from Mr. W. B. Aylesworth, of Toronto, and it was decided to advertise for tenders.

The tender of Mr. A. Butherford, of Peterborough, for $4,100 being the lowest, the committee viewed some of Mr. Butherford's work in Peterborough and were satisfied that they would be safe in his hands, and the way the work has been carried out fully justifies the high opinion they formed of him and their decision which was not misplaced. The church, which is built of white brick, made by Mr. B. Hall, of the brick yard in St. Catharines, is a very plain and simple building, with a vestry, bell tower and apse, with windows of stained glass. The ceiling is of wood, and the walls are of brick, and the interior is very plain and simple.

The services, both morning and afternoon, were held at the new church, and the services were very well attended. The services were held at the new church, and the services were very well attended.

THE LION BEGINS TO ROAR.

BRITISH WARSHIPS SET SAIL FOR CHILI WATERS.

No interference with the Landing or Unloading of British Vessels will be tolerated. An Agent representing the British Government has been appointed to see that the Landing and Unloading of British Vessels is carried out in accordance with the provisions of the Treaty of Commerce.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The latest advice from Chili shows that there is no improvement in the state of affairs there. The action of the British Government has rendered impossible the landing and unloading of British subjects in the ports, thereby causing considerable loss to foreign merchants. In view of representations made to the British Foreign Office a portion of the British Pacific Squadron, under the command of Admiral Sir John Hay, has been ordered to leave Panama for Chili waters without delay. It is understood that the admiral has received instructions to take all steps necessary to protect the interests of British subjects in Chili, and that he will not allow the war vessels in the hands of the insurgents to interfere with the landing or unloading of British subjects.

When the Chilean navy revolted against the Government it was expected that it would be followed by the troops in Antofagasta and Valparaiso, but these soldiers remained faithful with the rest of the army to the Government.

Orders have been given to prepare the Chilean troops for service. The Government of Chili has issued a decree offering a reward of two years pay and amnesty to those who have been unwillingly led into the revolt who will submit to the Government. The Chilean navy, however, and probably the army, will be blockaded on and after Jan. 25. Provisions are becoming very scarce in Iquique.

PROMPTED BY REVENUE.

A Nervous Murderer Met Mistress Berne as a Victim of Cruelty.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The woman Barber, charged with the murder of her mistress, Marie Berne, on the outskirts of the Bois de Vincennes, was again examined to-day by the Judge of Instruction. The story is a curious one, even in the annals of French crime. In her testimony given yesterday Marie Berne, her husband's wife, told the Judge that she had been living with her husband, a man named Marie Berne, for some time. She said that she had been living with him in a small room in the Bois de Vincennes. She said that she had been living with him in a small room in the Bois de Vincennes.
